General Instructions

(Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code, unless otherwise noted.)

Purpose of Form.—File Form 6118 if you are a tax return preparer and want to claim a refund of preparer penalties you believe were incorrectly charged.

Claims for More than One Penalty.—If you are claiming a refund for more than one of the penalties listed in item 1 on this form, you may or may not be able to claim them on the same form depending on the type of penalty involved.

You may claim a refund for more than one penalty on a single claim:

(1) For penalties G and H, provided you were billed for them on the same statement.

(2) For penalties C, D, E, and F, even if you were billed for them on different statements. However, the penalties must all have been imposed by the same IRS office. You may not list penalties imposed by an IRS service center (shown on Form 6335) and penalties imposed by a district office on the same claim. If you file a single claim for penalties billed on different statements, please group the penalties from each statement together.

You must file separate claims for a refund of each penalty A, B, or I, even if you were charged two penalties of the same type.

Where and When To File

File Form 6118 with the IRS service center or IRS district office that sent you the statement. Generally your claim must be filed within 3 years from the date you paid the penalty.

Specific Instructions

Identifying Number.—If you are self-employed or employed by another preparer, enter your social security number. If you are the employer of other preparers, enter your employer identification number.

Items 2 and 3.—Be sure to enter the document locator number (DLN) and the date from each penalty statement you received in columns 2(a) and 2(b) of the form. In column 2(c) show the letter (A through I) from item 1 to indicate the kind of penalty on each line.

Fill in columns 2(d) and 2(g) through 2(j) using the information shown on the statements. Then fill in columns 2(e) and 2(f) and item 3 showing the amount of each penalty, the date you paid it, and the total amount you are claiming as a refund.

Additional Information.—You may want to attach a copy of the penalty statements to your claim.

In addition to completing the form, you must give your reasons for claiming a refund for each penalty you have listed. Identify each penalty by its line number from item 2, and write your explanation next to it. You may use the space below to do this. If you need additional space, attach a separate sheet.

For additional information about refunds of preparer penalties, see Regulations section 1.6696-1.
