Form W–2 Wage and Tax Statement 1979

Department of the Treasury—Internal Revenue Service

Notice to Employee:

You must file a tax return regardless of your income if any amount is shown in box 6, Advance EIC payment.

File Copy B of this form with your Federal income tax return for 1979. Attach Copy 2 to your State or local income tax return you file for 1979. Please keep Copy C for your records. You can use it to prove your right to social security benefits. If your name, social security number, or address is incorrect, tell your employer and get a new Form W–2.

If you have non-wage income of more than $500 and will owe tax of $100 or more, you should file Form 1040ES, Declaration of Estimated Tax for Individuals, and pay the tax in installments during the year. If you retired during 1979 or plan to retire soon, you may have to pay tax on your income either by filing Form 1040ES or by having tax withheld from your pension or annuity. See Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax, for details.

Credit for FICA Tax.—If more than one employer paid you wages during 1979 and more than the maximum FICA (social security and hospital insurance) employee tax, railroad retirement (RRTA) tax, or combined FICA and RRTA tax was withheld, you can claim the excess as a credit against your Federal income tax. (Please see your Federal income tax return instructions.) The social security (FICA) rate of 6.13%, under Public Law 95–216, includes 1.05% for hospital insurance benefits and 5.08% for old-age, survivors, and disability insurance.

Box 14.—If you were covered by a government employee plan, a qualified pension or profit-sharing retirement plan, or a tax sheltered annuity plan, box 14 will show YES. Otherwise, box 14 will show NO. Armed forces reservists, national guard members, or volunteer firefighters, who have a retirement savings arrangement, should see Publication 590.
