Changes To Note

The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 (the Act) extended the work opportunity credit for 9 months to cover individuals who begin work for the employer before July 1, 1998. The Act also made the following changes effective for individuals who begin work for the employer after September 30, 1997:

- Made the credit a two-tiered credit based on the number of hours the individual is employed. The number-of-days-employed requirement has been eliminated. For details, see qualified wages in the instructions for lines 1a through 1c below.
- Added a new targeted group (qualified supplemental security income (SSI) recipients).
- Changed the requirements for two targeted groups (qualified AFDC or successor program recipients and qualified veterans).
- Beginning January 1, 1998, parts of Washington, DC, are treated as an empowerment zone. Individuals residing in those areas may qualify as members of the high-risk youth and qualified summer youth employee targeted groups.

For more details on the targeted groups, see the instructions for Form 8850, Pre-Screening Notice and Certification Request for the Work Opportunity and Welfare-to-Work Credits.

Purpose of Form

Use Form 5884 if you had targeted group employees and claim the work opportunity credit for wages you paid or incurred to them during the tax year.

You can claim or elect not to claim the work opportunity credit any time within 3 years from the due date of your return on either your original return or on an amended return.

How To Claim the Credit

To claim the work opportunity credit, the employer must request and be issued a certification for each employee from the state employment security agency (SESA). The certification proves that the employee is a member of a targeted group. The employer must receive the certification by the day the individual begins work, or must complete Form 8850 by the day the employer offers the individual a job.

If the employer completes Form 8850, it must be signed by the individual and the employer and submitted to the SESA by the 21st day after the individual begins work. If the SESA denies a certification request, it will provide a written explanation of the reason for denial. If a certification is revoked because it was based on false information provided by the worker, wages paid after the date the notice of revocation is received by the employer do not qualify for the credit.

An employee is a member of a targeted group if he or she is a:

- Qualified recipient of aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) or successor program.
- Qualified veteran.
- Qualified ex-felon.
- High-risk youth.
- Vocational rehabilitation referral.
- Qualified summer youth employee.
- Qualified food stamp recipient.

- Qualified SSI recipient (for individuals who begin work after September 30, 1997).

See Form 8850 and section 51(d) for details and restrictions.

Specific Instructions

Note: If you only have a credit allocated to you from a flow-through entity, skip lines 1 and 2 and go to line 3.

Lines 1a through 1c. Enter on the applicable line (1a, 1b, or 1c) the total qualified first-year wages paid to employees certified as members of a targeted group, based on when the employee began work and the number of hours that employee worked for you. Multiply the wages you enter on each line by the percentage shown on that line.

Qualified first-year wages are qualified wages for work performed during the 1-year period beginning on the date the individual begins work for you. The following rules apply in determining qualified wages:

- Only the first $6,000 of wages paid or incurred during the tax year for each employee are taken into account.
- Wages qualifying for the credit generally have the same meaning as wages subject to the Federal Unemployment Tax Act (FUTA). For agricultural employees, if the work performed by any employee during more than half of any pay period qualifies under FUTA as agricultural labor, the first $6,000 of that employee's wages subject to social security and Medicare taxes are taken into account. For a special rule that applies to railroad employees, see section 51(h)(1)(B).
- More than half the wages received from you must be for working in your trade or business.
- You may not claim a credit on wages that were paid to any employee during any period for which you received payment for the employee from a federally funded on-the-job training program.
- Any work supplementation payments you received under the Social Security Act reduce the amount of wages qualifying for the credit.
- The employee cannot be your relative or dependent. See section 51(i) for other restrictions.
- The employee cannot be your rehired employee if he or she was not a targeted group member when employed earlier.
- For individuals who began work after September 30, 1996, and before October 1, 1997, the employee must have worked for you for at least 180 days or completed at least 400 hours of service (20 days or 120 hours for a qualified summer youth employee).
- For individuals who began work after September 30, 1997, and before July 1, 1998, the employee must have worked for you for at least 120 hours. For employees who have worked at least 120 hours but fewer than 400 hours, the credit rate is 25 percent. For employees who have worked at least 400 hours, the credit rate is 40 percent.
- The wages cannot be for services of replacement workers during a strike or lockout.
- For each qualified summer youth employee, wages are limited to those paid or incurred for any 90-day period between May 1 and September 15 and may not exceed $3,000. You cannot claim a credit for an employee who was your employee in a prior period.
- You cannot include wages paid or incurred to a high-risk or qualified summer youth employee for services performed while the employee lived outside an empowerment zone or enterprise community.
