Individual Income Tax Returns Line Item Estimates, 2012

Publication 4801 (Rev. 10-2014)

This 2012 Statistics of Income (SOI) line item estimates publication provides estimates of frequencies and amounts of the entries on the lines of the forms and schedules filed with individual tax returns as shown on the 2012 Individual SOI Complete Report weighted file. The estimates are based on returns filed in Processing Year 2013 that were sampled statistically and then weighted to estimate the entire 2012 Tax Year.

Variations of the three basic forms: 1040, 1040A, and 1040 EZ , include electronically filed returns. The form variations were categorized into the basic forms according to the data reported on the return. For example, if a return was filed electronically and its characteristics indicate that it would otherwise have been filed on paper as a 1040 or 1040A, then it would be classified as such statistically.

2012 Complete Report estimates:

| 144,928,472 | Total, all individual returns filed |
| ---: | :--- |
| $83,631,395$ | 1040 returns |
| $38,243,922$ | 1040A returns |
| $23,053,156$ | 1040EZ returns |

Estimates of return filed electronically:

| 121,314,249 | Total, all individual returns filed |
| ---: | :--- |
| $87,402,503$ | 1040 returns |
| $34,305,758$ | 1040A returns |
| $18,605,988$ | 1040EZ returns |

Limitations and Guidelines for 2012 Line Item Estimates

Since the line counts used in this package are obtained from the Tax Year 2012 Individual SOI Complete Report File, they are subject to the same limitations as the data that are included in the Complete Report File. These limitations are derived from the fact that these data are statistically sampled, meaning that the line counts included in this package are estimates based on samples, and should not be mistaken for actual counts of the entire population. While most forms and items are present often enough to provide accurate estimates, some less popular items should be used with a high degree of caution. All line items with a sample count fewer than 10 have been removed.

The sample used in this study is one of a large number of samples that could have been selected using the same sample design. The estimates calculated from these different samples would vary. The sample estimate and an estimate of its standard error permit the construction of interval estimates with prescribed confidence that the interval includes the population value. Shown below are 95 percent confidence intervals for selected Form 1040 items: (For example, the population value of number of returns for salaries and wages, with 95 percent confidence, is between $119,587,371$ and $120,114,715$ ). These confidence intervals correspond to the estimates for all Individual Income Tax Returns filed for Tax Year 2012.

Description of the Sample for the Line Item Estimates

This section describes the sample design and selection, the method of estimation, the sampling variability of the estimates, and the methodology of computing confidence intervals presented in this report.

Domain of Study

The Statistics of Income Division (SOI) based the estimates in this report on a probability sample of unaudited Individual Income Tax Returns, Forms 1040, 1040A, and 1040EZ (including electronic returns) filed by U.S. citizens and residents during Calendar Year 2013.

SOI subjected all returns processed during 2013 to sampling except tentative and amended returns. It excluded tentative returns because the revised returns may be sampled later and amended returns because SOI had already subjected the original returns to sampling. Also, after sampling, SOI identified a small percentage of returns as tentative or amended and excluded these returns, along with those containing no income information, from the estimates.

The estimates are intended to represent all returns filed for Tax Year 2012. Returns filed for 2012 made up the majority of returns, while prior-year returns and a few for noncalendar years ending during 2011 and 2012 accounted for the remainder processed during Calendar Year 2013. SOI included prior-year returns in place of 2012 returns received and processed after December 31, 2013, in the estimates. This was done based on the assumption that the characteristics of returns due, but not yet processed, can best be represented by the returns for previous income years that were processed in 2013.

Sample Design and Selection

The current design is a stratified probability sample, in which the population of tax returns is classified into subpopulations, called strata, and a random sample is selected independently from each stratum. SOI identified the strata by:
(1) Nontaxable returns (including no alternative minimum tax) with an adjusted gross income or expanded income of $$ 200,000$ or more.
(2) High business receipts of $$ 50,000,000$ or more.
(3) Presence or absence of special tax forms or schedules (Form 2555, Form 1116, Form 1040 Schedule C, and Form 1040 Schedule F).
(4) Indexed positive or negative income. SOI used 60 variables to derive positive and negative incomes and deflated these income classes using the Chain-Type Price Index for the Gross Domestic Product so the sample represents a base year of 1991.
(5) Potential usefulness of the return for tax policy modeling. SOI used 32 variables to determine how useful the return would be for tax modeling purposes.
SOI used tax data processed to the IRS Individual Master File at the Enterprise Computing Center in Martinsburg during Calendar Year 2013 to assign each taxpayer's record to the appropriate stratum and determine whether the record should be included in the sample. Records included in the sample had to meet one of the following criteria: 1) certain combinations of the last 4 digits of the Social Security number (SSN), or 2 ) ending 5 digits of an 11-digit number generated by a mathematical transformation of the SSN that was less than or equal to the stratum sampling rate times 100,000.

Data Capture and Cleaning

Data capture for the SOI sample begins with the designation of a sample of administrative records. SOI monitors this process continuously for sample selection and data collection errors while the selection is underway. In addition, SOI selects and independently reviews, analyzes, and processes for a quality evaluation a small subsample of returns.

SOI loaded the administrative data and controlling information for each record in the sample into an online database at the Cincinnati Submission Processing Center, and used these data to identify inconsistencies, questionable and missing values, as well as any additional variables that an editor needed to extract for each record. The editors use a hardcopy of the taxpayer's return to enter the required information onto the online system.

After the Processing Center completed its review, SOI further validated, tested, and balanced the data. SOI used adjustments and imputations for selected fields based on prior year data and other available information to make each record internally consistent. Finally, prior to publication, SOI reviewed all statistics and tables for accuracy and reasonableness in light of provisions of the tax law, taxpayer reporting variations and limitations, economic conditions, and comparability with other statistical series.

A small number of returns designated for the sample were not available for SOI processing because other areas of IRS needed the return at the same time. For Tax Year 2012, less than 1 percent ( 0.02 percent) of the returns selected for the sample were unavailable.

Method of Estimation

SOI weighted the data by dividing the population count of returns in a stratum by the number of sample returns for that stratum and adjusted the weights to correct for misclassified returns. SOI applied these weights to the sample data to produce the estimates in this report.

Line Item Estimates, by Individual Income Tax Form and Schedule for Tax Year 2012

The total estimated line counts for each individual tax form and schedule follow. The number of returns for the lines appears on the pages on the left, while the corresponding amount (in thousands of dollars) for the lines appear on the colored pages on the right.

What's New

Future developments. The IRS has created a page on IRS.gov for information about Form 8917, at www.irs.gov/form8917. Information about any future developments affecting Form 8917 (such as legislation enacted after we release it) will be posted on that page.

General Instructions

Purpose of Form

Use Form 8917 to figure and take the deduction for tuition and fees expenses paid in 2012.
This deduction is based on adjusted qualified education expenses paid to an eligible postsecondary educational institution. See Qualified Education Expenses, later, for more information.
TIP You may be able to take the American opportunity credit or lifetime learning credit for your education expenses instead of the tuition and fees deduction. See Form 8863, Education Credits, and Pub. 970, Tax Benefits for Education, for more information about these credits.

Who Can Take the Deduction

You may be able to take the deduction if you, your spouse, or a dependent you claim on your tax return was a student enrolled at or attending an eligible educational institution. The deduction is based on the amount of qualified education expenses you paid for the student in 2012 for academic periods beginning in 2012 and those beginning in the first 3 months of 2013.

Generally, in order to claim the deduction for education expenses for a dependent, you must have paid the expenses in 2012 and must claim an exemption for the student as a dependent on your 2012 tax return (line 6 c of Form 1040 or 1040A). For additional information, see chapter 6 of Pub. 970.

You cannot claim the tuition and fees deduction if any of the following apply.

- Your filing status is married filing separately.
- Another person can claim an exemption for you as a dependent on his or her tax return. You cannot take the deduction even if the other person does not actually claim that exemption.
- Your modified adjusted gross income (MAGI), as figured on line 5, is more than $$ 80,000$ ( $$ 160,000$ if filing a joint return).
- You were a nonresident alien for any part of the year and did not elect to be treated as a resident alien for tax purposes. More information on nonresident aliens can be found in Pub. 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens.
You cannot claim a tuition and fees deduction for any student if you or anyone else claims an American opportunity or lifetime learning credit (Form 8863) in 2012 with respect to expenses of the student for whom the qualified education expenses were paid. However, a state tax credit will not disqualify you from claiming a tuition and fees deduction.

Qualified Education Expenses

Generally, qualified education expenses are amounts you paid in 2012 for tuition and fees required for the student's enrollment or attendance at an eligible educational institution. Required fees include amounts for books, supplies, and equipment used in a course of study if required to be paid to the institution as a condition of enrollment or attendance. It does not matter whether the expenses were paid in cash, by check, by credit card, or with borrowed funds.

Qualified education expenses include nonacademic fees, such as student activity fees, athletic fees, or other expenses unrelated to the academic course of instruction, only if the fee must be paid to the institution as a condition of enrollment or attendance. However, fees for personal expenses (described below) are never qualified education expenses.

Qualified education expenses do not include amounts paid for:

- Personal expenses. This means room and board, insurance, medical expenses (including student health fees), transportation, and other similar personal, living, or family expenses.
* Data not shown because of the small number of sample returns on which it is based.

You cannot take both an education credit from Form 8863 and the tuition and fees deduction from this form for the same student for the same tax year.

Before you begin:
$\checkmark$ To see if you qualify for this deduction, see Who Can Take the Deduction in the instructions below.
