Future Developments

For the latest information about developments related to Form 8862 and its instructions, such as legislation enacted after they were published, go to IRS.gov/Form8862.

What’s New

Changes to the earned income credit (EIC). For 2021, the following changes have been made to the EIC.

- EIC rules for taxpayers without a qualifying child. Special rules apply if you are claiming the EIC without a qualifying child. In these cases, the applicable minimum age has been lowered to age 19 except for specified students who must be at least age 24 at the end of the year. However, the applicable minimum age is lowered further for qualified former foster youth or qualified homeless youth to age 18. Additionally, you no longer need to be under age 65 to claim the EIC without a qualifying child.

- EIC rules for taxpayers with a qualifying child. Even if your qualifying child hasn't been issued a valid social security number (SSN) on or before the due date of your return (including extensions), you should still follow the rules that apply to filers with a qualifying child or children when determining whether you are eligible to claim the EIC (See Part II, Section A). However, when determining the amount of EIC that you are eligible to claim on your return, you should follow the rules that apply to taxpayers who do not have a qualifying child.

- Rules for separated spouses. If you are married, but don't file a joint return, you may qualify to claim the EIC if you lived with your qualifying child for more than half the year and either you did not have the same principal residence as your spouse for the last 6 months of 2021 or you were legally separated from your spouse according to your state law under a written separation agreement or a decree of separate maintenance and you lived apart from your spouse at the end of 2021. For more information, see the instructions for line 27a in the 1040 instructions and Schedule EIC (Form 1040).

File Schedule EIC (Form 1040) if you have a qualifying child. If you have at least one child who meets the conditions to be your qualifying child for purposes of claiming the EIC, complete and attach Schedule EIC to your Form 1040 or 1040-SR even if that child doesn't have a valid SSN. For more information, including how to complete Schedule EIC if your qualifying child doesn't have a valid SSN, see Schedule EIC.

Qualifying child for the child tax credit (CTC) and simplified refundable CTC. For 2021, the child tax credit applies to qualifying children who are under age 18 at the end of 2021. In addition, if you meet certain residency requirements, your child tax credit will be fully refundable. If you don’t meet the residency requirements, you will figure your child tax credit and additional child tax credit in a manner similar to how these credits were figured for 2020. See the instructions for Schedule 8812 (Form 1040) for more information.

Changes to Schedule 8812. If you are claiming the refundable child tax credit, nonrefundable child tax credit, additional child tax credit, or credit for other dependents, complete Schedule 8812 and attach it to your Form 1040 or 1040-SR.

Reminders

Delayed refund for returns claiming certain credits. The IRS cannot issue refunds before mid-February for returns that claim the earned income credit (EIC) or the additional child tax credit (ACTC).
Specific Instructions

Part I—All Filers

Line 1. Enter the year for which you are filing this form to claim the credit(s) (for example, 2021). Do not enter the year the credit(s) was disallowed.

Line 2. Check the box(es) that applies to the credit(s) you are now claiming. You can check a box for each credit that was previously reduced or disallowed.

Part II—Earned Income Credit

Line 4. If you (or your spouse if filing jointly) were a qualifying child of another taxpayer for the year shown on line 1, you cannot claim the EIC. Check “Yes” on line 4. This is true even if the taxpayer for whom you (or your spouse if filing jointly) are a qualifying child does not claim the EIC or meet all of the rules to claim the EIC. For more information, see Pub. 596, Earned Income Credit.

Check “No” on line 4 if you could be claimed as a qualifying child of another taxpayer for the year shown on line 1 but the other taxpayer is not required to file, and is not filing, a tax return for that year or is filing it only as a claim for refund.

Section A: Filers With a Qualifying Child or Children

For 2021, if you are married but not filing a joint return and you have a qualifying child, you may qualify to claim the EIC. For more information, see the instructions for line 27a in the Form 1040 instructions and Schedule EIC (Form 1040).

Line 6. A qualifying child for the EIC is a child who:

1. Is your son, daughter, stepchild, foster child, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, half brother, half sister, or a descendant of any of them (for example, your grandchild, niece, or nephew);
2. Was (a) under age 19 at the end of the year on line 1 and younger than you (or your spouse, if filing jointly), (b) under age 24 at the end of the year on line 1, a student, and younger than you (or your spouse, if filing jointly), or (c) any age and permanently and totally disabled;
3. Is not filing a joint return for the year on line 1 or is filing a joint return for the year on line 1 only to claim a refund of withheld income tax or estimated tax paid; and
4. Lived with you in the United States for more than half of the year on line 1.

Adopted child. An adopted child is always treated as your own child. An adopted child includes a child lawfully placed with you for legal adoption.

For more information on who is a qualifying child see your tax return instructions or Pub. 596.

Line 7. You cannot take the credit for a child who lived with you for half of the year or less, even if you paid most of the child’s living expenses. The IRS may ask you for documents to show you lived with each qualifying child. Documents you might want to keep for this purpose include school and child care records and other records that show your child's address.

Temporary absences by you or the child for special circumstances, such as school, vacation, business, medical care, military service, or detention in a juvenile facility, count as time the child lived with you.

If your child was born or died during the year entered on line 1 and your home was the child’s home for more than half the time he or she was alive during that year, enter “365” (“366” if the year is a leap year) on line 7 and complete line 8.

For more information, see your tax return instructions or Pub. 596.

Section B: Filers Without a Qualifying Child or Children

Line 9. Enter the number of days that your main home (and your spouse's if filing jointly) was in the United States during the year on line 1.

Temporary absences for special circumstances such as for business, medical care, school, or military service, count as time lived at your main home.

Members of the military. If you were on extended active duty outside the United States, your main home is considered to be in the United States during that duty period. Extended active duty is military duty ordered for an indefinite period or for a period of more than 90 days. Once you begin serving extended active duty, you are considered to be on extended active duty even if you do not serve more than 90 days.
Part III—Child Tax Credit

Additional Child Tax Credit/Credit for Other Dependents

For 2021 there is no applicable maximum age. The applicable minimum age for 2021 is age 19 unless one of the following two exceptions applies:

• In the case of a specified student (other than a qualified former foster youth or a qualified homeless youth), the applicable minimum age is age 24, and

• In the case of a qualified former foster youth or a qualified homeless youth, the applicable minimum age is age 18.

For more information, see the instructions for Form 1040, line 27a.

If your spouse died during the year on line 1, or you are preparing a return for someone who died during the year on line 1, the age test is met if your spouse, or the deceased taxpayer, met the applicable minimum age at the time of death.

Your spouse, or the deceased taxpayer, is considered to reach the applicable minimum age on the day before his or her birthday. Your spouse, or the deceased taxpayer, isn't considered to be the applicable minimum age at the end of 2021 unless he or she met the applicable minimum age at the time of his or her death.

Example. You are married and filing a joint return. Neither you, nor your spouse, is a qualified former foster youth, qualified homeless youth, or a specified student. Your spouse was born on February 14, 2002, and died on February 13, 2021. Your spouse is considered age 19 at the time of death. However, if your spouse died on February 12, 2021, your spouse isn't considered age 19 at the time of death and isn't at least age 19 at the end of 2021.

Part III—Child Tax Credit (nonrefundable or refundable)/Additional Child Tax Credit/Credit for Other Dependents

For 2021, if you meet certain residency requirements, your child tax credit will be fully refundable. If you don't meet the residency requirements, you will figure your child tax credit (nonrefundable) and additional child tax credit in a manner similar to how these credits were figured for 2020. See the instructions for Schedule 8812 (Form 1040) for more information.

Line 14. Generally, a child must live with you for more than half of the year for you to claim the credit. A child is considered to have lived with you for more than half of the year if the child was born or died during the year on line 1 and your home was this child's home for more than half the time he or she was alive. Temporary absences by you or the child for special circumstances, such as school, vacation, business, medical care, military service, or detention in a juvenile facility, count as time the child lived with you.

However, there are exceptions for kidnapped children and children of divorced or separated parents. If you meet one of these exceptions, answer "Yes" to question 14 for that child. For details, see your tax return instructions.

Line 15. A qualifying child for purposes of the CTC, RCTC, and ACTC is a child who:

1. Is your son, daughter, stepchild, foster child, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, half brother, half sister, or a descendant of any of them (for example, your grandchild, niece, or nephew);
2. Was under age 18 at the end of the year;
3. Did not provide over half of his or her own support for the year;
4. Lived with you for more than half of the year;
5. Is claimed as a dependent on your return;
6. Was not claimed as a dependent on the return of another person for you (or file it only to claim a refund of withheld income tax or estimated tax paid); and
7. Was a U.S. citizen, a U.S. national, or a U.S. resident alien.

Adopted child. An adopted child is always treated as your own child. An adopted child includes a child lawfully placed with you for legal adoption.

For more information on who is a qualifying child, see your tax return instructions or Pub. 972, Child Tax Credit and Credit for Other Dependents, (tax years prior to 2021).

Line 16. You cannot claim the CTC/RCTC/ACTC/ODC for a person who is not your dependent. See your tax return instructions for more information.

Part IV—American Opportunity Tax Credit

Line 19a. An eligible student for purposes of the AOTC is a student for whom you pay qualified education expenses and meets all of the following requirements.

1. The student did not have expenses that were used to figure an AOTC in any 4 earlier tax years. This includes any tax year(s) in which the Hope scholarship credit was claimed for the same student.
2. The student had not completed the first 4 years of post-secondary education (generally, the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior years of college) before the year on line 1.
3. For at least one academic period beginning in the year on line 1 (or the first 3 months of the following year if the qualified expenses were paid in the previous year), the student was enrolled at least half-time in a program leading to a degree, certificate, or other recognized educational credential.
4. The student has not been convicted of any federal or state felony for possessing or distributing a controlled substance as of the end of the year on line 1.

See Pub. 970 and the Instructions for Form 8863 for more information.

Line 19b. If the AOTC has been claimed for a student for any 4 tax years before the year on line 1 (including any year for which the Hope scholarship credit was claimed for the student), the AOTC cannot be claimed for this student for the year on line 1.

You cannot claim the AOTC based on qualified education expenses paid for a student by someone other than yourself or your spouse, unless you are claiming the student as a dependent.

Part V—Qualifying Child of More Than One Person

A child may meet the relationship, age, residency, support, and joint return tests to be a qualifying child of more than one person. Although the child is a qualifying child of each of these persons, only one person can actually treat the child as a qualifying child to take the EIC, CTC/RCTC/ACTC/ODC, or AOTC (provided the person is eligible for the credit).

To determine which person can treat the child as a qualifying child to claim any of these credits, the following tiebreaker rules apply.

• If only one of the persons is the child's parent, the child is treated as the qualifying child of the parent.
• If the parents file a joint return together and can claim the child as a qualifying child, the child is treated as the qualifying child of the parents.
• If the parents do not file a joint return together but both parents claim the child as a qualifying child, the IRS will treat the child as the qualifying child of the parent with whom the child lived for the longer period of time during the year. If the child lived with each parent for the same amount of time, the IRS will treat the child as the qualifying child of the parent who had the higher adjusted gross income (AGI) for the year.
• If no parent can claim the child as a qualifying child, the child is treated as the qualifying child of the person who had the highest AGI for the year.
• If a parent can claim the child as a qualifying child but no parent does so claim the child, the child is treated as the qualifying child of the person who had the highest AGI for the year, but only if that person's AGI is higher than the highest AGI of any of the child's parents who can claim the child. If the child's parents file a joint return with each other, this rule can be applied by dividing the parents' combined AGI equally between the parents.

Subject to these tiebreaker rules, you and the other person may be able to choose which of you claims the child as a qualifying child. For more information on this and other rules that may apply, see your tax return instructions and Pub. 501, Dependents, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information.

Paperwork Reduction Act Notice. We ask for you to obtain the information on this form to carry out the Internal Revenue laws of the United States. You are required to obtain this information.

You are not required to obtain the information requested on a form that is subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act unless the form displays a valid OMB control number. Books or records relating to a form or its instructions must be retained as long as their contents may become material in the administration of any Internal Revenue law. Generally, tax returns and return information are confidential, as required by Internal Revenue Code section 6103.

The average time and expenses required to complete and file this form will vary depending on individual circumstances. For the estimated averages, see the instructions for your income tax return.

If you have comments concerning the accuracy of these time estimates or suggestions for making this form simpler, we would be happy to hear from you. See the instructions for the tax return with which this form is filed.