Retirement Plans for Small Business
(SEP, SIMPLE, and Qualified Plans)

What's New

Compensation limits for 2021 and 2022. For 2021, the maximum compensation used for figuring contributions and benefits is $290,000. This limit increases to $305,000 for 2022.

Elective deferral limits for 2021 and 2022. The limit on elective deferrals, other than catch-up contributions, is $19,500 for 2021 and $20,500 for 2022. These limits apply for participants in SARSEPs, 401(k) plans (excluding SIMPLE plans), section 403(b) plans, and section 457(b) plans.
Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2020, P.L. 116-94, also amended section 45E. For tax years beginning after December 31, 2019, eligible employers can claim a tax credit for the first credit year and each of the 2 tax years immediately following. The credit equals 50% of qualified startup costs, up to the greater of (a) $500; or (b) the lesser of (i) $250 for each employee who is not a “highly compensated employee” eligible to participate in the employer plan, or (ii) $5,000. See the instructions for Form 8880 and Form 8881 for more information on the startup cost credit.

Qualified automatic contribution arrangement (QACA) safe harbor plans. Effective for plan years beginning after December 31, 2019, when an employee doesn’t make an affirmative election specifying a deferral percentage, the maximum default deferral percentage increases from 10% to 15%.

• Removes the 6-month prohibition on contributions following a hardship distribution.
• Permits hardship distributions to be made from contributions, earnings on contributions, and employer contributions.
• Eliminates any requirement to take planned loans prior to taking a hardship distribution.

Retirement savings contributions credit. Retirement plan participants (including self-employed individuals) who make contributions to their plan may qualify for the retirement savings contribution credit. The maximum contribution eligible for the credit is $2,000. To take the credit, use Form 8880, Credit for Qualified Retirement Savings Contributions. For more information, see Form 8880 and its instructions or go to IRS.gov/Retirement-Plans/Plan-Participant-Employee/Retirement-Savings-Contributions-Savers-Credit.

Photographs of missing children. The IRS is a proud partner with the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children® (NCMEC). Photographs of missing children selected by the Center may appear in this publication on pages that would otherwise be blank. You can help bring these children home by looking at the photographs and calling 1-800-THE-LOST (1-800-843-5678) if you recognize a child.

Introduction

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

This publication discusses retirement plans you can set up and maintain for yourself and your employees. In this publication, “you” refers to the employer. See chapter 1 for the definition of the term “employer” and the definitions of other terms used in this publication. This publication covers the following types of retirement plans:

• SEP (simplified employee pension) plans.
• SIMPLE (savings incentive match plan for employees) plans.

Qualified plans. The qualified plan rules are more complex than the SEP plan and SIMPLE plan rules. However, there are advantages to qualified plans, such as increased flexibility in designing plans and increased contribution and deduction limits in some cases.

Qualified birth or adoption distribution. A qualified birth or adoption distribution is any distribution from an applicable eligible retirement plan if made during the 1-year period beginning on the date on which your child was born or the date on which the legal adoption of your child was finalized.
A qualified birth or adoption distribution must not exceed $5,000 per adoption or birth. In addition, an eligible adoptee is any individual (other than the child of the taxpayer’s spouse) who has not reached age 18 or is physically or mentally incapable of self-support.

Amount may be repaid. If you receive a qualified birth or adoption distribution, you can make one or more contributions to an eligible retirement plan if you are a beneficiary of that plan, the plan accepts rollover contributions, and the total of those contributions does not exceed the amount of the qualified birth or adoption distribution.

Defined Contribution Plan

| Defined Contribution Plan | Employer contribution: Money Purchase Pension Plan or Profit-Sharing: Due date of employer's return (including extensions). | Employee contribution: Elective deferral up to $19,500; $26,000 if age 50 or over. | Employee contribution: Either dollar-for-dollar matching contributions, up to 3% of employee's compensation; or fixed nonelective contributions of 2% of compensation. | By the end of the tax year. |

Defined Benefit Plan

| Defined Benefit Plan | Contributions must generally be paid in quarterly installments, due 15 days after the end of each quarter. See Minimum Funding Requirement in chapter 4. | Amount needed to provide an annual benefit no larger than the smaller of $230,000 or 100% of the participant's average compensation for his or her highest 3 consecutive calendar years. | Based on actuarial assumptions and computations. | By the end of the tax year. |

1 Net earnings from self-employment must take the contribution into account. See Deduction Limit for Self-Employed Individuals in chapters 2 and 4.
2 Compensation is generally limited to $290,000 in 2021.
3 Certain plans subject to Department of Labor (DOL) rules may have an earlier due date for salary reduction contributions and elective deferrals, such as 401(k) plans. See the “elective deferral” definition in Definitions You Need To Know, later. Solo/self-employed 401(k) plans are non-ERISA plans and don’t fall under DOL rules.

What this publication doesn’t cover. Although the purpose of this publication is to provide general information about retirement plans you can set up for your employees, it doesn’t contain all the rules and exceptions that apply to these plans. You may need professional help and guidance.

Also, this publication doesn’t cover all the rules that may be of interest to employees. For example, it doesn’t cover the following topics.

- The comprehensive IRA rules an employee needs to know. These rules are covered in Pub. 590-A, Contributions to Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs), and Pub. 590-B, Distributions from Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).
- The comprehensive rules that apply to distributions from retirement plans. These rules are covered in Pub. 575, Pension and Annuity Income.
- The comprehensive rules that apply to section 403(b) plans. These rules are covered in Pub. 571, Tax-Sheltered Annuity Plans (403(b) Plans) For Employees of Public Schools and Certain Tax-Exempt Organizations.

1. Definitions You Need To Know

Certain terms used in this publication are defined below. The same term used in another publication may have a slightly different meaning.

Annual additions. Annual additions are the total of all your contributions in a year, employee contributions (not including rollovers), and forfeitures allocated to a participant’s account.

Annual benefits. Annual benefits are the benefits to be paid yearly in the form of a straight life annuity (with no extra benefits) under a plan to which employees don’t contribute and under which no rollover contributions are made.

Business. A business is an activity in which a profit motive is present and economic activity is involved. Service as a newspaper carrier under age 18 or as a public official isn’t a business.

Common-law employee. A common-law employee is any individual who, under common law, would have the status of an employee. A leased employee can also be a common-law employee.

A common-law employee is a person who performs services for an employer who has the right to control and direct the results of the work and the way in which it is done. For example, the employer:

• Provides the employee’s tools, materials, and workplace; and
• Can fire the employee.

Common-law employees aren’t self-employed and can’t set up retirement plans for income from their work, even if that income is self-employment income for social security tax purposes. For example, common-law employees who are ministers, members of religious orders, full-time insurance salespeople, and U.S. citizens employed in the United States by foreign governments can’t set up retirement plans for their earnings from those employments, even though their earnings are treated as self-employment income.

However, an individual may be a common-law employee and a self-employed person as well. For example, an attorney can be a corporate common-law employee during regular working hours and also practice law in the evening as a self-employed person. In another example, a minister employed by a congregation for a salary is a common-law employee even though the salary is treated as self-employment income for social security tax purposes. However, fees reported on Schedule C (Form 1040), Profit or Loss From Business, for performing marriages, baptisms, and other personal services are self-employment earnings for qualified plan purposes.

Compensation. Compensation for plan allocations is the pay a participant received from you for personal services for a year. You can generally define compensation as including all the following payments.

1. Wages and salaries.
2. Fees for professional services.
3. Other amounts received (cash or non-cash) for personal services actually rendered by an employee, including, but not limited to, the following items.
   a. Commissions and tips.
   b. Fringe benefits.
   c. Bonuses.

For a self-employed individual, compensation means the earned income, discussed later, of that individual.

Compensation generally includes amounts deferred at the employee’s election in the following employee benefit plans.

• Section 401(k) plans.
• Section 403(b) plans.
• SIMPLE IRA plans.
• SARSEPs.
• Section 457 deferred compensation plans.
• Section 125 cafeteria plans.

However, an employer can choose to exclude elective deferrals under the above plans from the definition of compensation. The limit on elective deferrals is discussed in chapter 2 under Salary Reduction Simplified Employee Pension (SARSEP) and in chapter 4.

Other options. In figuring the compensation of a participant, you can treat any of the following amounts as the employee’s compensation.

• The employee’s wages as defined for income tax withholding purposes.
• The employee’s wages you report in box 1 of Form W-2, Wage and Tax Statement.
• The employee’s social security wages (including elective deferrals).

Compensation generally can’t include either of the following items.

• Nontaxable reimbursements or other expense allowances.
• Deferred compensation (other than elective deferrals).

SIMPLE plans. A special definition of compensation applies for SIMPLE plans. See chapter 3.

Contribution. A contribution is an amount you pay into a plan for all those participating in the plan, including self-employed individuals. Limits apply to how much, under the contribution formula of the plan, can be contributed each year for a participant.

Deduction. A deduction is the plan contribution you can subtract from gross income on your federal income tax return. Limits apply to the amount deductible.

Earned income. Earned income is net earnings from self-employment, discussed later, from a business in which your services materially helped to produce the income.

You can also have earned income from property your personal efforts helped create, such as royalties from your books or inventions. Earned income includes net earnings from selling or otherwise disposing of the property, but it doesn’t include capital gains. It includes income from licensing the use of property other than goodwill.

Earned income includes amounts received for services by self-employed members of recognized religious sects opposed to social security benefits who are exempt from self-employment tax.

If you have more than one business, but only one has a retirement plan, only the earned income from that business is considered for that plan.

Elective deferral. An elective deferral is the contribution made by employees to a qualified retirement plan.

• Non-owner employees: The employee salary reduction/elective deferral contributions must be elected/made by the end of the tax year and deposited into the employee’s plan account within 7 business days (safe harbor) and no later than 15 days.
• Owner/employees: The employee deferrals must be elected by the end of the tax year and then can be made by the tax return filing deadline, including extensions.

Employer. An employer is generally any person for whom an individual performs or did perform any service, of whatever nature, as an employee. A sole proprietor is treated as his or her own employer for retirement plan purposes. However, a partner isn’t an employer for retirement plan purposes. Instead, the partnership is treated as the employer of each partner.

Highly compensated employee. A highly compensated employee is an individual who:

• Owned more than 5% of the interest in your business at any time during the year or the preceding year, regardless of how much compensation that person earned or received; or
• For the preceding year, received compensation from you of more than $130,000 (if the preceding year is 2020 or 2021), more than $135,000 (if the preceding year is 2022), and, if you so choose, was in the top 20% of employees when ranked by compensation.

Leased employee. A leased employee who isn’t your common-law employee must generally be treated as your employee for retirement plan purposes if he or she does all the following.

• Provides services to you under an agreement between you and a leasing organization.
• Has performed services for you (or for you and related persons) substantially full time for at least 1 year.
• Performs services under your primary direction or control.
Exception. A leased employee isn’t treated as your employee if all the following conditions are met:

1. Leased employees aren’t more than 20% of your non-highly compensated workforce.
2. The employee is covered under the leasing organization’s qualified pension plan.
3. The leasing organization’s plan is a money purchase pension plan that has all the following provisions:
   a. Immediate participation. (This requirement doesn’t apply to any individual whose compensation from the leasing organization in each plan year during the 4-year period ending with the plan year is less than $1,000.)
   b. Full and immediate vesting.
   c. A nonintegrated employer contribution rate of at least 10% of compensation for each participant.

However, if the leased employee is your common-law employee, that employee will be your employee for all purposes, regardless of any pension plan of the leasing organization.

Net earnings from self-employment. For SEP and qualified plans, net earnings from self-employment are your gross income from your trade or business (provided your personal services are a material income-producing factor) minus allowable business deductions. Allowable deductions include contributions to SEP and qualified plans for common-law employees and the deduction allowed for the deductible part of your self-employment tax.

Net earnings from self-employment don’t include items excluded from gross income (or their related deductions) other than foreign earned income and foreign housing cost amounts.

For the deduction limits, earned income is net earnings for personal services actually rendered to the business. You take into account the income tax deduction for the deductible part of self-employment tax and the deduction for contributions to the plan made on your behalf when figuring net earnings.

Net earnings include a partner’s distributive share of partnership income or loss (other than separately stated items, such as capital gains and losses). They don’t include income passed through to shareholders of S corporations. Guaranteed payments to limited partners are net earnings from self-employment if they are paid for services to or for the partnership. Distributions of other income or loss to limited partners aren’t net earnings from self-employment.

For SIMPLE plans, net earnings from self-employment are the amount on line 4 Schedule SE (Form 1040), Self-Employment Tax, before subtracting any contributions made to the SIMPLE plan for yourself.

Qualified plan. A qualified plan is a retirement plan that offers a tax-favored way to save for retirement. You can deduct contributions made to the plan for your employees. Earnings on these contributions are generally tax free until distributed at retirement. Profit-sharing, money pur-

A SEP is a written plan that allows you to make contributions toward your own retirement and your employees’ retirement without getting involved in a more complex qualified plan.

Under a SEP, you make contributions to a traditional individual retirement arrangement (called a SEP-IRA) set up by or for each eligible employee. A SEP-IRA is owned and controlled by the employee, and you make contributions to the financial institution where the SEP-IRA is maintained.

SEP-IRAs are set up for, at a minimum, each eligible employee (defined below). A SEP-IRA may have to be set up for a leased employee (defined in chapter 1), but doesn’t need to be set up for excludable employees (defined later).

Eligible employee. An eligible employee is an individual who meets all the following requirements:

- Has reached age 21.
- Has worked for you in at least 3 of the last 5 years.
- Has received at least $600 in compensation from you in 2022. This amount increases to $650 in compensation in 2022.

TIP You can use less restrictive participation requirements than those listed, but not more restrictive ones.

Simplified Employee Pensions (SEPs)
Excludable employees. The following employees can be excluded from coverage under a SEP:
- Employees covered by a union agreement and whose retirement benefits were bargained for in good faith by the employees’ union and you.
- Nonresident alien employees who have received no U.S. source wages, salaries, or other personal services compensation from you. For more information about nonresident aliens, see Pub. 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens.

Setting Up a SEP

There are three basic steps in setting up a SEP.

1. You must execute a formal written agreement to provide benefits to all eligible employees.
2. You must give each eligible employee certain information about the SEP.
3. A SEP-IRA must be set up by or for each eligible employee.

TIP Many financial institutions will help you set up a SEP.

Formal written agreement. You must execute a formal written agreement to provide benefits to all eligible employees under a SEP. You can satisfy the written agreement requirement by adopting an IRS model SEP using Form 5305-SEP. However, see When not to use Form 5305-SEP, later.

If you adopt an IRS model SEP using Form 5305-SEP, no prior IRS approval or determination letter is required. Keep the original form. Don’t file it with the IRS. Also, using Form 5305-SEP will usually relieve you from filing annual retirement plan information returns with the IRS and the Department of Labor. See the Form 5305-SEP instructions for details. If you choose not to use Form 5305-SEP, you should seek professional advice in adopting a SEP.

When not to use Form 5305-SEP. You can’t use Form 5305-SEP if any of the following apply.
1. You currently maintain any other qualified retirement plan other than another SEP.
2. You have any eligible employees for whom IRAs haven’t been set up.
3. You use the services of leased employees, who aren’t your common-law employees (as described in chapter 1).
4. You are a member of any of the following unless all eligible employees of all the members of these groups, trades, or businesses participate under the SEP.
   a. An affiliated service group described in section 414(m).
   b. A controlled group of corporations described in section 414(b).
   c. Trades or businesses under common control described in section 414(c).

5. You don’t pay the cost of the SEP contributions.

Information you must give to employees. You must give each eligible employee a copy of Form 5305-SEP, its instructions, and the other information listed in the Form 5305-SEP instructions. An IRS model SEP isn’t considered adopted until you give each employee this information.

Setting up the employee’s SEP-IRA. A SEP-IRA must be set up by or for each eligible employee. SEP-IRAs can be set up with banks, insurance companies, or other qualified financial institutions. You send SEP contributions to the financial institution where the SEP-IRA is maintained.

Deadline for setting up a SEP. You can set up a SEP for any year as late as the due date (including extensions) of your income tax return for that year.

How Much Can I Contribute?

The SEP rules permit you to contribute a limited amount of money each year to each employee’s SEP-IRA. If you are self-employed, you can contribute to your own SEP-IRA. Contributions must be in the form of money (cash, check, or money order). You can’t contribute property. However, participants may be able to transfer or roll over certain property from one retirement plan to another. See Pub. 590-A and 590-B for more information about rollovers.

You don’t have to make contributions every year. But if you make contributions, they must be based on a written allocation formula and must not discriminate in favor of highly compensated employees (defined in chapter 1). When you contribute, you must contribute to the SEP-IRAs of all participants who actually performed personal services during the year for which the contributions are made, including employees who die or terminate employment before the contributions are made.

Contributions are deductible within limits, as discussed later, and generally aren’t taxable to the plan participants.

A SEP-IRA can’t be a Roth IRA. Employer contributions to a SEP-IRA won’t affect the amount an individual can contribute to a Roth or traditional IRA.

Unlike regular contributions to a traditional IRA before 2020, contributions under a SEP can be made to participants over age 70 1/2. If you are self-employed, you can also make contributions under the SEP for yourself even if you are over age 70 1/2. Participants age 72 or over (if age 70 1/2 was attained after December 31, 2019) must take required minimum distributions.

Time limit for making contributions. To deduct contributions for a year, you must make the contributions by the due date (including extensions) of your tax return for the year.

Contribution Limits

Contributions you make for 2021 to a common-law employee’s SEP-IRA can’t exceed the lesser of 25% of the employee’s compensation or $58,000. Compensation generally doesn’t include your contributions to the SEP. The SEP plan document will specify how the employer contribution is determined and how it will be allocated to participants.

Example. Your employee, Mary Plant, earned $21,000 for 2021. The maximum contribution you can make to her SEP-IRA is $5,250 (25% (0.25) x $21,000).

Contributions for yourself. The annual limits on your contributions to a common-law employee’s SEP-IRA also apply to contributions you make to your own SEP-IRA. However, special rules apply when figuring your maximum deductible contribution. See Deduction Limit for Self-Employed Individuals, later.

Annual compensation limit. You can’t consider the part of an employee’s compensation over $290,000 when figuring your contribution limit for that employee. However, $58,000 is the maximum contribution for an eligible employee. These limits increase to $305,000 and $61,000, respectively, in 2022.

Example. Your employee, Susan Green, earned $260,000 for 2021. Because of the maximum contribution limit for 2021, you can only contribute $58,000 to her SEP-IRA.

More than one plan. If you contribute to a defined contribution plan (defined in chapter 4), annual additions to an account are limited to the lesser of $58,000 or 100% of the participant’s compensation. When you figure this limit, you must add your contributions to all defined contribution plans maintained by you. Because a SEP is considered a defined contribution plan for this limit, your contributions to a SEP must be added to your contributions to other defined contribution plans you maintain.

Tax treatment of excess contributions. Excess contributions are your contributions to an employee’s SEP-IRA (or to your own SEP-IRA) for 2021, that exceed the lesser of the following amounts:
- 25% of the employee’s compensation (or, for you, 20% of your net earnings from self-employment).
- $58,000.

Excess contributions are included in the employee’s income for the year and are treated as contributions by the employee to his or her SEP-IRA. For more information on employee tax treatment of excess contributions, see Pub. 590-A.

Reporting on Form W-2. Don’t include SEP contributions on your employee’s Form W-2 unless contributions were made under a salary reduction arrangement (discussed later).
Deducting Contributions

Generally, you can deduct the contributions you make each year to each employee's SEP-IRA. If you are self-employed, you can deduct the contributions you make each year to your own SEP-IRA.

Deduction Limit for Contributions for Participants

The most you can deduct for your contributions to your or your employee's SEP-IRA is the lesser of the following amounts.

1. Your contributions (including any excess contributions carryover).
2. 25% of the compensation (limited to $290,000 per participant) paid to the participants during 2021, from the business that has the plan, not to exceed $58,000 per participant.

In 2022, the amounts in (2) above increase to $305,000 and $61,000, respectively.

Deduction Limit for Self-Employed Individuals

If you contribute to your own SEP-IRA, you must make a special computation to figure your maximum deduction for these contributions. When figuring the deduction for contributions made to your own SEP-IRA, compensation is your net earnings from self-employment (defined in chapter 1), which takes into account both the following deductions.

- The deduction for the deductible part of your self-employment tax.
- The deduction for contributions to your own SEP-IRA.

The deduction for contributions to your own SEP-IRA and your net earnings depend on each other. For this reason, you determine the deduction for contributions to your own SEP-IRA indirectly by reducing the contribution rate called for in your plan. To do this, use the Rate Table for Self-Employed or the Rate Worksheet for Self-Employed, whichever is appropriate for your plan's contribution rate, in chapter 5. Then, figure your maximum deduction by using the Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed in chapter 5.

Carryover of Excess SEP Contributions

If you made SEP contributions that are more than the deduction limit (nondeductible contributions), you can carry over and deduct the difference in later years. However, the carryover, when combined with the contribution for the later year, is subject to the deduction limit for that year. If you also contributed to a defined benefit plan or defined contribution plan, see Carryover of Excess Contributions under Employer Deduction in chapter 4 for the carryover limit.

Excise tax. If you made nondeductible (excess) contributions to a SEP, you may be subject to a 10% excise tax. For information about the excise tax, see Excise Tax for Nondeductible (Excess) Contributions under Employer Deduction in chapter 4.

When To Deduct Contributions

When you can deduct contributions made for a year depends on the tax year for which the SEP is maintained.

- If the SEP is maintained on a calendar-year basis, you deduct the yearly contributions on your tax return for the year within which the calendar year ends.
- If you file your tax return and maintain the SEP using a fiscal year or short tax year, you deduct contributions made for a year on your tax return for that year.

Example. You are a fiscal-year taxpayer whose tax year ends June 30. You maintain a SEP on a calendar-year basis. You deduct SEP contributions made for calendar year 2021 on your tax return for your tax year ending June 30, 2022.

Where To Deduct Contributions

Deduct the contributions you make for your common-law employees on your tax return. For example, sole proprietors deduct them on Schedule C (Form 1040) or Schedule F (Form 1040), Profit or Loss From Farming; partnerships deduct them on Form 1065, U.S. Return of Partnership Income; and corporations deduct them on Form 1120, U.S. Corporation Income Tax Return, or Form 1120-S, U.S. Income Tax Return for an S Corporation.

Sole proprietors and partners deduct contributions for themselves on line 15 of Schedule 1 (Form 1040). (If you are a partner, contributions for yourself are shown on the Schedule K-1 (Form 1065), Partner's Share of Income, Deductions, Credits, etc., you receive from the partnership.)

Remember that sole proprietors and partners can't deduct as a business expense contributions made to a SEP for themselves, only those made for their common-law employees.

Salary Reduction Simplified Employee Pensions (SARSEPs)

A SARSEP is a SEP set up before 1997 that includes a salary reduction arrangement. (See the Caution next.) Under a SARSEP, your employees can choose to have you contribute part of their pay to their SEP-IRAs rather than receive it in cash. This contribution is called an elective deferral because employees choose (elect) to set aside the money, and they defer the tax on the money until it is distributed to them.

You aren't allowed to set up a SARSEP after 1996. However, participants (including employees hired after 1996) in a SARSEP set up before 1997 can continue to have you contribute part of their pay to the plan. If you are interested in setting up a retirement plan that includes a salary reduction arrangement, see chapter 3.

Who can have a SARSEP? A SARSEP set up before 1997 is available to you and your eligible employees only if all the following requirements are met.

- At least 50% of your employees eligible to participate choose to make elective deferrals.
- You have 25 or fewer employees who were eligible to participate in the SEP at any time during the preceding year.
- The elective deferrals of your highly compensated employees meet the SARSEP average deferral percentage (ADP) test.

SARSEP ADP test. Under the SARSEP ADP test, the amount deferred each year by each eligible highly compensated employee as a percentage of pay (the deferral percentage) can't be more than 125% of the ADP of all non-highly compensated employees eligible to participate. A highly compensated employee is defined in chapter 1.

Deferral percentage. The deferral percentage for an employee for a year is figured as follows.

- The elective employer contributions (excluding certain catch-up contributions) paid to the SEP for the employee for the year
- The employee's compensation (limited to $290,000 in 2021)
- The instructions for Form 5305A-SEP have a worksheet you can use to determine whether the elective deferrals of your highly compensated employees meet the SARSEP ADP test.

Compensation of self-employed individuals. If you are self-employed, compensation is your net earnings from self-employment as defined in chapter 1.

Compensation doesn't include tax-free items (or deductions related to them) other than foreign earned income and housing cost amounts.

Choice not to treat deferrals as compensation. You can choose not to treat elective deferrals (and other amounts deferred in certain employee benefit plans) for a year as compensation under your SARSEP.
Limit on Elective Deferrals

The most a participant can choose to defer for calendar year 2021 is the lesser of the following amounts.

1. 25% of the participant’s compensation (limited to $290,000 of the participant’s compensation).

2. $19,500.

The $19,500 limit applies to the total elective deferrals the employee makes for the year to a SEP and any of the following.

• Cash or deferred arrangement (section 401(k) plan).

• Salary reduction arrangement under a tax-sheltered annuity plan (section 403(b) plan).

• SIMPLE IRA plan.

In 2022, the $290,000 limit increases to $305,000, and the $19,500 limit increases to $20,500.

Catch-up contributions. A SARSEP can permit participants who are age 50 or over at the end of the calendar year to also make catch-up contributions. The catch-up contribution limit is $6,500 for 2021 and 2022. Elective deferrals aren’t treated as catch-up contributions for 2021 until they exceed the elective deferral limit (the lesser of 25% of compensation or $19,500), the SARSEP ADP test limit discussed earlier, or the plan limit (if any). However, the catch-up contribution a participant can make for a year can’t exceed the lesser of the following amounts.

• The catch-up contribution limit.

• The excess of the participant’s compensation over the elective deferrals that aren’t catch-up contributions.

Catch-up contributions aren’t subject to the elective deferral limit (the lesser of 25% of compensation or $19,500 in 2021 and $20,500 in 2022).

Overall limit on SEP contributions. If you also make nonelective contributions to a SEP-IRA, the total of the nonelective and elective contributions to that SEP-IRA can’t exceed the lesser of 25% of the employee’s compensation or $58,000 for 2021 ($61,000 for 2022). The same rule applies to contributions you make to your own SEP-IRA. See Contribution Limits, earlier.

Figuring the elective deferral. For figuring the 25% limit on elective deferrals, compensation doesn’t include SEP contributions, including elective deferrals or other amounts deferred in certain employee benefit plans.

Tax Treatment of Deferrals

Elective deferrals that aren’t more than the limits discussed earlier under Limit on Elective Deferrals are excluded from your employees’ wages subject to federal income tax in the year of deferral. However, these deferrals are included in wages for social security, Medicare, and federal unemployment (FUTA) tax.

Excess deferrals. For 2021, excess deferrals are the elective deferrals for the year that are more than the $19,500 limit discussed earlier. For a participant who is eligible to make catch-up contributions, excess deferrals are the elective deferrals that are more than $26,000. The treatment of excess deferrals made under a SARSEP is similar to the treatment of excess deferrals made under a qualified plan. See Treatment of Excess Deferrals under Elective Deferrals (401(k) Plans) in chapter 4.

Excess SEP contributions. Excess SEP contributions are elective deferrals of highly compensated employees that are more than the amount permitted under the SARSEP ADP test. You must notify your highly compensated employees within 2½ months after the end of the plan year of their excess SEP contributions. If you don’t notify them within this time period, you must pay a 10% tax on the excess. For an explanation of the notification requirements, see Revenue Procedure 91-44, 1991-2 C.B. 733. If you adopted a SARSEP using Form 5305A-SEP, the notification requirements are explained in the instructions for that form.

Reporting on Form W-2. Don’t include elective deferrals in the “Wages, tips, other compensation” box of Form W-2. You must, however, include them in the “Social security wages” and “Medicare wages and tips” boxes. You must also include them in box 12. Mark the “Retirement plan” checkbox in box 13. For more information, see the Form W-2 instructions.

Distributions (Withdrawals)

As an employer, you can’t prohibit distributions from a SEP-IRA. Also, you can’t make your contributions on the condition that any part of them must be kept in the account after you have made your contributions to the employee’s accounts.

Distributions are subject to IRA rules. Generally, you or your employee must begin to receive distributions from a SEP-IRA by April 1 of the first year after the calendar year in which you or your employee reaches age 72 (if age 70½ was attained after December 31, 2019). For more information about IRA rules, including the tax treatment of distributions, rollovers, required distributions, and income tax withholding, see Pub. 590-A and 590-B.

Additional Taxes

The tax advantages of using SEP-IRAs for retirement savings can be offset by additional taxes that may be imposed for all the following actions.

• Making excess contributions.

• Making early withdrawals.

• Not making required withdrawals.

For information about these taxes, see Pub. 590-A and 590-B. Also, a SEP-IRA may be disqualified, or an excise tax may apply, if the account is involved in a prohibited transaction, discussed next.

Prohibited transaction. If an employee improperly uses his or her SEP-IRA, such as by borrowing money from it, the employee has engaged in a prohibited transaction. In that case, the SEP-IRA will no longer qualify as an IRA. For a list of prohibited transactions, see Prohibited Transactions in chapter 4.

Effects on employee. If a SEP-IRA is disqualified because of a prohibited transaction, the assets in the account will be treated as having been distributed to the employee on the first day of the year in which the transaction occurred. The employee must include in income the fair market value of the assets (on the first day of the year) that is more than any cost basis in the account. Also, the employee may have to pay the additional tax for making early withdrawals.

Reporting and Disclosure Requirements

If you set up a SEP using Form 5305-SEP, you must give your eligible employees certain information about the SEP when you set it up. See Setting up a SEP, earlier. Also, you must give your eligible employees a statement each year showing any contributions to their SEP-IRAs. You must also give them notice of any excess contributions. For details about other information you must give them, see the instructions for Form 5305-SEP or Form 5305A-SEP (for a salary reduction SEP).

Even if you didn’t use Form 5305-SEP or Form 5305A-SEP to set up your SEP, you must give your employees information similar to that described above. For more information, see the instructions for either Form 5305-SEP or Form 5305A-SEP.

  3998 Choosing a Retirement Solution for Your Small Business
A savings incentive match plan for employees (SIMPLE plan) is a written arrangement that provides for the contributions of both the employer and one or more employees. The employer makes contributions to the plan rather than receiving these amounts as part of their regular pay. In addition, you will contribute matching or nonelective contributions.

SIMPLE plans can only be maintained on a calendar-year basis.

A SIMPLE plan can be set up in either of the following ways:
- Using SIMPLE IRAs (SIMPLE IRA plan).
- As part of a 401(k) plan (SIMPLE 401(k) plan).

Many financial institutions will help you set up a SIMPLE plan.

SIMPLE IRA Plan

A SIMPLE IRA plan is a retirement plan that uses SIMPLE IRAs for each eligible employee. Under a SIMPLE IRA plan, a SIMPLE IRA must be set up for each eligible employee. For the definition of an eligible employee, see Who Can Participate in a SIMPLE IRA Plan, later.

Who Can Participate in a SIMPLE IRA Plan?

You can set up a SIMPLE IRA plan if you meet both the following requirements:

- You meet the employee limit.
- You don't maintain another qualified plan unless the other plan is for collective bargaining employees.

Employee limit. You can set up a SIMPLE IRA plan only if you had 100 or fewer employees who received $5,000 or more in compensation from you for the preceding year. Under this rule, you must take into account all employees employed at any time during the calendar year regardless of whether they are eligible to participate. Employees include self-employed individuals who received earned income and leased employees (defined in chapter 1).

Once you set up a SIMPLE IRA plan, you must continue to meet the 100-employee limit each year you maintain the plan.

Grace period for employers who cease to meet the 100-employee limit. If you maintain the SIMPLE IRA plan for at least 1 year and you cease to meet the 100-employee limit in a later year, you will be treated as meeting it for the 2 calendar years immediately following the calendar year for which you last met it.

A different rule applies if you don't meet the 100-employee limit because of an acquisition, disposition, or similar transaction. Under this rule, the SIMPLE IRA plan will be treated as meeting the 100-employee limit for the year of the transaction and the 2 following years if both the following conditions are satisfied:

- Coverage under the plan hasn't significantly changed during the grace period.
- The SIMPLE IRA plan would have continued to qualify after the transaction if you had remained a separate employer.

The grace period for acquisitions, dispositions, and similar transactions also applies if, because of these types of transactions, you don't meet the rules explained under Other qualified plan or Who Can Participate in a SIMPLE IRA Plan, later.

Other qualified plan. The SIMPLE IRA plan must generally be the only retirement plan to which you make contributions, or to which benefits accrue, for service in any year beginning with the year the SIMPLE IRA plan becomes effective.

Exception. If you maintain a qualified plan for collective bargaining employees, you are permitted to maintain a SIMPLE IRA plan for other employees.

Who Can Participate in a SIMPLE IRA Plan?

Eligible employee. Any employee who received at least $5,000 in compensation during any 2 years preceding the current calendar year and is reasonably expected to receive at least $5,000 during the current calendar year is eligible to participate. The term "employee" includes a self-employed individual who received earned income.

You can use less restrictive eligibility requirements (but not more restrictive ones) by eliminating or reducing the prior year compensation requirements, the current year compensation requirements, or both. For example, you can allow participation for employees who received at least $3,000 in compensation during any preceding calendar year. However, you can't impose any other conditions for participating in a SIMPLE IRA plan.

Excludable employees. The following employees don't need to be covered under a SIMPLE IRA plan:

- Employees who are covered by a union agreement and whose retirement benefits were bargained for in good faith by the employees' union and you.
- Nonresident alien employees who have received no U.S. source wages, salaries, or other personal services compensation from you.

Compensation. Compensation for employees is the total wages, tips, and other compensation from the employer subject to federal income tax withholding and the amounts paid for domestic service in a private home, local college club, or local chapter of a college fraternity or sorority. Compensation also includes the employee's salary reduction contributions made under this plan and, if applicable, elective deferrals under a section 401(k) plan, a SARSEP, or a section 403(b) annuity contract and compensation deferred under a section 457 plan required to be reported by the employer on Form W-2. If you are self-employed, compensation is your net earnings from self-employment (line 4 of Schedule SE (Form 1040), before subtracting any contributions made to the SIMPLE IRA plan for yourself.

How To Set Up a SIMPLE IRA Plan

You can use Form 5304-SIMPLE or Form 5305-SIMPLE to set up a SIMPLE IRA plan. Each form is a model SIMPLE plan document. Which form you use depends on whether you select a financial institution or your employees select the institution that will receive the contributions.

Use Form 5304-SIMPLE if you allow each plan participant to select the financial institution for receiving his or her SIMPLE IRA plan contributions. Use Form 5305-SIMPLE if you require that all contributions under the SIMPLE IRA plan be deposited initially at a designated financial institution.

The SIMPLE IRA plan is adopted when you have completed all appropriate boxes and blanks on the form and you (and the designated financial institution, if any) have signed it. Keep the original form. Don't file it with the IRS.

Other uses of the forms. If you set up a SIMPLE IRA plan using Form 5304-SIMPLE or Form 5305-SIMPLE, you can use the form to satisfy other requirements, including the following:

- Meeting employer notification requirements for the SIMPLE IRA plan. Form 5304-SIMPLE and Form 5305-SIMPLE contain a Model Notification to Eligible Employees that provides the necessary information to the employee.
- Maintaining the SIMPLE IRA plan records and proving you set up a SIMPLE IRA plan for employees.

Deadline for setting up a SIMPLE IRA plan. You can set up a SIMPLE IRA plan effective on any day from January 1 through October 1 of a year, provided you didn't previously maintain a SIMPLE IRA plan. This requirement doesn't apply if you are a new employer that comes into existence after October 1 of the year the SIMPLE IRA plan is set up and you set up a SIMPLE IRA plan as soon as administratively feasible after your business comes into existence. If you previously maintained a SIMPLE IRA plan, you can set up a SIMPLE IRA plan effective only on January 1 of a year. A SIMPLE IRA plan can’t have an effective date that is before the date you actually adopt the plan.

Setting up a SIMPLE IRA. SIMPLE IRAs are the individual retirement accounts or annuities into which the contributions are deposited. A SIMPLE IRA must be set up for each eligible employee. Forms 5305-S, SIMPLE Individual Retirement Trust Account, and 5305-SA, SIMPLE Individual Retirement Custodial Account, are model trust and custodial account documents the participant and the trustee (or custodian) can use for this purpose.

A SIMPLE IRA can’t be a Roth IRA. Contributions to a SIMPLE IRA won’t affect the amount an individual can contribute to a Roth or traditional IRA.

Deadline for setting up a SIMPLE IRA. A SIMPLE IRA must be set up for an employee before the first date by which a contribution is required to be deposited into the employee’s IRA. See Time limits for contributing funds later, under Contribution Limits.

Notification Requirement

If you adopt a SIMPLE IRA plan, you must notify each employee of the following information before the beginning of the election period.

1. The employee’s opportunity to make or change a salary reduction choice under a SIMPLE IRA plan.
2. Your decision to make either matching contributions or nonelective contributions (discussed later).
3. A summary description provided by the financial institution.
4. Written notice that his or her balance can be transferred without cost or penalty if they use a designated financial institution.

Election period. The election period is generally the 60-day period immediately preceding January 1 of a calendar year (November 2 to December 31 of the preceding calendar year). However, the dates of this period are modified if you set up a SIMPLE IRA plan mid-year (for example, on July 1) or if the 60-day period falls before the first day an employee becomes eligible to participate in the SIMPLE IRA plan.

A SIMPLE IRA plan can provide longer periods for permitting employees to enter into salary reduction agreements or to modify prior agreements. For example, a SIMPLE IRA plan can provide a 90-day election period instead of the 60-day period. Similarly, in addition to the 60-day period, a SIMPLE IRA plan can provide quarterly election periods during the 30 days before each calendar quarter, other than the first quarter of each year.

Contribution Limits

Contributions are made up of salary reduction contributions and employer contributions. You, as the employer, must make either matching contributions or nonelective contributions, defined later. No other contributions can be made to the SIMPLE IRA plan. These contributions, which you can deduct, must be made timely. See Time limits for contributing funds later.

Salary reduction contributions. The amount the employee chooses to have you contribute to a SIMPLE IRA on his or her behalf can’t be more than $13,500 for 2021 and increases to $14,000 in 2022. These contributions must be expressed as a percentage of the employee’s compensation unless you permit the employee to express them as a specific dollar amount. You can’t place restrictions on the contribution amount (such as limiting the contribution percentage), except to comply with the $13,500 limit for 2021 ($14,000 for 2022).

If you or an employee participates in any other qualified plan during the year and you or your employee has salary reduction contributions (elective deferrals) under those plans, the salary reduction contributions under a SIMPLE IRA plan also count toward the overall annual limit ($19,500 for 2021, $20,500 in 2022) on exclusion of salary reduction contributions and other elective deferrals.

Catch-up contributions. A SIMPLE IRA plan can permit participants who are age 50 or over at the end of the calendar year to also make catch-up contributions. The catch-up contribution limit for SIMPLE IRA plans is $3,000 for 2021 and 2022. Salary reduction contributions aren’t treated as catch-up contributions until they exceed $13,500 for 2021 ($14,000 in 2022). However, the catch-up contribution a participant can make for a year can’t exceed the lesser of the following amounts.

- The catch-up contribution limit.
- The excess of the participant’s compensation over the salary reduction contributions that aren’t catch-up contributions.

Employer matching contributions. You are generally required to match each employee’s salary reduction contribution(s) on a dollar-for-dollar basis up to 3% of the employee’s compensation, where only employees who have elected to make contributions will receive an employer matching contribution. This requirement doesn’t apply if you make nonelective contributions, as discussed later.

Lower percentage. If you choose a matching contribution less than 3%, the percentage must be at least 1%. You must notify the employees of the lower match within a reasonable period of time before the 60-day election period (discussed earlier) for the calendar year. You can’t choose a percentage less than 3% for more than 2 years during the 5-year period that ends with (and includes) the year for which the choice is effective.

Nonelective contributions. Instead of matching contributions, you can choose to make nonelective contributions of 2% of compensation on behalf of each eligible employee who has at least $5,000 (or some lower amount you select) of compensation from you for the year. If you make this choice, you must make nonelective contributions whether or not the employee chooses to make salary reduction contributions. Only $290,000 of the employee’s compensation can be taken into account to figure the contribution limit in 2021 ($305,000 in 2022).

If you choose this 2% contribution formula, you must notify the employees within a reasonable period of time before the 60-day election period (discussed earlier) for the calendar year.

Example 1. In 2021, your employee, Jane Wood, earned $36,000 and chose to have you contribute 10% of her salary. Your net earnings from self-employment are $50,000, and you choose to contribute 10% of your earnings to your SIMPLE IRA. You make a 2% nonelective contribution. Both of you are under age 50. The total contribution you make for Jane is $4,320, figured as follows.

Salary reduction contributions ($36,000 × 10% (0.10)) . $3,600
2% nonelective contributions ($36,000 × 2% (0.02)) . 720
Total contributions $4,320

The total contribution you make for yourself is $6,000, figured as follows.

Salary reduction contributions ($50,000 × 10% (0.10)) . $5,000
2% nonelective contributions ($50,000 × 2% (0.02)) . 1,000
Total contributions $6,000

Example 2. Using the same facts as in Example 1 above, the maximum contribution you make for Jane or for yourself if you each earned $75,000 is $14,000, figured as follows.

Salary reduction contributions (maximum amount allowed) . $12,500
2% nonelective contributions ($75,000 × 2% (0.02)) . 1,500
Total contributions $14,000
Time limits for contributing funds. You must make the salary reduction contributions to the SIMPLE IRA within 30 days after the end of the month in which the amounts would otherwise have been payable to the employee in cash. You must make matching contributions or nonelective contributions by the due date (including extensions) for filing your federal income tax return for the year. Certain plans subject to Department of Labor rules may have an earlier due date for salary reduction contributions.

When To Deduct Contributions
You can deduct SIMPLE IRA contributions in the tax year within which contributions were made. You can deduct contributions for a particular tax year if they are made for that tax year and are made by the due date (including extensions) of your federal income tax return for that year.

The due date for making contributions for 2021 for most plans is Monday, April 18, 2022.

Example 1. Your tax year is the fiscal year ending June 30. Contributions under a SIMPLE IRA plan for calendar year 2021 (including contributions made in 2021 before July 1, 2021) are deductible in the tax year ending June 30, 2022.

Example 2. You are a sole proprietor whose tax year is the calendar year. Contributions under a SIMPLE IRA plan for the calendar year 2021 (including contributions made in 2022 by April 18, 2022) are deductible in the 2021 tax year.

Where To Deduct Contributions
Deduct the contributions you make for your common-law employees on your tax return. For example, sole proprietors deduct them on Schedule C (Form 1040) or Schedule F (Form 1040), partnerships deduct them on Form 1065, and corporations deduct them on Form 1120 or Form 1120-S.

Sole proprietors and partners deduct contributions for themselves on line 15 of Schedule 1 (Form 1040). (If you are a partner, contributions for yourself are shown on the Schedule K-1 (Form 1065) you receive from the partnership.)

Tax Treatment of Contributions
You can deduct your contributions and your employees may exclude these contributions from their gross income. SIMPLE IRA plan contributions aren’t subject to federal income tax withholding. However, salary reduction contributions are subject to social security, Medicare, and FUTA taxes. Matching and nonelective contributions aren’t subject to these taxes.

Reporting on Form W-2. Don’t include SIMPLE IRA plan contributions in the “Wages, tips, other compensation” box of Form W-2. You must, however, include them in the “Social security wages” and “Medicare wages and tips” boxes. You must also include them in box 12. Mark the “Retirement plan” checkbox in box 13. For more information, see the Form W-2 instructions.

Distributions (Withdrawals)
Distributions from a SIMPLE IRA are subject to IRA rules and generally are includible in income for the year received. Tax-free rollovers can be made from one SIMPLE IRA into another SIMPLE IRA. However, a rollover from a SIMPLE IRA to a non-SIMPLE IRA can be made tax free only after a 2-year participation in the SIMPLE IRA plan.

Generally, you or your employee must begin to receive distributions from a SIMPLE IRA by April 1 of the first year after the calendar year in which you or your employee reaches age 72 (if age 70 1/2 was attained after December 31, 2019).

Early withdrawals are generally subject to a 10% additional tax. However, the additional tax is increased to 25% if funds are withdrawn within 2 years of beginning participation.

More information. See Pub. 590-A and 590-B for information about IRA rules, including those on the tax treatment of distributions, rollovers, required distributions, and income tax withholding.

More Information on SIMPLE IRA Plans
If you need help to set up or maintain a SIMPLE IRA plan, go to the IRS website and search SIMPLE IRA Plan.

SIMPLE 401(k) Plan
You can adopt a SIMPLE plan as part of a 401(k) plan if you meet the 100-employee limit, as discussed earlier under SIMPLE IRA Plan. A SIMPLE 401(k) plan is a qualified retirement plan and must generally satisfy the rules discussed under Qualification Rules in chapter 4, including the required distribution rules. However, a SIMPLE 401(k) plan isn’t subject to the nondiscrimination and top-heavy rules discussed in chapter 4 if the plan meets the conditions listed below.

1. Under the plan, an employee can choose to have you make salary reduction contributions for the year to a trust in an amount expressed as a percentage of the employee’s compensation, but not more than $13,500 for 2021 ($14,000 in 2022). If permitted under the plan, an employee who is age 50 or over can also make a catch-up contribution of up to $3,000 for 2021 and 2022. See Catch-up contributions, earlier, under Contribution Limits.
2. You must make either:
   a. Matching contributions up to 3% of compensation for the year, or
   b. Nonelective contributions of 2% of compensation on behalf of each eligible employee who has at least $5,000 of compensation from you for the year.
3. No other contributions can be made to the trust.
4. No contributions are made, and no benefits accrue, for services during the year under any other qualified retirement plan sponsored by you on behalf of any employee eligible to participate in the SIMPLE 401(k) plan.
5. The employee’s rights to any contributions are nonforfeitable.

No more than $290,000 of the employee’s compensation can be taken into account in figuring matching contributions and nonelective contributions in 2021 ($305,000 in 2022). Compensation is defined earlier in this chapter.

Employee notification. The notification requirement that applies to SIMPLE IRA plans also applies to SIMPLE 401(k) plans. See Notification Requirement, earlier in this chapter.

Note on forms. Please note that Forms 5304-SIMPLE and 5305-SIMPLE can’t be used to establish a SIMPLE 401(k) plan. To set up a SIMPLE 401(k) plan, see Adopting a Written Plan in chapter 4.

Chapter 4 Qualified Plans
Page 11
These qualified retirement plans set up by Keogh or H.R. 10 plans, a sole proprietor or a corporation. All of the rules described here apply to corporations except where specifically limited to the self-employed.

The plan must be for the exclusive benefit of employees or their beneficiaries. These qualified plans include coverage for a self-employed individual.

As an employer, you can usually deduct, subject to limits, contributions you make to a qualified plan, including those made for your own retirement. The contributions (and earnings and gains on them) are generally tax free until distributed by the plan.

Types of Plans

There are two basic kinds of qualified plans—defined contribution plans and defined benefit plans—and different rules apply to each. You can have more than one qualified plan, but your contributions to all the plans must not total more than the overall limits discussed under Contributions and Employer Deduction, later.

Defined Contribution Plan

A defined contribution plan provides an individual account for each participant in the plan. It provides benefits to a participant largely based on the amount contributed to that participant’s account. Benefits are also affected by any income, expenses, gains, losses, and forfeitures of other accounts that may be allocated to an account. A defined contribution plan can be either a profit-sharing plan or a money purchase pension plan.

Profit-sharing plan. Although it is called a “profit-sharing plan,” you don’t actually have to make a business profit for the year in order to make a contribution (except for yourself if you are self-employed, as discussed under Self-employed individual, later). A profit-sharing plan can be set up to allow for discretionary employer contributions, meaning the amount contributed each year to the plan isn’t fixed. An employer may even make no contribution to the plan for a given year.

The plan must provide a definite formula for allocating the contribution among the participants and for distributing the accumulated funds to the employees after they reach a certain age, after a fixed number of years, or upon certain other occurrences.

In general, you can be more flexible in making contributions to a profit-sharing plan than to a money purchase pension plan (discussed next) or a defined benefit plan (discussed later).

Money purchase pension plan. Contributions to a money purchase pension plan are fixed and aren’t based on your business profits. For example, a money purchase pension plan may require that contributions be 10% of the participants’ compensation without regard to whether you have profits (or the self-employed person has earned income).

Defined Benefit Plan

A defined benefit plan is any plan that isn’t a defined contribution plan. Contributions to a defined benefit plan are based on what is needed to provide definitely determinable benefits to plan participants. Actuarial assumptions and computations are required to figure these contributions. Generally, you will need continuing professional help to have a defined benefit plan.

Qualification Rules

To qualify for the tax benefits available to qualified plans, a plan must meet certain requirements (qualification rules) of the tax law. Generally, unless you write your own plan, the financial institution that provided your plan will take the continuing responsibility for meeting qualification rules that are later changed. The following is a brief overview of important qualification rules that generally haven’t yet been discussed. It isn’t intended to be all-inclusive. See Setting Up a Qualified Plan, later.

Generally, the following qualification rules also apply to a SIMPLE 401(k) retirement plan. A SIMPLE 401(k) plan is, however, not subject to the top-heavy plan rules and nondiscrimination rules if the plan satisfies the provisions discussed in chapter 3 under SIMPLE 401(k) Plan.

Plan assets must not be diverted. Your plan must make it impossible for its assets to be used for, or diverted to, purposes other than the exclusive benefit of employees and their beneficiaries. As a general rule, the assets can’t be diverted to the employer.

Minimum coverage requirement must be met. To be a qualified plan, a defined benefit plan must benefit at least the lesser of the following:

1. 50 employees.
2. The greater of:
   a. 40% of all employees, or
   b. Two employees.

If there is only one employee, the plan must benefit that employee.

Contributions or benefits must not discriminate. Under the plan, contributions or benefits to be provided must not discriminate in favor of highly compensated employees.

Contributions and benefits must not be more than certain limits. Your plan must not provide for contributions or benefits that are more than certain limits. The limits apply to the annual contributions and other additions to the account of a participant in a defined contribution plan and to the annual benefit payable to a participant in a defined benefit plan. These limits are discussed later in this chapter under Contributions.

Minimum vesting standard must be met. Your plan must satisfy certain requirements regarding when benefits vest. A benefit is vested.
(you have a fixed right to it) when it becomes nonforfeitable. A benefit is nonforfeitable if it can’t be lost upon the happening, or failure to happen, of any event. Special rules apply to forfeited benefit amounts. In defined contribution plans, forfeitures can be allocated to the accounts of remaining participants in a nondiscriminatory way, or they can be used to reduce your contributions.

Forfeitures under a defined benefit plan can’t be used to increase the benefits any employee would otherwise receive under the plan. Forfeitures must be used instead to reduce employer contributions.

Participation. In general, an employee must be allowed to participate in your plan if he or she meets both the following requirements.
- Has reached age 21.
- Has at least 1 year of service (2 years if the plan isn’t a 401(k) plan and provides that after not more than 2 years of service the employee has a nonforfeitable right to all his or her accrued benefit).

A plan can’t exclude an employee because he or she has reached a specified age.

Leased employee. A leased employee, defined in chapter 1, who performs services for you (recipient of the services) is treated as your employee for certain plan qualification rules. These rules include those in all the following areas.
- Nondiscrimination in coverage, contributions, and benefits.
- Minimum age and service requirements.
- Vesting.
- Limits on contributions and benefits.
- Top-heavy plan requirements.

Contributions or benefits provided by the leasing organization for services performed for you are treated as provided by you.

Benefit payment must begin when required.
Your plan must provide that, unless the participant chooses otherwise, the payment of benefits to the participant must begin within 60 days after the close of the latest of the following periods.
- The plan year in which the participant reaches the earlier of age 65 or the normal retirement age specified in the plan.
- The plan year in which the 10th anniversary of the year in which the participant began participating in the plan occurs.
- The plan year in which the participant separates from service.

Early retirement. Your plan can provide for payment of retirement benefits before the normal retirement age. If your plan offers an early retirement benefit, a participant who separates from service before satisfying the early retirement age requirement is entitled to that benefit if he or she meets both the following requirements.
- Satisfies the service requirement for the early retirement benefit.
- Separates from service with a nonforfeitable right to an accrued benefit. The benefit, which may be actuarially reduced, is payable when the early retirement age requirement is met.

Required minimum distributions. Special rules require minimum annual distributions from qualified plans, generally beginning after age 72 (if age 70 ½ was attained after December 31, 2019). See Required Distributions under Distributions, later.

Survivor benefits. Defined benefit and money purchase pension plans must provide automatic survivor benefits in both the following forms.
- A qualified joint and survivor annuity for a vested participant who doesn’t die before the annuity starting date.
- A qualified pre-retirement survivor annuity for a vested participant who dies before the annuity starting date and who has a surviving spouse.

The automatic survivor benefit also applies to any participant under a profit-sharing plan unless all the following conditions are met.
- The participant doesn’t choose benefits in the form of a life annuity.
- The plan pays the full vested account balance to the participant’s surviving spouse (or other beneficiary if the surviving spouse consents or if there is no surviving spouse) if the participant dies.
- The plan isn’t a direct or indirect transferee of a plan that must provide automatic survivor benefits.

Loan secured by benefits. If automatic survivor benefits are required for a spouse under a plan, he or she must consent to a loan that uses as security the accrued benefits in the plan.

Waiver of survivor benefits. Each plan participant may be permitted to waive the joint and survivor annuity or the pre-retirement survivor annuity (or both), but only if the participant has the written consent of the spouse. The plan must also allow the participant to withdraw the waiver. The spouse’s consent must be witnessed by a plan representative or notary public.

Involuntary cash-out of benefits not more than dollar limit. A plan may provide for the immediate distribution of the participant’s benefit under the plan if the present value of the benefit isn’t greater than $5,000.

However, the distribution can’t be made after the annuity starting date unless the participant and the spouse or surviving spouse of a participant who died (if automatic survivor benefits are required for a spouse under the plan) consents in writing to the distribution. If the present value is greater than $5,000, the plan must have the written consent of the participant and the spouse or surviving spouse (if automatic survivor benefits are required for a spouse under the plan) for any immediate distribution of the benefit.

Benefits attributable to rollover contributions and earnings on them can be ignored in determining the present value of these benefits. A plan must provide for the automatic rollover of any cash-out distribution of more than $1,000 to an individual retirement account or annuity, unless the participant chooses otherwise. A section 402(f) notice must be sent prior to an involuntary cash-out of an eligible rollover distribution. See Section 402(f) notice under Distributions, later, for more details.

Consolidation, merger, or transfer of assets or liabilities. Your plan must provide that, in the case of any merger or consolidation with, or transfer of assets or liabilities to, any other plan, each participant would (if the plan then terminated) receive a benefit equal to or more than the benefit he or she would have been entitled to just before the merger, etc. (if the plan had then terminated).

Benefits must not be assigned or alienated. Your plan must provide that a participant’s or beneficiary’s benefits under the plan can’t be taken away by any legal or equitable proceeding except as provided below or pursuant to certain judgments or settlements against the participant for violations of plan rules.

Exception for certain loans. A loan from the plan (not from a third party) to a participant or beneficiary isn’t treated as an assignment or alienation if the loan is secured by the participant’s accrued nonforfeitable benefit and is exempt from the tax on prohibited transactions under section 4975(d)(1) or would be exempt if the participant were a disqualified person. A disqualified person is defined later in this chapter under Prohibited Transactions.

Exception for a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO). Compliance with a QDRO doesn’t result in a prohibited assignment or alienation of benefits.

Payments to an alternate payee under a QDRO before the participant attains age 59 ½ aren’t subject to the 10% additional tax that would otherwise apply under certain circumstances. Benefits distributed to an alternate payee under a QDRO can be rolled over tax free to an individual retirement account or to an individual retirement annuity.

No benefit reduction for social security increases. Your plan must not permit a benefit reduction for a post-separation increase in the social security benefit level or wage base for any participant or beneficiary who is receiving benefits under your plan, or who is separated from service and has nonforfeitable rights to benefits. This rule also applies to plans supplementing the benefits provided by other federal or state laws.

Elective deferrals must be limited. If your plan provides for elective deferrals, it must limit those deferrals to the amount in effect for that particular year. See Limit on Elective Deferrals, later in this chapter.

Top-heavy plan requirements. A top-heavy plan is one that mainly favors partners, sole proprietors, and other key employees.

A plan is top-heavy for a plan year if, for the preceding plan year, the total value of accrued benefits or account balances of key employees is more than 60% of the total value of accrued benefits or account balances of all employees. Additional requirements apply to a top-heavy plan primarily to provide minimum benefits or contributions for non-key employees covered by the plan.

Most qualified plans, whether or not top-heavy, must contain provisions that meet the top-heavy requirements and will take effect in plan years in which the plans are top-heavy. These qualification requirements for top-heavy plans are explained in section 416 and its regulations.

SIMPLE and safe harbor 401(k) plan exception. The top-heavy plan requirements don't apply to SIMPLE 401(k) plans, discussed earlier in chapter 3, or to safe harbor 401(k) plans that consist solely of safe harbor contributions, discussed later in this chapter. Qualified automatic contribution arrangements (QACAs) (discussed later) also aren't subject to top-heavy requirements.

Setting Up a Qualified Plan

There are two basic steps in setting up a qualified plan. First, you adopt a written plan. Then, you invest the plan assets.

You, the employer, are responsible for setting up and maintaining the plan.

Set-up deadline. To take a deduction for contributions for a tax year, your plan must be set up (adopted) by the last day of that year (December 31 for calendar-year employers).

Adopting a Written Plan

You must adopt a written plan. The plan can be an IRS pre-approved plan offered by a sponsoring organization. Or it can be an individually designed plan.

Written plan requirement. To qualify, the plan you set up must be in writing and must be communicated to your employees. The plan's provisions must be stated in the plan. It isn't sufficient for the plan to merely refer to a requirement of the Internal Revenue Code.

IRS pre-approved plans. Most qualified plans follow a standard form of plan approved by the IRS. An IRS pre-approved plan is a plan, including a plan covering self-employed individuals, that is made available by a provider for adoption by employers. Under the prior IRS pre-approved plan, a plan could be a master plan, a prototype plan, or a volume submitter plan. Under the restructured program, the three plan types were combined into one type called a pre-approved plan. IRS pre-approved plans include both standardized plans and nonstandardized plans. An IRS pre-approved plan may use a single funding medium, for example, a trust or custodial account document, for the joint use of all adopting employers or separate funding mediums established for each adopting employer. An IRS pre-approved plan may consist of an adoption agreement plan or a single document plan. For more information about IRS pre-approved plans, see Revenue Procedure 2017-41, 2017-29 I.R.B. 92, available at IRS.gov/irb/2017-29_IRB#RP-2017-41.

Plan providers. The following organizations can generally provide IRS pre-approved plans.

- Banks (including some savings and loan associations and federally insured credit unions).
- Trade or professional organizations.
- Insurance companies.
- Mutual funds.
- Law firms.
- Third-party administrators.

Individually designed plan. If you prefer, you can set up an individually designed plan to meet specific needs. Although advance IRS approval is not required, you can apply for approval by paying a fee and requesting a determination letter. You may need professional help for this. See Revenue Procedure 2020-4, 2020-1 I.R.B. 148, available at IRS.gov/irb/2020-01_IRB, as annually updated, that may help you decide whether to apply for approval.

User fee. The fee mentioned earlier for requesting a determination letter doesn't apply to employers who have 100 or fewer employees who received at least $5,000 of compensation from the employer for the preceding year. At least one of them must be a non-highly compensated employee participating in the plan. The fee doesn't apply to requests made by the later of the following dates:

- The end of the fifth plan year the plan is in effect.
- The end of any remedial amendment period for the plan that begins within the first 5 plan years.

The request can't be made by the provider of an IRS pre-approved plan that intends to market to participating employers. For more information about whether the user fee applies, see Revenue Procedure 2020-4, 2020-1 I.R.B. 148, available at IRS.gov/irb/2020-01_IRB, as may be annually updated; Notice 2017-1, 2017-2 I.R.B. 367, available at IRS.gov/pub/irs-irb/17-02.pdf; and Form 8717.

Investing Plan Assets

In setting up a qualified plan, you arrange how the plan's funds will be used to build its assets.

- You can establish a trust or custodial account to invest the funds.
- You, the trust, or the custodial account can buy an annuity contract from an insurance company. Life insurance can be included only if it is incidental to the retirement benefits.

You set up a trust by a legal instrument (written document). You may need professional help to do this.

You can set up a custodial account with a bank, savings and loan association, credit union, or other person who can act as the plan trustee.

You don't need a trust or custodial account, although you can have one, to invest the plan's funds in annuity contracts or face-amount certificates. If anyone other than a trustee holds them, however, the contracts or certificates must state they aren't transferable.

Other plan requirements. For information on other important plan requirements, see Qualification Rules, earlier in this chapter.

Minimum Funding Requirement

In general, if your plan is a money purchase pension plan or a defined benefit plan, you must actually pay enough into the plan to satisfy the minimum funding standard for each year. Determining the amount needed to satisfy the minimum funding standard for a defined benefit plan is complicated, and you should seek professional help in order to meet these contribution requirements. For information on this funding requirement, see section 430 and its regulations.

Quarterly installments of required contributions. If your plan is a defined benefit plan subject to the minimum funding requirements, you must generally make quarterly installment payments of the required contributions. If you don’t pay the full installments timely, you may have to pay interest on any underpayment for the period of the underpayment.

Due dates. The due dates for the installments are 15 days after the end of each quarter. For a calendar-year plan, the installments are due April 15, July 15, October 15, and January 15 (of the following year).

Installment percentage. Each quarterly installment must be 25% of the required annual payment.

Extended period for making contributions. Additional contributions required to satisfy the minimum funding requirement for a plan year will be considered timely if made by 8½ months after the end of that year.

Contributions

A qualified plan is generally funded by your contributions. However, employees participating in the plan may be permitted to make contributions, and you may be permitted to make contributions on your own behalf. See Employee Contributions and Elective Deferrals, later.

Contributions deadline. You can make deductible contributions for a tax year up to the due date of your return (plus extensions) for that year.

Self-employed individual. You can make contributions on behalf of yourself only if you have net earnings (compensation) from self-employment in the trade or business for which the plan was set up. Your net earnings must be from your personal services, not from your investments. If you have a net loss from self-employment, you can’t make contributions... for yourself for the year, even if you can contribute for common-law employees based on their compensation.

Employer Contributions

There are certain limits on the contributions and other annual additions you can make each year for plan participants. There are also limits on the amount you can deduct. See Deduction Limits, later.

Limits on Contributions and Benefits

Your plan must provide that contributions or benefits can’t exceed certain limits. The limits differ depending on whether your plan is a defined contribution plan or a defined benefit plan.

Defined benefit plan. For 2021, the annual benefit for a participant under a defined benefit plan can’t exceed the lesser of the following amounts.

1. 100% of the participant’s average compensation for his or her highest 3 consecutive calendar years.
2. $230,000 for 2021 ($245,000 for 2022).

Defined contribution plan. For 2021, a defined contribution plan’s annual contributions and other additions (excluding earnings) to the account of a participant can’t exceed the lesser of the following amounts.

1. 100% of the participant’s compensation.
2. $58,000 for 2021 ($61,000 for 2022).

Catch-up contributions (discussed later under Limit on Elective Deferrals) aren’t subject to the above limit.

Employee Contributions

Participants may be permitted to make nondeductible contributions to a plan in addition to your contributions. Even though these employee contributions aren’t deductible, the earnings on them are tax free until distributed in later years. Also, these contributions must satisfy the actual contribution percentage (ACP) test of section 401(m)(2), a nondiscrimination test that applies to employee contributions and matching contributions. See Regulations sections 1.401(k)-2 and 1.401(m)-2 for further guidance relating to the nondiscrimination rules under sections 401(k) and 401(m).

When Contributions Are Considered Made

You generally apply your plan contributions to the year in which you make them. But you can apply them to the previous year if all the following requirements are met.

1. You make them by the due date of your tax return for the previous year (plus extensions).
2. The plan was established by the end of the previous year.
3. The plan treats the contributions as though it had received them on the last day of the previous year.
4. You do either of the following.
   a. You specify in writing to the plan administrator or trustee that the contributions apply to the previous year.
   b. You deduct the contributions on your tax return for the previous year. A partnership shows contributions for partners on Form 1065.

Employer’s promissory note. Your promissory note made out to the plan isn’t a payment that qualifies for the deduction. Also, issuing this note is a prohibited transaction subject to tax. See Prohibited Transactions, later.

Employer Deduction

You can usually deduct, subject to limits, contributions you make to a qualified plan, including those made for your own retirement. The contributions (and earnings and gains on them) are generally tax free until distributed by the plan.

Deduction Limits

The deduction limit for your contributions to a qualified plan depends on the kind of plan you have.

Defined contribution plans. The deduction for contributions to a defined contribution plan (profit-sharing plan or money purchase pension plan) can’t be more than 25% of the compensation paid (or accrued) during the year to your eligible employees participating in the plan. If you are self-employed, you must reduce this limit in figuring the deduction for contributions you make for your own account. See Deduction Limit for Self-Employed Individuals, later.

When figuring the deduction limit, the following rules apply.

- Elective deferrals (discussed later) aren’t subject to the limit.
- Compensation includes elective deferrals.
- The maximum compensation that can be taken into account for each employee in 2021 is $290,000 ($305,000 in 2022).
- Defined benefit plans. The deduction for contributions to a defined benefit plan is based on actuarial assumptions and computations. Consequently, an actuary must figure your deduction limit.

In figuring the deduction for contributions, you can’t take into account any contributions or benefits that are more than the limits discussed earlier under Limits on Contributions and Benefits.

Deduction Limit for Self-Employed Individuals

If you make contributions for yourself, you need to make a special computation to figure your maximum deduction for these contributions. Compensation is your net earnings from self-employment, defined in chapter 1. This definition takes into account both the following items.

- The deduction for the deductible part of your self-employment tax.
- The deduction for contributions on your behalf to the plan.

The deduction for your own contributions and your net earnings depend on each other. For this reason, you determine the deduction for your own contributions indirectly by reducing the contribution rate called for in your plan. To do this, use either the Rate Table for Self-Employed or the Rate Worksheet for Self-Employed in chapter 5. Then, figure your maximum deduction by using the Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed in chapter 5.

Where To Deduct Contributions

Deduct the contributions you make for your common-law employees on your tax return. For example, sole proprietors deduct them on Schedule C (Form 1040) or Schedule F (Form 1040), partnerships deduct them on Form 1065, and corporations deduct them on Form 1120 or Form 1120-S.

Sole proprietors and partners deduct contributions for themselves on line 15 of Schedule 1.
In general, a qualified plan can include a cash or deferred arrangement only if the qualified plan is one of the following plans:

- A profit-sharing plan.
- A money purchase pension plan in existence on June 27, 1974, that included a salary reduction arrangement on that date.

Partnership. A partnership can have a 401(k) plan.

Restriction on conditions of participation. The plan can’t require, as a condition of participation, that an employee complete more than 1 year of service.

Matching contributions. If your plan permits, you can make matching contributions for an employee who makes an elective deferral to your 401(k) plan. For example, the plan might provide that you will contribute 50 cents for each dollar your participating employees choose to defer under your 401(k) plan. Matching contributions are generally subject to the ADP test discussed earlier under Employee Contributions.

Non elective contributions. You can also make contributions (other than matching contributions) for your participating employees without giving them the choice to take cash instead. These are called non elective contributions.

Employee compensation limit. No more than $290,000 of the employee’s compensation can be taken into account when figuring contributions other than elective deferrals in 2021. This limit is $305,000 in 2022.

SIMPLE 401(k) plan. If you had 100 or fewer employees who earned $5,000 or more in compensation during the preceding year, you may be able to set up a SIMPLE 401(k) plan. A SIMPLE 401(k) plan isn’t subject to the nondiscrimination and top-heavy plan requirements discussed earlier under Qualification Rules. For details about SIMPLE 401(k) plans, see SIMPLE 401(k) Plan in chapter 3.

Distributions. Certain rules apply to distributions from 401(k) plans. See Distributions From 401(k) Plans, later.

Limit on Elective Deferrals

There is a limit on the amount an employee can defer each year under these plans. This limit applies without regard to community property laws. Your plan must provide that your employees can’t defer more than the limit that applies for a particular year. The basic limit on elective deferrals is $19,500 for 2021 and increases to $20,500 in 2022. This limit applies to all salary reduction contributions and elective deferrals. If, in conjunction with other plans, the deferral limit is exceeded, the difference is included in the employee’s gross income.

Catch-up contributions. A 401(k) plan can permit participants who are age 50 or over at the end of the calendar year to also make catch-up contributions. The catch-up contribution limit is $6,500 for 2021 and 2022. Effective deferrals aren’t treated as catch-up contributions for 2021 until they exceed the $19,500 limit ($20,500 limit in 2022), the ADP test limit of section 401(k)(3), or the plan limit (if any). However, the catch-up contribution a participant can make for a year can’t exceed the lesser of the following amounts:

- The catch-up contribution limit.
- The excess of the participant’s compensation over the elective deferrals that aren’t catch-up contributions.

Treatment of contributions. Your contributions to your own 401(k) plan are generally deductible by you for the year they are contributed to the plan. Matching or non elective contributions made to the plan are also deductible by you in the year of contribution. Your employees’ elective deferrals other than designated Roth contributions are tax free until distributed from the plan. Elective deferrals are included in wages for social security, Medicare, and federal unemployment (FUTA) tax.

Forfeiture. Employees may have a nonforfeitable right at all times to their accrued benefit attributable to elective deferrals.

Reporting on Form W-2. Don’t include elective deferrals in the “Wages, tips, other compensation” box of Form W-2. You must, however, include them in the “Social security wages” and “Medicare wages and tips” boxes. You must also include them in box 12. Mark the “Retirement plan” checkbox in box 13. For more information, see the Form W-2 instructions.

Automatic Enrollment

Your 401(k) plan can have an automatic enrollment feature. Under this feature, you can automatically reduce an employee’s pay by a fixed percentage and contribute that amount to the 401(k) plan on his or her behalf unless the employee affirmatively chooses not to have his or her pay reduced or chooses to have it reduced by a different percentage. These contributions are elective deferrals. An automatic enrollment feature will encourage employees’ saving for retirement and will help your plan pass nondiscrimination testing (if applicable). For more information, see Pub. 4674.

Eligible automatic contribution arrangement (EACA). Under an EACA, a participant is treated as having elected to have the employer make contributions in an amount equal to a uniform percentage of compensation. This automatic election will remain in place until the participant specifically elects not to have such deferral percentage made (or elects a different percentage). There is no required deferral percentage.

Withdrawals. Under an EACA, you may allow participants to withdraw their automatic contributions to the plan if certain conditions are met:

- The participant must elect the withdrawal no later than 90 days after the date of the first elective contributions under the EACA.
- The participant must withdraw the entire amount of EACA default contributions, including any earnings thereon.
If the plan allows withdrawals under the EACA, the amount of the withdrawal other than the amount of any designated Roth contributions must be included in the employee’s gross income for the tax year in which the distribution is made. The additional 10% tax on early distributions won’t apply to the distribution.

Notice requirement. Under an EACA, employees must be given written notice of the terms of the EACA within a reasonable period of time before each plan year. The notice must be written in a manner calculated to be understood by the average employee and be sufficiently accurate and comprehensive in order to apprise the employee of his or her rights and obligations under the EACA. The notice must include an explanation of the employee’s right to elect not to have elective contributions made on his or her behalf, or to elect a different percentage, and the employee must be given a reasonable period of time after receipt of the notice before the first elective contribution is made. The notice must also explain how contributions will be invested in the absence of an investment election by the employee.

Qualified automatic contribution arrangement (QACA). A QACA is a type of safe harbor plan. It contains an automatic enrollment feature, and mandatory employer contributions are required. If your plan includes a QACA, it won’t be subject to the ADP test (discussed later) nor the top-heavy requirements (discussed earlier). Additionally, your plan won’t be subject to the ACP test if certain additional requirements are met. Under a QACA, each employee who is eligible to participate in the plan will be treated as having elected to make elective deferral contributions equal to a certain default percentage of compensation. In order to not have default elective deferrals made, an employee must make an affirmative election specifying a deferral percentage (including zero, if desired). If an employee doesn’t make an affirmative election, the default deferral percentage must meet the following conditions.

1. It must be applied uniformly.
2. It must not exceed 10%. (After December 31, 2019, the maximum default deferral percentage increases to 15%.)
3. It must be at least 3% in the first plan year it applies to an employee and through the end of the following year.
4. It must increase to at least 4% in the following plan year.
5. It must increase to at least 5% in the following plan year.
6. It must increase to at least 6% in subsequent plan years.

Matching or nonelective contributions. Under the terms of the QACA, you must make either matching or nonelective contributions according to the following terms.

1. Matching contributions. You must make matching contributions on behalf of each non-highly compensated employee in the following amounts.
   a. An amount equal to 100% of elective deferrals, up to 1% of compensation.
   b. An amount equal to 50% of elective deferrals, from 1% up to 6% of compensation.
   Other formulas may be used as long as they are at least as favorable to non-highly compensated employees. The rate of matching contributions for highly compensated employees, including yourself, must not exceed the rates for non-highly compensated employees.
2. Nonelective contributions. You must make nonelective contributions on behalf of every non-highly compensated employee eligible to participate in the plan, regardless of whether they elected to participate, in an amount equal to at least 3% of their compensation.

Vesting requirements. All accrued benefits attributed to matching or nonelective contributions under the QACA must be 100% vested for all employees who complete 2 years of service. These contributions are subject to special withdrawal restrictions, discussed later.

Notice requirements. Each employee eligible to participate in the QACA must receive written notice of their rights and obligations under the QACA within a reasonable period before each plan year. The notice must be written in a manner calculated to be understood by the average employee, and it must be accurate and comprehensive. The notice must explain their right to elect not to have elective contributions made on their behalf, or to have contributions made at a different percentage than the default percentage. Additionally, the notice must explain how contributions will be invested in the absence of any investment election by the employee. The employee must have a reasonable period of time after receiving the notice to make such contribution and investment elections prior to the first contributions under the QACA.

Treatment of Excess Deferrals

If the total of an employee’s deferrals is more than the limit for 2021, the employee can have the difference (called an excess deferral) paid out of any of the plans that permit these distributions. He or she must notify the plan by April 15, 2022 (or an earlier date specified in the plan), of the amount to be paid from each plan. The plan must then pay the employee that amount, plus earnings on the amount through the end of 2021, by April 15, 2022.

Excess withdrawn by April 15. If the employee takes out the excess deferral by April 15, 2022, it isn’t reported again by including it in the employee’s gross income for 2022. However, any income earned in 2021 on the excess deferral taken out is taxable in the tax year in which it is taken out. The distribution isn’t subject to the additional 10% tax on early distributions.

If the employee takes out part of the excess deferral and the income on it, the distribution is treated as made proportionately from the excess deferral and the income. Even if the employee takes out the excess deferral by April 15, the amount will be considered for purposes of nondiscrimination testing requirements of the plan, unless the distributed amount is for a non-highly compensated employee who participates in only one employer’s 401(k) plan or plans.

Excess not withdrawn by April 15. If the employee doesn’t take out the excess deferral by April 15, 2022, the excess, though taxable in 2022, isn’t included in the employee’s cost basis in figuring the taxable amount of any eventual distributions under the plan. In effect, an excess deferral left in the plan is taxed twice, once when contributed and again when distributed. Also, if the employee’s excess deferral is allowed to stay in the plan and the employee participates in no other employer’s plan, the plan can be disqualified.

Reporting corrective distributions on Form 1099-R. Report corrective distributions of excess deferrals (including any earnings) on Form 1099-R. For specific information about reporting corrective distributions, see the Instructions for Forms 1099-R and 5498.

Tax on excess contributions of highly compensated employees. The law provides tests to detect discrimination in a plan. If tests, such as the ADP test (see section 401(k)(3)) and the ACP test (see section 401(m)(2)), show that contributions for highly compensated employees are more than the test limits for these contributions, the employer may have to pay a 10% excise tax. Report the tax on Form 5330. The ADP test doesn’t apply to a safe harbor 401(k) plan (discussed next) nor to a QACA. Also, the ACP test doesn’t apply to these plans if certain additional requirements are met.

The tax for the year is 10% of the excess contributions for the plan year ending in your tax year. Excess contributions are elective deferrals, employee contributions, or employer matching or nonelective contributions that are more than the amount permitted under the ADP test or the ACP test.

See Regulations sections 1.401(k)-2 and 1.401(m)-2 for further guidance relating to the nondiscrimination rules under sections 401(k) and 401(m).

If the plan fails the ADP or ACP testing, and the failure isn’t corrected by the end of the next plan year, the plan can be disqualified.

Safe Harbor 401(k) Plan

If you meet the requirements for a safe harbor 401(k) plan, you don’t have to satisfy the ADP test, nor the ACP test, if certain additional requirements are met. For your plan to be a safe harbor plan, you must meet the following conditions.

1. Matching or nonelective contributions. You must make matching or nonelective contributions according to one of the following formulas.
   a. Matching contributions. You must make matching contributions according to the following rules.
i. You must contribute an amount equal to 100% of each non-highly compensated employee's elective deferrals, up to 3% of compensation.

ii. You must contribute an amount equal to 50% of each non-highly compensated employee's elective deferrals, from 3% up to 5% of compensation.

iii. The rate of matching contributions for highly compensated employees, including yourself, must not exceed the rates for non-highly compensated employees.

b. Nonelective contributions. You must make nonelective contributions, without regard to whether the employee made elective deferrals, on behalf of all non-highly compensated employees eligible to participate in the plan, equal to at least 3% of the employee's compensation.

These mandatory matching and nonelective contributions must be immediately 100% vested and are subject to special withdrawal restrictions.

2. Notice requirement. You must give eligible employees written notice of their rights and obligations with regard to contributions under the plan within a reasonable period before the plan year.

The other requirements for a 401(k) plan, including withdrawal and vesting rules, must also be met for your plan to qualify as a safe harbor 401(k) plan.

Qualified Roth Contribution Program

Under this program, an eligible employee can designate all or a portion of his or her elective deferrals as after-tax Roth contributions. Elective deferrals designated as Roth contributions must be maintained in a separate Roth account. However, unlike other elective deferrals, designated Roth contributions aren't excluded from employees' gross income, but qualified distributions from a Roth account are excluded from employees' gross income.

Elective Deferrals

Under a qualified Roth contribution program, the amount of elective deferrals that an employee may designate as a Roth contribution is limited to the maximum amount of elective deferrals excludable from gross income for the year (for 2021, $19,500 if under age 50 and $25,500 if age 50 or over, amounts increase in 2022 to $20,500 and $27,000, respectively) less the total amount of the employee's elective deferrals not designated as Roth contributions.

Designated Roth contributions are treated the same as pre-tax elective deferrals for most purposes, including:
- The annual individual elective deferral limit (total of all designated Roth contributions and traditional, pre-tax elective deferrals) of $19,500 for 2021 ($20,500 in 2022), with an additional $6,500 if age 50 or over;
- Determining the maximum employee and employer annual contributions of the lesser of 100% of compensation or $58,000 for 2021 ($61,000 for 2022);
- Nondiscrimination testing;
- Required distributions; and
- Elective deferrals not taken into account for purposes of deduction limits.

Required Distributions

A qualified plan must provide that each participant will either:
- Receive his or her entire interest (benefits) in the plan by the required beginning date (defined later), or
- Begin receiving regular periodic distributions by the required beginning date in annual amounts figured to distribute the participant's entire interest (benefits) over his or her life expectancy or over the joint life expectancies of the participant and the designated beneficiary (or over a shorter period).

These distribution rules apply individually to each qualified plan. You can't satisfy the requirement for one plan by taking a distribution from another. The plan must provide that these rules override any inconsistent distribution options previously offered.

Minimum distribution.

If the account balance of a qualified plan participant is to be distributed (other than as an annuity), the plan administrator must figure the minimum amount required to be distributed each distribution calendar year. This minimum is figured by dividing the account balance by the applicable life expectancy. The plan administrator can use the life expectancy tables in Pub. 590-B for this purpose. For more information on figuring the minimum distribution, see Tax on Excess Accumulation in Pub. 575.

Required beginning date.

Generally, each participant must receive his or her entire benefits in the plan or begin to receive periodic distributions of benefits from the plan by the required beginning date.

A participant must begin to receive distributions from his or her qualified retirement plan by April 1 of the first year after the later of the following years.

1. The calendar year in which he or she reaches age 72 (if age 70 1/2 was attained after December 31, 2019).
2. The calendar year in which he or she retires from employment with the employer maintaining the plan.

However, the plan may require the participant to begin receiving distributions by April 1 of the year after the participant reaches age 72 (if age 70 1/2 was attained after December 31, 2019) even if the participant has not retired.

If the participant is a 5% owner of the employer maintaining the plan, the participant must begin receiving distributions by April 1 of the first year after the calendar year in which the participant reached age 72 (if age 70 1/2 was attained after December 31, 2019). For more information, see Tax on Excess Accumulation in Pub. 575 about distributions prior to 2020.

Distributions after the starting year.

The distribution required to be made by April 1 is treated as a distribution for the starting year. (The starting year is the year in which the participant meets (1) or (2) above, whichever applies.) After the starting year, the participant must receive the required distribution for each year by December 31 of that year. If no distribution is made in the starting year, required distributions for 2 years must be made in the next year (one by April 1 and one by December 31).

Distributions after participant's death.
See Pub. 575 for the special rules covering distributions made after the death of a participant.

Distributions From 401(k) Plans

Generally, distributions can't be made until one of the following occurs:
• The employee retires, dies, becomes disabled, or otherwise severs employment.
• The plan ends and no other defined con-
• In the case of a 401(k) plan that is part of a profit-sharing plan, the employee reaches age 59½ or suffers financial hardship. For the rules on hardship distributions, including the limits on them, see Regulations section 1.401(k)-1(d).
• The employee becomes eligible for a qualiified reservist distribution (defined next).

CAUTION

Certain distributions listed above may be subject to the tax on early distributions discussed later.

Qualified reservist distributions. A qualified reservist distribution is a distribution from an IRA or an elective deferral account made after September 11, 2001, to a military reservist or a member of the National Guard who has been called to active duty for at least 180 days or for an indefinite period. All or part of a qualified re-ervist distribution can be repaid to an IRA. The additional 10% tax on early distributions doesn't apply to a qualified reservist distribution.

Tax Treatment of Distributions

Distributions from a qualified plan minus a prorated part of any cost basis are subject to income tax in the year they are distributed. Since most recipients have no cost basis, a distribution is generally fully taxable. An exception is a distribution that is properly rolled over as discussed under Rollover next.

The tax treatment of distributions depends on whether they are made periodically over several years or life (periodic distributions) or are nonperiodic distributions. See Taxation of Periodic Payments and Taxation of Nonperiodic Payments in Pub. 575 for a detailed description of how distributions are taxed, including the 10-year tax option or capital gain treatment of a lump-sum distribution.

Note. A recipient of a distribution from a designated Roth account will have a cost basis since designated Roth contributions are made on an after-tax basis. Also, a distribution from a designated Roth account is entirely tax free if future conditions are met. See Qualified distributions under Qualified Roth Contribution Program, earlier.

Rollover. The recipient of an eligible rollover distribution from a qualified plan can defer the tax on it by rolling it over into a traditional IRA or another eligible retirement plan. However, it may be subject to withholding, as discussed under Withholding requirement, later. A rollover can also be made to a Roth IRA, in which case any previously untaxed amounts are includible in gross income unless the rollover is from a designated Roth account.

Eligible rollover distribution. This is a distribution of all or any part of an employee's balance in a qualified retirement plan that isn't any of the following.
1. A required minimum distribution. See Required Distributions, earlier.
2. Any of a series of substantially equal payments made at least once a year over any of the following periods.
   a. The employee's life or life expectancy.
   b. The joint lives or life expectancies of the employee and beneficiary.
   c. A period of 10 years or longer.
3. A hardship distribution.
4. The portion of a distribution that represents the return of an employee's nonde-ductible contributions to the plan. See Employee Contributions, earlier, and Rollover of nontaxable amounts next.
5. Loans treated as distributions.
6. Dividends on employer securities.
7. The cost of any life insurance coverage provided under a qualified retirement plan.
8. Similar items designated by the IRS in published guidance. See, for example, the Instructions for Forms 1099-R and 5498.

Rollover of nontaxable amounts. You may be able to roll over the nontaxable part of a distribution to another qualified retirement plan or a section 403(b) plan, or to an IRA. If the rollover refers to a qualified retirement plan or a section 403(b) plan that separately accounts for the taxable and nontaxable parts of the rollover, the transfer must be made through a direct (trustee-to-trustee) rollover. If the rollover is to an IRA, the transfer can be made by any rollover method.

Note. A distribution from a designated Roth account can be rolled over to another designated Roth account or to a Roth IRA. If the rollover is to a Roth IRA, it can be rolled over by any rollover method, but if the rollover is to another designated Roth account, it must be rolled over directly (trustee-to-trustee).

More information. For more information about rollovers, see Rollovers in Pubs. 575 and 590-A. For rules on rolling over distributions that contain nontaxable amounts, see Notice 2014-54, ance on rolling money into a qualified plan, see Revenue Ruling 2014-9, 2014-17 I.R.B. 975, available at IRS.gov/irb/2014-17_IRB/ar05.html.

Withholding requirement. If, during a year, a qualified plan pays to a participant one or more eligible rollover distributions (defined earlier) that are reasonably expected to total $200 or more, the payor must withhold 20% of the taxable portion of each distribution for federal income tax.

Exceptions. If, instead of having the distribution paid to him or her, the participant chooses to have the plan pay it directly to an IRA or another eligible retirement plan (a direct rollover), no withholding is required.

If the distribution isn't an eligible rollover distribution, defined earlier, the 20% withholding requirement doesn't apply. Other withholding rules apply to distributions that aren't eligible rollover distributions, such as long-term periodic distributions and required distributions (periodic or nonperiodic). However, the participant can choose not to have tax withheld from these distributions. If the participant doesn't make this choice, the following withholding rules apply.
• For periodic distributions, withholding is based on their treatment as wages.
• For nonperiodic distributions, 10% of the taxable part is withheld.

Estimated tax payments. If no income tax is withheld or not enough tax is withheld, the recipient of a distribution may have to make esti-Many item tax payments. For more information, see Withholding Tax and Estimated Tax in Pub.
575.

Section 402(f) notice. If a distribution is an eli-Eligible rollover distribution, as defined earlier, you must provide a written notice to the recipi-ant that explains the following rules regarding such distributions.
1. That the distribution may be directly transferred to an eligible retirement plan and information about which distributions are eligible for this direct transfer.
2. That tax will be withheld from the distribution if it isn't directly transferred to an eligible retirement plan.
3. That the distribution won't be subject to tax if transferred to an eligible retirement plan within 60 days after the date the recipient receives the distribution.
4. Certain other rules that may be applicable.

at IRS.gov/irb/2014-50_IRB/ar09.html, contains two updated safe harbor section 402(f) notices that plan administrators may provide recipients of eligible rollover distributions.

Timing of notice. The notice must generally be provided no less than 30 days and no more than 180 days before the date of a distribution.

Method of notice. The written notice must be provided individually to each distributee of an eligible rollover distribution. Posting of the notice isn't sufficient. However, the written requirement may be satisfied through the use of electronic media if certain additional conditions are met. See Regulations section 1.401(a)-21.

Tax on failure to give notice. Failure to give a 402(f) notice will result in a tax of $100 for each failure, with a total not exceeding $5,000 per calendar year. The tax won't be imposed if it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.
Tax on Early Distributions

If a distribution is made to an employee under the plan before he or she reaches age 59½, the employee may have to pay a 10% additional tax on the distribution. This tax applies to the amount received that the employee must include in income.

Exceptions. The 10% tax won’t apply if distributions before age 59½ are made in any of the following circumstances.

• Made to a beneficiary (or to the estate of the employee) on or after the death of the employee.
• Made due to the employee having a qualifying disability.
• Made as part of a series of substantially equal periodic payments beginning after separation from service and made at least annually for the life or life expectancy of the employee or the joint lives or life expectancies of the employee and his or her designated beneficiary. (The payments under this exception, except in the case of death or disability, must continue for at least 5 years or until the employee reaches age 59½, whichever is the longer period.)
• Made to an employee after separation from service if the separation occurred during or after the calendar year in which the employee reached age 55.
• Made to an alternate payee under a QDRO.
• Made to an employee for medical care up to the amount allowable as a medical expense deduction (determined without regard to whether the employee itemizes deductions).
• Timely made to reduce excess contributions under a 401(k) plan.
• Timely made to reduce excess employee or matching employer contributions (excess aggregate contributions).
• Timely made to reduce excess elective deferrals.
• Made because of an IRS levy on the plan.
• Made as a qualified reservist distribution.
• Made as a permissible withdrawal from an EACA.

Reporting the tax. To report the tax on early distributions, file Form 5329. See the form instructions for additional information about this tax.

Tax on Excess Benefits

If you are or have been a 5% owner of the business maintaining the plan, amounts you receive at any age that are more than the benefits provided for you under the plan formula are subject to an additional tax. This tax also applies to amounts received by your successor. The tax is 10% of the excess benefit includible in income.

To determine whether or not you are a 5% owner, see section 416.

Reporting the tax. Include on Schedule 2 (Form 1040), line 8, any tax you owe for an excess benefit. Check box 8c and, on the line next to it, write “Sec. 72(m)(5)” and write in the amount of the tax.

Lump-sum distribution. The amount subject to the additional tax isn’t eligible for the optional methods of figuring income tax on a lump-sum distribution. The optional methods are discussed under Lump-Sum Distributions in Pub. 575.

Excise Tax on Reversion of Plan Assets

A 20% or 50% excise tax is generally imposed on the cash and fair market value of other property an employer receives directly or indirectly from a qualified plan. If you owe this tax, report it on Schedule I of Form 5330. See the form instructions for more information.

Notification of Significant Benefit Accrual Reduction

An employer or the plan will have to pay an excise tax if both of the following occur.

• A defined benefit plan or money purchase pension plan is amended to provide for a significant reduction in the rate of future benefit accrual.
• The plan administrator fails to notify the affected individuals and the employee organizations representing them of the reduction in writing.

A plan amendment that eliminates or reduces any early retirement benefit or retirement-type subsidy reduces the rate of future benefit accrual.

The notice must be written in a manner calculated to be understood by the average plan participant and must provide enough information to allow each individual to understand the effect of the plan amendment. It must be provided within a reasonable time before the amendment takes effect.

The tax is $100 per participant or alternate payee for each day the notice is late. The total tax can’t be more than $500,000 during the tax year. It is imposed on the employer or, in the case of a multemployer plan, on the plan.

Prohibited Transactions

Prohibited transactions are transactions between the plan and a disqualified person that are prohibited by law. (However, see Exemption next.) If you are a disqualified person who takes part in a prohibited transaction, you must pay a tax (discussed later).

Prohibited transactions generally include the following transactions.

1. A transfer of plan income or assets to, or use of them by or for the benefit of, a disqualified person.
2. Any act of a fiduciary by which he or she deals with plan income or assets in his or her own interest.
3. The receipt of consideration by a fiduciary for his or her own account from any party dealing with the plan in a transaction that involves plan income or assets.

4. Any of the following acts between the plan and a disqualified person.
   a. Selling, exchanging, or leasing property.
   b. Lending money or extending credit.
   c. Furnishing goods, services, or facilities.

Exemption. Certain transactions are exempt from being treated as prohibited transactions. For example, a prohibited transaction doesn’t take place if you are a disqualified person and receive any benefit to which you are entitled as a plan participant or beneficiary. However, the benefit must be figured and paid under the same terms as for all other participants and beneficiaries. For other transactions that are exempt, see section 4975 and the related regulations.

Disqualified person. You are a disqualified person if you are any of the following.

1. A fiduciary of the plan.
2. A person providing services to the plan.
3. An employer, any of whose employees are covered by the plan.
4. An employee organization, any of whose members are covered by the plan.
5. Any direct or indirect owner of 50% or more of any of the following.
   a. The combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote, or the total value of shares of all classes of stock of a corporation that is an employer or employee organization described in (3) or (4).
   b. The capital interest or profits interest of a partnership that is an employer or employee organization described in (3) or (4).
   c. The beneficial interest of a trust or unincorporated enterprise that is an employer or employee organization described in (3) or (4).
6. A member of the family of any individual described in (1), (2), (3), or (5). (A member of a family is the spouse, ancestor, lineal descendant, or any spouse of a lineal descendant.)
7. A corporation, partnership, trust, or estate of which (or in which) any direct or indirect owner described in (1) through (5) holds 50% or more of any of the following.
   a. The combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote or the total value of shares of all classes of stock of a corporation.
   b. The capital interest or profits interest of a partnership.
   c. The beneficial interest of a trust or estate.
8. An officer, director (or an individual having powers or responsibilities similar to those of officers or directors), a 10% or more shareholder, or highly compensated employee (earning 10% or more of the... yearly wages of an employer) of a person described in (3), (4), (5), or (7).

9. A 10% or more (in capital or profits) partner or joint venturer of a person described in (3), (4), (5), or (7).

10. Any disqualified person, as described in (1) through (9) above, who is a disqualified person with respect to any plan to which a section 501(c)(22) trust is permitted to make payments under section 4223 of ERISA.

Tax on Prohibited Transactions

The initial tax on a prohibited transaction is 15% of the amount involved for each year (or part of a year) in the tax period. If the transaction isn't corrected within the tax period, an additional tax of 100% of the amount involved is imposed. For information on correcting the transaction, see Correcting a prohibited transaction, later.

Both taxes are payable by any disqualified person who participated in the transaction (other than a fiduciary acting only as such). If more than one person takes part in the transaction, each person can be jointly and severally liable for the entire tax.

Amount involved. The amount involved in a prohibited transaction is the greater of the following amounts:

- The money and fair market value of any property received.
- The money and fair market value of any property given.
- If services are performed, the amount involved is any excess compensation given or received.

Tax period. The tax period starts on the transaction date and ends on the earliest of the following days:

- The day the IRS mails a notice of deficiency for the tax.
- The day the IRS assesses the tax.
- The day the correction of the transaction is completed.

Payment of the 15% tax. Pay the 15% tax with Form 5330.

Correcting a prohibited transaction. If you are a disqualified person who participated in a prohibited transaction, you can avoid the 100% tax by correcting the transaction as soon as possible. Correcting the transaction means undoing it as much as you can without putting the plan in a worse financial position than if you had acted under the highest fiduciary standards.

Correction period. If the prohibited transaction isn't corrected during the tax period, you usually have an additional 90 days after the day the IRS mails a notice of deficiency for the 100% tax to correct the transaction. This correction period (the tax period plus the 90 days) can be extended if either of the following occurs:

- The IRS grants reasonable time needed to correct the transaction.
- You petition the Tax Court.

If you correct the transaction within this period, the IRS will abate, credit, or refund the 100% tax.

Reporting Requirements

You may have to file an annual return/report by the last day of the seventh month after the plan year ends. See the following list of forms to choose the right form for your plan.

Form 5500-SF. Form 5500-SF is a simplified annual reporting form. You can use Form 5500-SF if the plan meets all the following conditions:

- The plan is a small plan (generally, fewer than 100 participants at the beginning of the plan year).
- The plan meets the conditions for being exempt from the requirements that the plan's books and records be audited by an independent qualified public accountant.
- The plan has 100% of its assets invested in certain secure investments with a readily determinable fair value.
- The plan holds no employer securities.
- The plan isn't a multiemployer plan.

If your plan is required to file an annual return/report but isn't eligible to file Form 5500-SF, the plan must file Form 5500 or Form 5500-EZ, as appropriate. For more details, see the Instructions for Form 5500-SF.

Form 5500-EZ. You may be able to use Form 5500-EZ if the plan is a one-participant plan, as defined below.

One-participant plan. Your plan is a one-participant plan if either of the following is true:

- The plan covers only you (or you and your spouse) and you (or you and your spouse) own the entire business (whether incorporated or unincorporated).

A one-participant plan may not file an annual return for Form 5500 for 2021. Every one-participant plan required to file an annual return for 2021 must file either Form 5500-EZ or Form 5500-SF. See the Instructions for Form 5500-EZ.

Form 5500-EZ not required. If your one-participant plan (or plans) had total assets of $250,000 or less at the end of the plan year, then you don't have to file Form 5500-EZ for that plan year. All plans should file a Form 5500-EZ for the final plan year to show that all plan assets have been distributed.

Example. You are a sole proprietor and your plan meets all the conditions for filing Form 5500-EZ. The total plan assets are more than $250,000. You must file Form 5500-EZ or Form 5500-SF.

All one-participant plans should file Form 5500-EZ for their final plan year. The final plan year is the year in which distribution of all plan assets is completed.

Form 5500. If you don't meet the requirements for filing Form 5500-EZ or Form 5500-SF and a return/report is required, you must file Form 5500.

Electronic filing of Forms 5500 and 5500-SF. All Forms 5500 and 5500-SF are required to be filed electronically with the Department of Labor through EFAST2. One-participant plans have the option of filing Form 5500-SF electronically rather than filing a Form 5500-EZ on paper with the IRS. For more information, see the instructions for Forms 5500 and 5500-SF, available at EFAST.dol.gov.

Form 5310. If you terminate your plan and are the plan sponsor or plan administrator, you can file Form 5310. Your application must be accompanied by the appropriate user fee and Form 8717.

Form 8955-SSA. Form 8955-SSA is used to report participants who are no longer covered by the plan but have a deferred vested benefit under the plan.

Form 8955-SSA is filed with the IRS and can be filed electronically through the FIRE (Filing Information Returns Electronically) system.

More information. For more information about reporting requirements, see the forms and their instructions.
As discussed in chapters 2 and 4, if your plan's contribution rate isn't a whole percentage, you must use the rate table or rate worksheet and deduction worksheet to figure your deduction for contributions you made for yourself to a SEP-IRA or qualified plan.

First, use either the rate table or rate worksheet to find your reduced contribution rate. Then, complete the deduction worksheet to figure your deduction for contributions.

The table and the worksheets in chapter 5 apply only to self-employed individuals who have only one defined contribution plan, such as a profit-sharing plan. A SEP plan is treated as a profit-sharing plan. However, don't use this worksheet for SAR-SEPs.

Rate Table for Self-Employed. If your plan's contribution rate is a whole percentage (for example, 12% rather than 12 1/2%), you can use the Rate Table for Self-Employed on the next page to find your reduced contribution rate. Otherwise, use the Rate Worksheet for Self-Employed provided below.

First, find your plan contribution rate (the contribution rate stated in your plan) in Column A of the table. Then, read across to the rate under Column B. Enter the rate from Column B in step 4 of the Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed on this page.

Example. You are a sole proprietor with no employees. If your plan's contribution rate is 10% of a participant's compensation, your rate is 0.090909. Enter this rate in step 4 of the Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed on this page.

Rate Worksheet for Self-Employed. If your plan's contribution rate isn't a whole percentage (for example, 10 ½%), you can't use the Rate Table for Self-Employed. Use the following worksheet instead.

Rate Worksheet for Self-Employed

1) Enter your net profit from Schedule C (Form 1040), line 31; Schedule F (Form 1040), line 34;* or Schedule K-1 (Form 1065).* box 14, code A.* For information on other income included in net profit from self-employment, see the Instructions for Schedule SE (Form 1040) .................................................................

* Reduce this amount by any amount reported on Schedule SE (Form 1040), line 1b.

 General partners should reduce this amount by the same additional expenses subtracted from box 14, code A, to determine the amount on line 1 or line 2 of Schedule SE (Form 1040).

2) Enter the deduction for self-employment tax from Schedule 1 (Form 1040), line 14 ..................................

3) Net earnings from self-employment. Subtract step 2 from step 1 . ............................................

Figuring your deduction. Now that you have your self-employed rate from either the rate table or rate worksheet, you can figure your maximum deduction for contributions for yourself by completing the Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed. Community property laws. If you reside in a community property state and you are married and filing a separate return, disregard community property laws for step 1 of the Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed. Enter on step 1 the total net profit you actually earned.

* The deduction for annual employer contributions (other than elective deferrals) to a SEP plan, a profit-sharing plan, or a money purchase pension plan can't be more than 20% of your net earnings (figured without deducting contributions for yourself) from the business that has the plan.

Example. You are a sole proprietor with no employees. The terms of your plan provide that you contribute 8½% (0.085) of your compensation to your plan. Your net profit from Schedule C (Form 1040), line 31, is $200,000. You have no elective deferrals or catch-up contributions. Your self-employment tax deduction on line 15 of Schedule 1 (Form 1040) is $11,531. See the filled-in portions of both Schedule SE (Form 1040), and Form 1040, later.

You figure your self-employed rate and maximum deduction for employer contributions you made for yourself as follows.

See the filled-in Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed on this page.

Deduction Worksheet for Self-Employed

Step 1
Enter your net profit from Schedule C (Form 1040), line 31; Schedule F (Form 1040), line 34; or Schedule K-1 (Form 1065), line 14, code A. For information on other income included in net profit from self-employment, see the Instructions for Schedule SE (Form 1040).

* Reduce this amount by any amount reported on Schedule SE (Form 1040), line 1b.

General partners should reduce this amount by the same additional expenses subtracted from box 14, code A, to determine the amount on line 1 or line 2 of Schedule SE (Form 1040).

Step 2
Enter your self-employment tax deduction from Schedule 1 (Form 1040), line 15

Step 3
Net earnings from self-employment. Subtract step 2 from step 1

Step 4
Enter your rate from the Rate Table for Self-Employed or Rate Worksheet for Self-Employed

Step 5
Multiply step 3 by step 4

Step 6
Multiply $290,000 by your plan contribution rate (not the reduced rate)

Step 7
Enter the smaller of step 5 or step 6

Step 8
Contribution dollar limit

- If you made any elective deferrals to your self-employed plan, go to step 9.
- Otherwise, skip steps 9 through 20 and enter the smaller of step 7 or step 8 on step 21.

Step 9
Enter your allowable elective deferrals (including designated Roth contributions) made to your self-employed plan for the 2023 plan year. Don't enter more than $19,500

Step 10
Subtract step 9 from step 8

Step 11
Subtract step 9 from step 3

Step 12
Enter one-half of step 11

Step 13
Enter the smallest of step 7, step 10, or step 12

Step 14
Subtract step 13 from step 3

Step 15
Enter the smaller of step 9 or step 14

- If you made catch-up contributions, go to step 16.
- Otherwise, skip steps 16 through 18 and go to step 19.

Step 16
Subtract step 15 from step 14

Step 17
Enter your catch-up contributions (including designated Roth contributions), if any.

Don't enter more than $6,500

Step 18
Enter the smaller of step 16 or step 17

Step 19
Add steps 13, 15, and 18

Step 20
Enter the amount of designated Roth contributions included on steps 9 and 17

Step 21
Subtract step 20 from step 19. This is your maximum deductible contribution

Next: Enter your actual contribution, not to exceed your maximum deductible contribution, on Schedule 1 (Form 1040), line 15.
Part I  Self-Employment Tax

Note: If your only income subject to self-employment tax is church employee income, see instructions for how to report your income and the definition of church employee income.

A If you are a minister, member of a religious order, or Christian Science practitioner and you filed Form 4361, but you had $400 or more of other net earnings from self-employment, check here and continue with Part I.

Skip lines 1a and 1b if you use the farm optional method in Part II. See instructions.

1a Net farm profit or (loss) from Schedule F, line 34, and farm partnerships, Schedule K-1 (Form 1065), box 14, code A

1b If you received social security retirement or disability benefits, enter the amount of Conservation Reserve Program payments included on Schedule F, line 4b, or listed on Schedule K-1 (Form 1065), box 20, code AH ( )

2 Net profit or (loss) from Schedule C, line 31; and Schedule K-1 (Form 1065), box 14, code A (other than farming). See instructions for other income to report or if you are a minister or member of a religious order

3 Combine lines 1a, 1b, and 2

4a If line 3 is more than zero, multiply line 3 by 92.35% (0.9235). Otherwise, enter amount from line 3

4b If you elect one or both of the optional methods, enter the total of lines 15 and 17 here

4c Combine lines 4a and 4b. If less than $400, stop; you don’t owe self-employment tax. Exception: If less than $400 and you had church employee income, enter -0- and continue

5a Enter your church employee income from Form W-2. See instructions for definition of church employee income

5b Multiply line 5a by 92.35% (0.9235). If less than $100, enter -0-

6 Add lines 4c and 5b

7 Maximum amount of combined wages and self-employment earnings subject to social security tax or the 6.2% portion of the 7.65% railroad retirement (tier 1) tax for 2021

8a Total social security wages and tips (total of boxes 3 and 7 on Form(s) W-2) and railroad retirement (tier 1) compensation. If $142,800 or more, skip lines 8b through 10, and go to line 11

8b Unreported tips subject to social security tax from Form 4137, line 10

8c Wages subject to social security tax from Form 8919, line 10

8d Add lines 8a, 8b, and 8c

9 Subtract line 8d from line 7. If zero or less, enter -0- here and on line 10 and go to line 11

10 Multiply the smaller of line 6 or line 9 by 12.4% (0.124)

11 Multiply line 6 by 2.9% (0.029)

12 Self-employment tax. Add lines 10 and 11. Enter here and on Schedule 2 (Form 1040), line 4

13 Deduction for one-half of self-employment tax. Multiply line 12 by 50% (0.50). Enter here and on Schedule 1 (Form 1040), line 15

For Paperwork Reduction Act Notice, see your tax return instructions.

How To Get Tax Help

If you have questions about a tax issue, need help preparing your tax return, or want to download free publications, forms, or instructions, go to IRS.gov and find resources that can help you right away.

Preparing and filing your tax return. After receiving all your wage and earnings statements (Form W-2, W-2G, 1099-R, 1099-MISC, 1099-NEC, etc.); unemployment compensation statements (by mail or in a digital form) or other government payment statements (Form 1099-G); and interest, dividend, and retirement statements from banks and investment firms (Forms 1099), you have several options to choose from to prepare and file your tax return. You can prepare the tax return yourself, see if you qualify for free tax preparation, or hire a tax professional to prepare your return.

For 2021, if you receive an Economic Impact Payment (EIP), refer to your Notice 1444-C, Your 2021 Economic Impact Payment. If you received Advance Child Tax Credit payments, refer to your Letter 6419.

Free options for tax preparation. Go to IRS.gov to see your options for preparing and filing your return online or in your local community, if you qualify, which include the following.

- Free File. This program lets you prepare and file your federal individual income tax return for free using brand-name tax-preparation-and-filing software or Free File fillable forms. However, state tax preparation may not be available through Free File. Go to IRS.gov/FreeFile to see if you qualify for free online federal tax preparation, e-filing, and direct deposit or payment options.

- VITA. The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program offers free tax help to people with low-to-moderate incomes, persons with disabilities, and limited-English-speaking taxpayers who need help preparing their own tax returns. Go to IRS.gov/VITA, download the free IRS2Go app, or call 800-906-9867 for information on free tax return preparation.

- TCE. The Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) program offers free tax help for all taxpayers, particularly those who are 60 years of age and older. TCE volunteers specialize in answering questions about pensions and retirement-related issues unique to seniors. Go to IRS.gov/TCE, download the free IRS2Go app, or call 888-227-7669 for information on free tax return preparation.

- MiTax. Members of the U.S. Armed Forces and qualified veterans may use MiTax, a free tax service offered by the Department of Defense through Military One-Source. For more information, go to MilitaryOneSource (MilitaryOneSource.mil/Tax).

Also, the IRS offers Free Fillable Forms, which can be completed online and then filed electronically regardless of income.

Using online tools to help prepare your return. Go to IRS.gov/Tools for the following.

- The Earned Income Tax Credit Assistant (IRS.gov/EITCAssistant) determines if you’re eligible for the earned income credit (EIC).

- The Online EIN Application (IRS.gov/EIN) helps you get an employer identification number (EIN).

- The Tax Withholding Estimator (IRS.gov/W4app) makes it easier for everyone to pay the correct amount of tax during the year. The tool is a convenient, online way to check and tailor your withholding. It’s more user-friendly for taxpayers, including retirees and self-employed individuals. The features include the following.
  - Easy to understand language.
  - The ability to switch between screens, correct previous entries, and skip screens that don’t apply.
  - Tips and links to help you determine if you qualify for tax credits and deductions.
  - A progress tracker.
  - A self-employment tax feature.
  - Automatic calculation of taxable social security benefits.

- The Sales Tax Deduction Calculator (IRS.gov/SalesTax) figures the amount you can claim if you itemize deductions on Schedule A (Form 1040).

Getting answers to your tax questions. On IRS.gov, you can get up-to-date information on current events and changes in tax law.

- IRS.gov/Help: A variety of tools to help you get answers to some of the most common tax questions.

- IRS.gov/VITA: The Interactive Tax Assistant, a tool that will ask you questions on a number of tax law topics and provide answers.

- IRS.gov/Forms: Find forms, instructions, and publications. You will find details on 2021 tax changes and hundreds of interactive links to help you find answers to your questions.

- You may also be able to access tax law information in your electronic filing software.

Need someone to prepare your tax return? There are various types of tax return preparers, including tax preparers, enrolled agents, certified public accountants (CPAs), attorneys, and many others who don’t have professional credentials. If you choose to have someone prepare your tax return, choose that preparer wisely. A paid tax preparer is:

- Primarily responsible for the overall substantive accuracy of your return.

- Required to sign the return, and

- Required to include their preparer tax identification number (PTIN).

Although the tax preparer always signs the return, you’re ultimately responsible for providing all the information required for the preparer to accurately prepare your return. Anyone paid to prepare tax returns for others should have a thorough understanding of tax matters. For more information on how to choose a tax preparer, go to Tips for Choosing a Tax Preparer on IRS.gov.

Advance child tax credit payments. From July through December 2021, advance payments were sent automatically to taxpayers with qualifying children who met certain criteria. The advance child tax credit payments were early payments of up to 50% of the estimated child tax credit that taxpayers may properly claim on their 2021 returns. Go to IRS.gov/AdvCTC for more information about these payments and how they can affect your taxes.

Coronavirus. Go to IRS.gov/Coronavirus for links to information on the impact of the coronavirus, as well as tax relief available for individuals and families, small and large businesses, and tax-exempt organizations.

Employers can register to use Business Services Online. The Social Security Administration (SSA) offers online service at SSA.gov/employer for fast, free, and secure online W-2 filing options to CPAs, accountants, enrolled agents, and individuals who process Form W-2, Wage and Tax Statement, and Form W-2c, Corrected Wage and Tax Statement.

IRS social media. Go to IRS.gov/SocialMedia to see the various social media tools the IRS uses to share the latest information on tax changes, scam alerts, initiatives, products, and services. At the IRS, privacy and security are our highest priority. We use these tools to share public information with you. Don’t post your social security number (SSN) or other confidential information on social media sites. Always protect your identity when using any social networking site.

The following IRS YouTube channels provide short, informative videos on various tax-related topics in English, Spanish, and ASL.

- YouTube.com/irsvideos.
- YouTube.com/irsvideosmultilingual.
- YouTube.com/irsvideosASL.

Watching IRS videos. The IRS Video portal (IRSvideos.gov) contains video and audio presentations for individuals, small businesses, and tax professionals.

Online tax information in other languages. You can find information on IRS.gov/MyLanguage if English isn’t your native language.

Free Over-the-Phone Interpreter (OPI) Service. The IRS is committed to serving our multilingual customers by offering OPI services. The OPI service is a federally funded program and is available at Taxpayer Assistance Centers (TACs), other IRS offices, and every VITA/TCE return site. OPI Service is accessible in more than 350 languages.
Accessibility Helpline available for taxpayers with disabilities. Taxpayers who need information about accessibility services can call 833-690-0598. The Accessibility Helpline can answer questions related to current and future accessibility products and services available in alternative media formats (for example, braille, large print, audio, etc.).

Getting tax forms and publications. Go to IRS.gov/OrderForms to view, download, or print all of the forms, instructions, and publications you may need. Or you can go to IRS.gov/OrderForms to place an order.

Getting tax publications and instructions in eBook format. You can also download and view popular tax publications and instructions (including the Instructions for Form 1040) on mobile devices as eBooks at IRS.gov/eBooks.

Note. IRS eBooks have been tested using Apple’s iBooks for iPad. Our eBooks haven’t been tested on other dedicated eBook readers, and eBook functionality may not operate as intended.

Access your online account (individual taxpayers only). Go to IRS.gov/Account to securely access information about your federal tax account.

• View the amount you owe and a breakdown by tax year.
• See payment plan details or apply for a new payment plan.
• Make a payment or view 5 years of payment history and any pending or scheduled payments.
• Access your tax records, including key data from your most recent tax return, your EIP amounts, and transcripts.
• View digital copies of select notices from the IRS.
• Approve or reject authorization requests from tax professionals.
• View your address on file or manage your communication preferences.

Tax Pro Account. This tool lets your tax professional submit an authorization request to access your individual taxpayer IRS online account.

Using direct deposit. The fastest way to receive a tax refund is to file electronically and choose direct deposit, which securely and electronically transfers your refund directly into your financial account. Direct deposit also avoids the possibility that your check could be lost, stolen, or returned undeliverable to the IRS. Eight in 10 taxpayers use direct deposit to receive their refunds. If you don’t have a bank account, go to IRS.gov/DepositDirect for more information on where to find a bank or credit union that can open an account online.

Getting a transcript of your return. The quickest way to get a copy of your tax transcript is to go to IRS.gov/Transcripts. Click on either “Get Transcript Online” or “Get Transcript by Mail” to order a free copy of your transcript. If you prefer, you can order your transcript by calling 800-908-9946.

Reporting and resolving your tax-related identity theft issues.

• Tax-related identity theft happens when someone steals your personal information to commit tax fraud. Your taxes can be affected if your SSN is used to file a fraudulent return or to claim a refund or credit.
• The IRS doesn’t initiate contact with taxpayers by email, text messages, telephone calls, or social media channels to request personal or financial information. This includes requests for personal identification numbers (PINs), passwords, or similar information for credit cards, banks, or other financial accounts.
• Go to IRS.gov/IdentityTheft, the IRS Identity Theft Central webpage, for information on identity theft and data security protection for taxpayers, tax professionals, and businesses. If your SSN has been lost or stolen or you suspect you’re a victim of tax-related identity theft, you can learn what steps you should take.
• Get an Identity Protection PIN (IP PIN). IP PINs are six-digit numbers assigned to eligible taxpayers to help prevent the misuse of their SSNs on fraudulent federal income tax returns. When you have an IP PIN, it prevents someone else from filing a tax return with your SSN. To learn more, go to IRS.gov/IPPIN.

Ways to check on the status of your refund.

• Go to IRS.gov/Refunds.
• Download the official IRS2Go app to your mobile device to check your refund status.
• Call the automated refund hotline at 800-829-1954.

Note. The IRS can’t issue refunds before mid-February 2022 for returns that claimed the EIC or the additional child tax credit (ACTC). This applies to the entire refund, not just the portion associated with these credits.

Making a tax payment. Go to IRS.gov/Payments for information on how to make a payment using any of the following options.

• IRS Direct Pay: Pay your individual tax bill or estimated tax payment directly from your checking or savings account at no cost to you.
• Debit or Credit Card: Choose an approved payment processor to pay online, by phone, or by mobile device.
• Electronic Funds Withdrawal: Offered only when filing your federal taxes using tax return preparation software or through a tax professional.
• Electronic Federal Tax Payment System: Best option for businesses. Enrollment is required.
• Check or Money Order: Mail your payment to the address listed on the notice or instructions.
• Cash: You may be able to pay your taxes with cash at a participating retail store.
• Same-Day Wire: You may be able to do same-day wire from your financial institution. Contact your financial institution for availability, cost, and time frames.

Note. The IRS uses the latest encryption technology to ensure that the electronic payments you make online, by phone, or from a mobile device using the IRS2Go app are safe and secure. Paying electronically is quick, easy, and faster than mailing in a check or money order.

What if I can’t pay now? Go to IRS.gov/Payments for more information about your options.

• Apply for an online payment agreement (IRS.gov/OPA) to meet your tax obligation in monthly installments if you can’t pay your taxes in full today. Once you complete the online process, you will receive immediate notification of whether your agreement has been approved.
• Use the Offer in Compromise Pre-Qualifier to see if you can settle your tax debt for less than the full amount you owe. For more information on the Offer in Compromise program, go to IRS.gov/OIC.

Filing an amended return. You can now file Form 1040-X electronically with tax filing software to amend 2019 Forms 1040 and 1040-SR. To do so, you must have e-filed your original 2019 return. Amended returns for all prior years must be mailed. Go to IRS.gov/Form1040X for information and updates.

Checking the status of your amended return. Go to IRS.gov/WMAF to track the status of Form 1040-X amended returns.

Note. It can take up to 3 weeks from the date you filed your amended return for it to show up in our system, and processing it can take up to 16 weeks.

Understanding an IRS notice or letter you’ve received. Go to IRS.gov/Notices to find additional information about responding to an IRS notice or letter.

You can use Schedule LEP, Request for Change in Language Preference, to state a preference to receive notices, letters, or other written communications from the IRS in an alternative language, when these are available. Once your Schedule LEP is processed, the IRS will determine your translation needs and provide you translations when available. If you have a disability requiring notices in an accessible format, see Form 9000.

Contacting your local IRS office. Keep in mind, many questions can be answered on IRS.gov without visiting an IRS TAC. Go to IRS.gov/ContactUs for the topics people ask about most. If you still need help, IRS TACs provide tax help when a tax issue can’t be handled online or by phone. All TACs now provide service by appointment, so you’ll know in advance that you can get the service you need without long wait times. Before you visit, go to IRS.gov/TACLocator to find the nearest TAC and to check hours, available services, and appointment options. Or, on the IRS2Go app, under the Stay Connected tab, choose the Contact Us option and click on “Local Offices.”
The Taxpayer Advocate Service (TAS) Is Here To Help You

What is TAS? TAS is an independent organization within the IRS that helps taxpayers and protects taxpayer rights. Their job is to ensure that every taxpayer is treated fairly and that you know and understand your rights under the Taxpayer Bill of Rights.

How can you learn about your taxpayer rights? The Taxpayer Bill of Rights describes 10 basic rights that all taxpayers have when dealing with the IRS. Go to TaxpayerAdvocate.IRS.gov to help you understand what these rights mean to you and how they apply. These are your rights. Know them. Use them.

What can TAS do for you? TAS can help you resolve problems that you can’t resolve with the IRS. And their service is free. If you qualify for their assistance, you will be assigned to one advocate who will work with you throughout the process and will do everything possible to resolve your issue. TAS can help you if:

- Your problem is causing financial difficulty for you, your family, or your business;
- You face (or your business is facing) an immediate threat of adverse action; or
- You’ve tried repeatedly to contact the IRS but no one has responded, or the IRS hasn’t responded by the date promised.

How can you reach TAS? TAS has offices in every state, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. Your local advocate’s number is in your local directory and at TaxpayerAdvocate.IRS.gov. You can also call them at 877-777-4778.

How else does TAS help taxpayers? TAS works to resolve large-scale problems that affect many taxpayers. If you know of one of these broad issues, please report it to them at IRS.gov/SAMS.

TAS for Tax Professionals. TAS can provide a variety of information for tax professionals, including tax law updates and guidance, TAS programs, and ways to let TAS know about systemic problems you’ve seen in your practice.

Low Income Taxpayer Clinics (LITCs)

LITCs are independent from the IRS. LITCs represent individuals whose income is below a certain level and need to resolve tax problems with the IRS, such as audits, appeals, and tax collection disputes. In addition, LITCs can provide information about taxpayer rights and responsibilities in different languages for individuals who speak English as a second language. Services are offered for free or a small fee for eligible taxpayers. To find an LITC near you, go to TaxpayerAdvocate.IRS.gov/about-us/Low-Income-Taxpayer-Clinics-LITC or see IRS Pub. 4134, Low Income Taxpayer Clinic List.
