The time needed to complete and file this form will vary depending on individual circumstances. The estimated average time is:

- Recordkeeping 7 minutes
- Learning about the law or the form 3 minutes
- Preparing the form 14 minutes
- Copying, assembling, and sending the form to IRS 17 minutes

If you have comments concerning the accuracy of these time estimates or suggestions for making this form more simple, we would be happy to hear from you. Purpose of Form.—Form 1310 is used to claim a refund on behalf of a taxpayer who has died.

Who Must File.—File Form 1310 if you are claiming a refund on behalf of a taxpayer who has died.

Exceptions. You do not have to file Form 1310 if you are:

- A surviving spouse filing a joint return with the decedent; OR
- A personal representative filing Form 1040, Form 1040A, or Form 1040EZ for the decedent.

Example. Assume that Mr. Green died on January 4 before filing his tax return. On April 3 of the same year, you were appointed as the personal representative for Mr. Green's estate, and you file Form 1040 for Mr. Green. You do not need Form 1310 to claim the refund on Mr. Green's tax return. However, you must attach to his return a copy of the court certificate showing your appointment.

See Death of Taxpayer in the index to the Form 1040 Instructions or in the Form 1040A and Form 1040EZ Instructions.

Specific Instructions

P.O. Box.—If your post office does not deliver mail to your home and you have a P.O. box, show your P.O. box number instead of your home address.

Foreign Address.—If your address is outside of the United States or its possessions or territories, enter the information in the following order: city, province or state, foreign postal code, and the name of the foreign country. Do not abbreviate the country name.

Part I

Box A.—Check Box A if you received a refund check in your name and your deceased spouse's name. You can return the joint-name check with Form 1310 to your local IRS office, and a new check will be issued in your name.

Box B.—Check Box B only if you are the decedent's court appointed personal representative. For purposes of this form, personal representative means the executor, executrix, administrator, or administratrix of the decedent's estate, as certified or appointed by the court.

In most cases, Form 1310 will be filed by personal representatives claiming a refund for the decedent on Form 1040X or Form 843. Form 1310 is not required if you are filing Form 1040, Form 1040A, or Form 1040EZ for the decedent. See Who Must File above.

What To Attach to Form 1310. If you are the personal representative, you MUST attach a copy of the court certificate showing your appointment. However, if you have already sent the court certificate to IRS, you do not have to send it again. Complete Form 1310 and state on it that a certificate has already been filed.

A copy of the decedent's will cannot be accepted as evidence that you are the personal representative.

Box C.—Check Box C if you are not a surviving spouse claiming a refund based on a joint return, or you have not been appointed by the court as the decedent's personal representative. For example, check Box C if you are a surviving spouse claiming a refund on behalf of your deceased spouse's separate tax return and there is no court-appointed personal representative.

Part II

If you checked Box C, you must complete Part II of Form 1310. You must also attach a copy of the death certificate or proof of death. The proof of death may be the original or an authentic copy of a telegram or letter from the Department of Defense notifying the next of kin of the decedent's death while in active service, or a death certificate issued by the Department of Defense.
