Introduction

IRS' Español website (<http://www.irs.gov/espanol>) provides taxpayers with IRS filing season tax information, interactive on-line applications, and downloadable forms and publications in Spanish. It meets the needs of limited English proficient (LEP) customers for whom Spanish is the primary language: individuals, small business owners, and tax practitioners. This website, based on feedback from customer surveys and research, addresses Spanish-speaking LEP customers' concerns about filing requirements and enhances IRS' promotion of voluntary compliance.

Background Information

The Español website launched in 2001 and visits to the site have increased steadily since it was started. IRS' Multilingual and Agency Services Branch continually revises the Espanol website content to address issues of highest customer concern. Topics are chosen based on customer feedback.

Highlights

- Spanish language forms and publications – making it easier for Spanish-speaking taxpayers to understand IRS tax information in the language they are most comfortable with.
- Asistente EITC (EITC Assistant) – an interactive application that helps taxpayers determine eligibility for EITC by answering some basic questions.
- Presentación Free File (Free File) - an interactive application that allows certain taxpayers to complete and electronically file their tax returns for free using Spanish-language tax software provided by our Free File Alliance partners.
- ¿Dónde está mi Reembolso? (Where's My Refund?) - an interactive application helping taxpayers track the status of their return and expected date for receiving their federal tax refund.

The Español website is the source of and your link to a whole world of Spanish language IRS services, filing season information, and downloadable tax materials. It offers user friendly categories, content, and links.

How Can You Help?

We need your help to ensure the information is available to and used by our LEP customers and stakeholders. Please refer your Spanish-speaking taxpayers to our Español website for up-to-date information in Spanish. Familiarize them with our products, services, and ability to interact with IRS. Also, please share this information with your managers and coworkers.
