Participants are recruited from a database maintained by Fieldwork. All participants have voluntarily opted into a number of potential market research studies. Participants for this survey must: 1. Be at least 18 years of age. 2. Be a tax preparer or the owner of a small business.

How are participants notified (letter, postcard, email etc.) of the Survey?

A "call for participants" email will be sent by Fieldwork (the third-party recruitment vendor previously noted) to individuals who have indicated to Fieldwork their desire to participate in market research studies. Interested participants will be asked to complete a screener questionnaire via email and/or by phone by Fieldwork. The remote or in-person interviews will be scheduled over email or by phone by Fieldwork.

Is the Survey voluntary/optional?

Yes

How is notice given that the Survey is voluntary/optional?

The "call for participants" email states that participation is voluntary. During the session, the moderator will reiterate that participation is optional within the introductory section, "thank you for participating in this study. Today's session will take approximately 60 minutes. Participation in this study is voluntary and can be terminated at any time with no risk of penalty".

SURVEY PROCESS

How will the Survey be conducted?

Electronic

What survey application or tool is used to create the survey?

Web Based (Contractor or Third-party website)

Provide the website name/address

WebEx Remote usability tests will be conducted via WebEx. Usability tests will be used to obtain qualitative information from participants. At the scheduled date and time, the Booz Allen Hamilton moderator will speak with the respondent over a WebEx conference line. The respondent will use his/her own equipment to view and test the application over WebEx.

To supplement notes taken during the session, the WebEx session may be recorded using Booz Allen Hamilton's locally run software. For these remote sessions conducted over the WebEx (video and audio), observers will be able to watch the video of the participant's screen (not their face) and listen to the audio in real-time through WebEx. While observers will be able to see participants on a screen, only aggregated and de-identified PII will be shared. Information about a specific participant will never be attributed to specific responses or insights. Observers will be stakeholders from both Treasury/IRS and Booz Allen Hamilton: Treasury/IRS employees or their representatives who are either a) assisting with the administration of the user research activity or b) have a vested business interest in the insights from the user research activity. Booz Allen Hamilton (vendor) employees who work on administering the user research activity to include the moderator, project lead, notetaker, designers, and content creator/developer. There will be up to 10 observers each from Treasury/IRS and vendor (Booz Allen Hamilton). The moderator and designated notetaker will take the notes that will be used for report synthesis. Observation by stakeholders provides a number of benefits including, but not limited to, creating an empathetic connection to the taxpayer as they attempt to use a product or a website to achieve their goals; allows stakeholders to experience the participant's emotional and mental burden for themselves; and to foster collaboration and insights in order to improve the taxpayer's experience.

Are cookies used to prevent a participant from taking the Survey multiple times?

No

Do participants who have not taken the Survey receive a second notification?

No

Will the Survey be audio-taped?

Yes

Participants are informed and asked to consent to having their voice recorded as part of the introduction script in the moderator's guide: With your permission, we would like to record today's session. Anything you tell us will be presented in an anonymous format, your name will never be tied to your responses, and the information collected from the recordings will be used to fill in gaps in our notes and gather quotes for our final report. Do we have your consent to being recorded? The recordings are used exclusively for post-testing analysis. They are created and stored on a local device and are not shared with anyone outside of the Booz Allen Hamilton research team. No transcripts are produced. The moderator from Booz Allen Hamilton reviews the recordings to cover gaps in his/her notes and to collect quotes for the final report. The quotes, which are de-identified, bring the research findings to life and remind readers that the designs will ultimately be seen and used by real people. At no point will observers interact with participants.
