Caution: DRAFT—NOT FOR FILING

This is an early release draft of an IRS tax form, instructions, or publication, which the IRS is providing for your information. Do not file draft forms and do not rely on draft forms, instructions, and publications for filing. We do not release draft forms until we believe we have incorporated all changes (except when explicitly stated on this coversheet). However, unexpected issues occasionally arise, or legislation is passed—in this case, we will post a new draft of the form to alert users that changes were made to the previously posted draft. Thus, there are never any changes to the last posted draft of a form and the final revision of the form. Forms and instructions generally are subject to OMB approval before they can be officially released, so we post only drafts of them until they are approved. Drafts of instructions and publications usually have some changes before their final release.

Early release drafts are at IRS.gov/DraftForms and remain there after the final release is posted at IRS.gov/LatestForms. All information about all forms, instructions, and pubs is at IRS.gov/Forms.

If you wish, you can submit comments to the IRS about draft or final forms, instructions, or publications at IRS.gov/FormsComments. We cannot respond to all comments due to the high volume we receive and may not be able to consider many suggestions until the subsequent revision of the product.

If you have comments on reducing paperwork and respondent (filer) burden, with respect to draft or final forms, please respond to the relevant information collection through the Federal Register process; for more info, click here.
Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Future Developments

For the latest information about developments related to Form 8889 and its instructions, such as legislation enacted after they were published, go to IRS.gov/Form8889.

What’s New

Telehealth and other remote care extended. The Consolidated Appropriations Act 2022 extends the availability of telehealth and other remote care for HSAs. In the case of months beginning after March 31, 2022, and before January 1, 2023:

1. An eligible individual may have separate coverage for telehealth and other remote care in addition to a high deductible health plan.

2. A high deductible health plan may have no deductible (or a deductible below the minimum annual deductible) for telehealth and other remote care services.

Surprise billing for emergency services or air ambulance services. For plan years beginning on or after January 1, 2022, you shall not fail to be treated as an eligible individual for any period merely because you receive benefits for medical care under certain provisions of the Public Health Service Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, or any state law providing you with similar protections.

For plan years beginning on or after January 1, 2022, a plan shall not fail to be treated as a high deductible health plan by reason of providing benefits for medical care described in the paragraph above prior to the satisfaction of the deductible under section 223(c)(2)(A)(i).

A plan will also not fail to be treated as a high deductible health plan by reason of providing benefits under certain provisions of the Public Health Service Act, the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, or any state law providing similar protections prior to the satisfaction of the deductible.

General Instructions

Purpose of Form

Use Form 8889 to:

- Report health savings account (HSA) contributions (including those made on your behalf and employer contributions),
- Figure your HSA deduction,
- Report distributions from HSAs, and
- Figure amounts you must include in income and additional tax you may owe if you fail to be an eligible individual.

Additional information. See Pub. 969, Health Savings Accounts and Other Tax-Favored Health Plans, for more details on HSAs. Also, see the Instructions for Form 1040 and the Instructions for Form 1040-NR.

Who Must File

You must file Form 8889 if any of the following applies.

- You (or someone on your behalf, including your employer) made contributions for 2022 to your HSA.
- You received HSA distributions in 2022.
- You must include certain amounts in income because you failed to be an eligible individual during the testing period.
- You acquired an interest in an HSA because of the death of the account beneficiary. See Death of Account Beneficiary, later.

If you (or your spouse, if filing jointly) received HSA distributions in 2022, you must file Form 8889 with Form 1040, Form 1040-SR, or Form 1040-NR, even if you have no taxable income or any other reason for filing Form 1040, Form 1040-SR, or Form 1040-NR.

Definitions

Eligible Individual

To be eligible to have contributions made to your HSA, you must be covered under a high deductible health plan (HDHP) and have no other health coverage except certain disregarded coverage. If you are an eligible individual, anyone can contribute to your HSA. However, you cannot be enrolled in Medicare or be another person's dependent. An individual does not fail to be treated as an eligible individual for any period merely because the individual receives hospital care or medical services under any law administered by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs for a service-connected disability. You must be, or be considered, an eligible individual on the first day of a month to take an HSA deduction for that month (see Last-month rule next).

Last-month rule. If you are an eligible individual on the first day of the last month of your tax year (December 1 for most taxpayers), you are considered to be an eligible individual for the entire year, so long as you remain an eligible individual during the testing period as discussed below.

Testing period. You must remain an eligible individual during the testing period in order to take advantage of the last-month rule. The testing period begins with the last month of your tax year and ends on the last day of the 12th month following that month (for example, December 1, 2022 – December 31, 2023). If you fail to remain an eligible individual during this period, other than because of death or becoming disabled, you will have to include in income the total contributions made that would not have been made except for the last-month rule. You include this amount in income in the year in which you fail to be an eligible individual. This amount is also subject to a 10% additional tax. (See Part III.)

Account Beneficiary

The account beneficiary is the individual on whose behalf the HSA was established.

HSA

Generally, an HSA is a health savings account set up exclusively for paying the qualified medical expenses of the account beneficiary or the account beneficiary’s spouse or dependents.

Distributions From an HSA

Distributions from an HSA used exclusively to pay qualified medical expenses of the account beneficiary, spouse, or dependents are excludable from gross income. (See the Line 15 instructions for information on medical expenses of dependents not claimed on your return.) You can receive distributions from an HSA even if you are not currently eligible to have contributions made to the HSA. However, any part of a distribution not used to pay qualified medical expenses is includible in gross income and is subject to an additional 20% tax unless an exception applies.

Qualified Medical Expenses

Generally, “qualified medical expenses” for HSA purposes are unreimbursed medical expenses that could otherwise be deducted on Schedule A (Form 1040). See the Instructions for Schedule A and Pub. 502, Medical and Dental Expenses. As the HSA account beneficiary, you can pay these expenses for medical care for yourself, your spouse, and your dependents. Even though nonprescription medicines (other than insulin) do not qualify for the medical and dental expenses deduction, they do qualify as expenses for HSA purposes. The cost of menstrual care products (tampons, pads, liners, cups, sponges, or other similar products) are also reimbursable for HSA purposes.

Amounts you pay for personal protective equipment, such as masks, hand sanitizer, and sanitizing wipes for you, your spouse, and your dependent(s) for the primary purpose of preventing the spread of COVID-19 are treated as medical expenses eligible to be reimbursed from an HSA.

The cost of home testing for COVID-19 for you, your spouse, or your dependent(s) is an eligible medical expense for tax purposes, which may be paid or reimbursed from an HSA.

Expenses incurred before you establish your HSA are not qualified medical expenses. If, under the last-month rule, you are considered to be an eligible individual for the entire year for determining the contribution amount, only those expenses incurred after you actually establish your HSA are qualified medical expenses.

You cannot treat insurance premiums as qualified medical expenses unless the premiums are for:

1. Long-term care (LTC) insurance,
2. Health care continuation coverage (such as coverage under COBRA),
3. Health care coverage while receiving unemployment compensation under federal or state law, or
4. Medicare and other health care coverage if you were 65 or older (other than premiums for a Medicare supplemental policy, such as Medigap).

Coverage under (2) and (3) can be for your spouse or a dependent meeting the requirement. For (4), if you, the account beneficiary, are under age 65, Medicare premiums for your spouse or dependents (who are age 65 or older) are generally not qualified medical expenses.

Tip

TIP

Coverage under (2) and (3) can be for your spouse or a dependent meeting the requirement. For (4), if you, the account beneficiary, are under age 65, Medicare premiums for your spouse or dependents (who are age 65 or older) are generally not qualified medical expenses.

High Deductible Health Plan

An HDHP is a health plan that meets the following requirements.

Notice 2020-15, available at IRS.gov/irb/2020-14_IRB#NOT-2020-15, provides that an HDHP may pay for medical care services and items purchased related to testing for, and treatment of, COVID-19 before satisfying the applicable minimum deductible.

Safe harbor for preventive care. An HDHP may have a zero deductible for preventive care. For more details, see Pub. 969.

Safe harbor for telehealth. An HDHP may have a zero deductible for telehealth and other remote care services for months beginning after March 31, 2022, and before January 1, 2023.

Certain coverage disregarded. An eligible individual may have:

1. Coverage for any benefit provided by permitted insurance, and
2. Coverage (whether through insurance or otherwise) for accidents, disability, dental care, vision care, or long-term care, or (in the case of months beginning after March 31, 2022, and before January 1, 2023) telehealth and other remote care.

Permitted insurance. Permitted insurance means:

A. Insurance if substantially all of the coverage provided relates to:
1. Liabilities incurred under workers’ compensation laws,
2. Tort liabilities, and/or,
3. Liabilities relating to ownership or use of property;
B. Insurance for a specified disease or illness; and
C. Insurance paying a fixed amount per day (or other period) of hospitalization.

* This limit does not apply to deductibles and expenses for out-of-network services if the plan uses a network of providers. Instead, only deductibles and out-of-pocket expenses (such as copayments and other amounts, but not premiums) for services within the network should be used to figure whether the limit is reached.
For information on prescription drug plans, see Pub. 969.

Disabled

An individual is generally considered disabled if he or she is unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity due to a physical or mental impairment that can be expected to result in death or to continue indefinitely.

Death of Account Beneficiary

If the account beneficiary’s surviving spouse is the designated beneficiary, the HSA is treated as if the surviving spouse were the account beneficiary. The surviving spouse completes Form 8889 as though the HSA belonged to him or her.

If the designated beneficiary is not the account beneficiary’s surviving spouse, or there is no designated beneficiary, the account ceases to be an HSA as of the date of death. The beneficiary completes Form 8889 as follows:
- Enter “Death of HSA account beneficiary” across the top of Form 8889.
- Enter the name(s) shown on the beneficiary’s tax return and the beneficiary’s SSN in the spaces provided at the top of the form and skip Part I.
- On Part II, line 14a, enter the fair market value of the HSA as of the date of death.
- On Part II, line 15, for a beneficiary other than the estate, enter qualified medical expenses incurred by the account beneficiary before the date of death that the beneficiary paid within 1 year after the date of death.
- Complete the rest of Part II.

If the account beneficiary’s estate is the beneficiary, the value of the HSA as of the date of death is included on the account beneficiary’s final income tax return. Complete Form 8889 as described above, except you should complete Part I, if applicable.

The distribution is not subject to the additional 20% tax. Report any earnings on the account after the date of death as income on your tax return.

Note. If, during the tax year, you are the beneficiary of two or more HSAs or you are a beneficiary of an HSA and you have your own HSA, you must complete a separate Form 8889 for each HSA. Enter “statement” at the top of each Form 8889 and complete the form as instructed. Next, complete a controlling Form 8889, combining the amounts shown on each of the statement Forms 8889. Attach the statements to your paper tax return after the controlling Form 8889.

Deemed Distributions From HSAs

The following situations result in deemed distributions from your HSA:
- You engaged in any transaction prohibited by section 4975 with respect to any of your HSAs, at any time in 2022. Your account ceases to be an HSA as of January 1, 2022, and you must include the fair market value of all assets in the account as of January 1, 2022, on line 14a.
- You used any portion of any of your HSAs as security for a loan at any time in 2022. You must include the fair market value of the assets used as security for the loan as income on line 8f of Schedule 1 (Form 1040).

Any deemed distribution will not be treated as used to pay qualified medical expenses. Generally, these distributions are subject to the additional 20% tax.

Rollovers

A rollover is a tax-free distribution (withdrawal) of assets from one HSA or Archer MSA that is reinvested in another HSA or Archer MSA. Generally, you must complete the rollover within 60 days after you received the distribution. An HSA can only receive one rollover contribution during a 1-year period. See Pub. 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs), for more details and additional requirements regarding rollovers.

Note. If you instruct the trustee of your HSA to transfer funds directly to the trustee of another of your HSAs, the transfer is not considered a rollover. There is no limit on the number of these transfers. Do not include the amount transferred in income, deduct it as a contribution, or include it as a distribution on line 14a.

Specific Instructions

Name and social security number (SSN). Enter your name(s) as shown on your tax return and the SSN of the HSA account beneficiary. If married filing jointly and both you and your spouse have HSAs, complete a separate Form 8889 for each of you.

Part I—HSA Contributions and Deductions

Use Part I to figure:
- Your HSA deduction,
- Any excess contributions you made (or those made on your behalf), and
- Any excess contributions made by an employer (see Excess Employer Contributions, later).

Figuring Your HSA Deduction

The maximum amount that can be contributed to your HSA depends on the type of HDHP coverage you have. If you have self-only coverage, your maximum contribution is $3,650. If you have family coverage, your maximum contribution is $7,300.

Note. If you are age 55 or older at the end of your tax year, you can make an additional contribution of $1,000.

Your maximum contribution is reduced by any employer contributions to your HSA, any contributions made to your Archer MSA, and any qualified HSA funding distributions.

You can make deductible contributions to your HSA even if your employer made contributions. However, if you (or someone on your behalf) made contributions in addition to any employer contributions and qualified HSA funding distributions, you may have to pay an additional tax. See Excess Contributions You Make, later.

You cannot deduct any contributions for any month in which you were enrolled in Medicare. Also, you cannot deduct contributions if you are someone else’s dependent for 2022.

How To Complete Part I

If both you and your spouse have HSAs, complete lines 1 through 13 as instructed on the form. However, if you, and your spouse if filing jointly, are both eligible individuals and either of you has an HDHP with family coverage, you both are treated as having only the family coverage plan. Disregard any plans with self-only coverage.

Complete a separate Form 8889 for each spouse. Combine the amounts on line 13 of both Forms 8889 and enter this amount on Schedule 1 (Form 1040), line 13. Be sure to attach both Forms 8889 to your paper tax return.

Line 1

If you were covered, or considered covered, by a self-only HDHP and a family HDHP at different times during the year, check the box for the plan that was in effect for a longer period. If you were covered by both a self-only HDHP and a family HDHP at the same time, you are treated as having family coverage during that period. If, on the first day of the last month of your tax year (December 1 for most taxpayers), you had family coverage, check the “family” box.

Line 2
Include on line 2 only those amounts you, or others on your behalf, contributed to your HSA in 2022. Also, include amounts contributed for 2022 made in 2023 by the unextended deadline for filing your income tax return. Normally, that’s the April 15 after the close of the tax year. However, for the 2022 income tax return, you may file Form 1040 or 1040-SR by April 18, 2023. The due date is April 18, instead of April 15, because of the Emancipation Day holiday in the District of Columbia—even if you don’t live in the District of Columbia. If you live in Maine or Massachusetts, you have until April 19, 2023, because of the Patriots’ Day holiday in those states. If you were serving in, or in support of, the U.S. Armed Forces in a designated combat zone or contingency operation, you may be able to file later. See Pub. 3 for details. Thus, you may contribute to your 2022 HSA through April 18, 2023, April 19, 2023 (if you live in Maine or Massachusetts), or some other date (if you served in a designated combat zone or contingency operation).

Do not include employer contributions (see line 9) or amounts rolled over from another HSA or Archer MSA. See Rollovers, earlier. Also, do not include any qualified HSA funding distributions (see line 10). Contributions to an employee’s account through a cafeteria plan are treated as employer contributions and are not included on line 2.

Line 3
When figuring the amount to enter on line 3, apply the following rules.

1. Use the family coverage amount if you or your spouse had an HDHP with family coverage. Disregard any plan with self-only coverage.

2. If the last-month rule (see Last-month rule, earlier) applies, you are considered an eligible individual for the entire year. You are treated as having the same HDHP coverage for the entire year as you had on the first day of the last month of your tax year.

3. If you were, or were considered, an eligible individual for the entire year and you did not change your type of coverage, enter $3,650 for a self-only HDHP or $7,300 for a family HDHP on line 3. (See (6) in this list.)

4. If you were, or were considered, an eligible individual for the entire year and you changed your type of coverage during the year, enter on line 3 (see (6) in this list) the greater of:
   a. The limitation shown on the last line of the Line 3 Limitation Chart and Worksheet (in these instructions), or
   b. The maximum amount that can be contributed based on the type of HDHP coverage you had on the first day of the last month of your tax year.

   If you had family coverage on the first day of the last month, you do not need to use the worksheet; enter $7,300 on line 3.

5. If you were not an eligible individual on the first day of the last month of your tax year, use the Line 3 Limitation Chart and Worksheet (in these instructions) to determine the amount to enter on line 3. (See (6) in this list.)

6. If, at the end of 2022, you were age 55 or older and unmarried or married with self-only HDHP coverage for the entire year, you can increase the amount determined in (3) or (4) by $1,000 (the additional contribution amount). The $1,000 additional contribution amount is not allocable among spouses, unlike the $7,300 family contribution discussed below. For the Line 3 Limitation Chart and Worksheet, the additional contribution amount is included for each month you are an eligible individual.

Note. If you are married and had family coverage at any time during the year, the additional contribution amount is figured on line 7 and is not included on line 3.

See Pub. 969 for more information.

If you must complete the Line 3 Limitation Chart and Worksheet (in these instructions), and your eligibility and coverage did not change from one month to the next, enter the same number you entered for the previous month.

Line 6
Spouses who have separate HSAs and had family coverage under an HDHP at any time during 2022, use the following rules to figure the amount on line 6.

• If you are treated as having family coverage for each month, divide the amount on line 5 equally between you and your spouse, unless you both agree on a different allocation (such as allocating nothing to one spouse). Enter your allocable share on line 6.

   Example. In 2022, you are an eligible individual and have self-only HDHP coverage. In March, you marry and as of April 1, you have family HDHP coverage. Neither you nor your spouse qualify for the additional contribution amount. Your spouse has a separate HSA and is an eligible individual from April 1 to December 31, 2022. Because you and your spouse are considered to have family coverage on December 1, your contribution limit is $7,300 (the family coverage maximum). You and your spouse can divide this amount in any allocation to which you agree (such as allocating nothing to one spouse).

• If you are not treated as having family coverage for each month, use the following steps to determine the amount to enter on line 6.

   Step 1. Refigure the contribution limit that would have been entered on line 5 if you had entered on line 3 the total of the worksheet amounts only for the months you were treated as having family coverage. When refiguring line 5, use the same amount you previously entered on line 4.

   Step 2. Divide the refigured contribution limit from Step 1 equally between you and your spouse, unless you both agree on a different allocation (such as allocating nothing to one spouse).

   Step 3. Subtract the part of the contribution limit allocated to your spouse in Step 2 from the amount determined in Step 1.

   Step 4. Determine any other contribution limits that apply for the tax year and add that amount to the result in Step 3. Enter the total on line 6.

   Example. In 2022, you are an eligible individual and have family HDHP coverage. In March, you divorce and change your coverage as of April 1 to self-only. Neither you nor your ex-spouse qualify for the additional contribution amount. Your ex-spouse continued to have family HDHP coverage and was an eligible individual for the entire year. The contribution limit for the 3 months you both were considered to have family coverage is $1,825 ($7,300 × 3 ÷ 12). You and your ex-spouse decide to divide the family coverage contribution in the following manner: 75% to your ex-spouse and...
25% to you. Your contribution limit for 9 months of self-only coverage is $2,737.50 ($3,650 × 9 ÷ 12). This amount is not divided between you and your spouse.

Because you are covered under a self-only policy on December 1, you will show $3,650 on line 6 (the greater of either (a) $3,193.75 ($1,825 family coverage + $2,373.50 self-only coverage – $1,368.75 spousal allocation) or (b) the maximum amount that can be contributed ($3,650 for self-only coverage)). Your ex-spouse would show $7,300 on line 6 (the greater of either (a) $6,843.75 ($1,825 family coverage for the 3 months prior to the divorce + $5,475 family coverage maintained after the divorce – $456.25 spousal allocation) or (b) the maximum amount that can be contributed ($7,300 for family coverage)).

Line 7
Additional Contribution Amount

If, at the end of 2022, you were age 55 or older and married, use the Additional Contribution Amount Worksheet (in these instructions) if both of the following apply.

1. You or your spouse had family coverage under an HDHP and were, or were considered to be, an eligible individual on the first day of the month.
2. You were not enrolled in Medicare for the month.

Enter the result on line 7.

TIP If items (1) and (2) apply to all months during 2022, enter $1,000 on line 7.

Additional Contribution Amount Worksheet

1. $1,000 × number of months eligible

2. Divide line 1 by 12. Enter here and on line 7

Example. At the end of 2022, you were age 55 and married. You had family coverage under an HDHP from January 1 through June 30, 2022 (6 months). You were not enrolled in Medicare in 2022. You would enter an additional contribution amount of $500 on line 7 ($1,000 × 6 ÷ 12).

Line 9
Employer Contributions

Employer contributions (including contributions through a cafeteria plan) include any amount an employer contributes to any HSA for you for 2022. These contributions should be shown in box 12 of Form W-2 with code W. If either of the following apply, complete the Employer Contribution Worksheet:

- Employer contributions for 2021 are included in the amount reported in box 12 of Form W-2 with code W.
- Employer contributions for 2022 are made in 2023.

If your employer made excess contributions, you may have to report the excess as income. See Excess Employer Contributions, later.

Line 10
Qualified HSA funding distribution. A distribution from your traditional IRA or Roth IRA to your HSA in a direct trustee-to-trustee transfer is called an HSA funding distribution. Note that these funds are not being distributed from your HSA, but rather are being distributed from your IRA and contributed to your HSA. Enter this amount on line 10.

The qualified HSA funding distribution is not included in your income, is not deductible, and reduces the amount that can be contributed to your HSA by you and from other sources (including employer contributions). This distribution cannot be made from an ongoing SEP IRA or SIMPLE IRA. For this purpose, a SEP IRA or SIMPLE IRA is ongoing if an employer contribution is made for the plan year ending with or within your tax year in which the distribution would be made.

The maximum amount that can be excluded from income is based on your age at the end of the year and your HDHP coverage (self-only or family) at the time of the distribution. You can make only one qualified HSA funding distribution during your lifetime. However, if you make the distribution during a month when you have self-only HDHP coverage, you can make another qualified HSA funding distribution in a later month in that tax year if you change to family HDHP coverage.

See the discussions under Line 13 for the treatment of excess contributions.

See Pub. 969 for more information.

Testing period. If you received a traditional IRA or Roth IRA distribution, you must remain an eligible individual during the testing period. The testing period begins with the month in which the traditional IRA or Roth IRA distribution is contributed to the HSA and ends on the last day of the 12th month following that month. For example, if the distribution is contributed on June 17, 2022, the testing period ends on June 30, 2023. If you fail to remain an eligible individual during this period, other than because of death or becoming disabled, you will have to include the qualified HSA funding distribution in income in the year in which you fail to be an eligible individual. This amount is also subject to a 10% additional tax. (See Part III.)

Line 13
If you or someone on your behalf (or your employer) contributed more to your HSA than is allowable, you may have to pay an additional tax on the excess contributions. Figure the excess contributions using the following instructions. See Form 5329, Additional Taxes on Qualified Plans (Including IRAs) and Other Tax-Favored Accounts, to figure the additional tax.

Excess Contributions You Make
To figure your excess contributions (including those made on your behalf), subtract your deductible contributions (line 13) from your actual contributions (line 2). However, you can withdraw some or all of your excess contributions for 2022 and they will be treated as if they had not been contributed if:
- You make the withdrawal by the due date, including extensions, of your 2022 tax return (but see the following Note);
- You do not claim an exclusion from income for the amount of the withdrawn contributions; and
- You also withdraw any income earned on the withdrawn contributions and include the earnings in “Other income” on your tax return for the year you withdraw the contributions and earnings.

Note. If you timely filed your return without withdrawing the excess contributions, you can still make the withdrawal no later than 6 months after the due date of your tax return, excluding extensions. If you do, file an amended return with “Filed pursuant to section 301.9100-2” written at the top. Include an explanation of the withdrawal. Make all necessary changes on the amended return (for example, if you reported the contributions as excess contributions on your original return, include an amended Form 5329 reflecting that the withdrawn contributions are no longer treated as having been contributed).

Deducting an Excess Contribution in a Later Year
You may be able to deduct excess contributions for previous years that are still in your HSA. The excess contributions you can deduct in the current year is the lesser of the following two amounts.
- Your maximum HSA contribution limit for the year minus any amounts contributed to your HSA for the year.
- The total excess contributions in your HSA at the beginning of the year.

Any excess contribution remaining at the end of the tax year is subject to the additional tax. See Form 5329.
Part II—HSA Distributions

Line 14a
Enter the total distributions you received in 2022 from all HSAs. Your total distributions include amounts paid with a debit card that restricts payments to health care and amounts withdrawn by other individuals that you have designated. These amounts should be shown in box 1 of Form 1099-SA.

Line 14b
Include on line 14b any distributions you received in 2022 that qualified as a rollover contribution to another HSA. See Rollovers, earlier. Also include any excess contributions (and the earnings on those excess contributions) included on line 14a that were withdrawn by the due date, including extensions, of your return. See the instructions for line 13, earlier.

Line 15
Only include on line 15 distributions from your HSA that were used to pay you for qualified medical expenses (see Qualified Medical Expenses, earlier) not reimbursed by insurance or other coverage and that you incurred after the HSA was established. Do not include the distribution of an excess contribution taken out after the due date, including extensions, of your return even if used for qualified medical expenses.

In general, include on line 15 distributions from all HSAs in 2022 that were used for the qualified medical expenses (see Qualified Medical Expenses, earlier) of:

1. You and your spouse.
2. All your dependents.
3. Any person who would be a dependent except that:
   a. The person filed a joint return.
   b. The person had gross income.
   c. You, or your spouse if filing jointly, are dependents of someone else.

For this purpose, a child of parents who are divorced, separated, or living apart for the last 6 months of the calendar year is treated as the dependent of both parents whether or not the custodial parent releases claim to the child as his or her dependent.

You cannot take a deduction on Schedule A (Form 1040) for any amount you include on line 15.

Lines 17a and 17b
Additional 20% Tax
HSA distributions included in income (line 16) are subject to an additional 20% tax unless one of the following exceptions applies.

Exceptions to the Additional 20% Tax
The additional 20% tax does not apply to distributions made after the account beneficiary:

- Dies,
- Becomes disabled (see Disabled, earlier), or
- Turns age 65.

If any of the exceptions apply to any of the distributions included on line 16, check the box on line 17a. Enter on line 17b only 20% (0.20) of any amount included on line 16 that does not meet any of the exceptions.

Example 1. You turned age 63 in 2022 and received a distribution from an HSA that is included in income. Do not check the box on line 17a because you (the account beneficiary) did not meet the age exception for the distribution. Enter 20% of the amount from line 16 on line 17b.

Example 2. You turned age 65 in 2022. You received distributions that are included in income both before and after you turned age 65. Check the box on line 17a because the additional 20% tax does not apply to the distributions made after the date you turned age 65.

However, the additional 20% tax does apply to the distributions made on or before the date you turned age 65. Enter on line 17b, 20% of the amount of these distributions included on line 16.

Note. There may be very limited and unusual circumstances in which you may be able to return mistaken distributions such that the amount will not be subject to the additional tax. For more information, see Notice 2004-50, Q/A 37 and 76, at IRS.gov/IRB/2004-33_IRB#NOT-2004-50.

Part III—Income and Additional Tax for Failure To Maintain HDHP Coverage
Use Part III to figure any additional income and adjustments to income that must be reported on Schedule 1 (Form 1040) and additional taxes that must be reported on Schedule 2 (Form 1040) for failure to be an eligible individual during the testing period for:

- Last-month rule (see Last-month rule, earlier), or
- A qualified HSA funding distribution (see the Instructions for line 10, earlier).

See the discussion, earlier, on determining the testing period for both the last-month rule and a qualified HSA funding distribution. Include the amount in income in the year in which you fail to be an eligible individual.

Line 18
You can use the Line 3 Limitation Chart and Worksheet (in these instructions) for the year the contribution was made to determine the contribution you could have made if the last-month rule did not apply. Enter on line 18 the excess of the amount contributed over the redetermined amount. Examples of this computation are in Pub. 969.

Line 19
Enter the total of any qualified HSA funding distribution (see line 10).
