Instructions

1. Form 1040X or Form 1120X may be used to amend an individual or corporation income tax return. The Internal Revenue Service prefers that they be used rather than Form 843, since these forms are designed to expedite processing.

2. The reasons for filing this claim must be set forth in detail under item k.

3. If a joint income tax return was filed for the year for which this claim is filed, social security numbers of both husband and wife should be entered and each must sign this claim even though only one had income. If the taxpayer has been assigned an employer identification number, it also must be entered.

4. The claim may be made by an agent of the taxpayer, but the original or a true copy of a power of attorney must accompany the claim.

5. If a return is filed by an individual and a refund claim is thereafter filed by a legal representative of the deceased, certified copies of the letters testamentary, letters of administration, or similar evidence must be attached to the claim, to show the authority of the executor, administrator, or other fiduciary by whom the claim is filed. If an executor, administrator, guardian, trustee, receiver, or other fiduciary files a return and thereafter a refund claim is filed by the same fiduciary, documentary evidence to establish the legal authority of the fiduciary need not accompany the claim, provided a statement is made on the claim showing that the return was filed by the fiduciary and that the latter is still acting.

6. Where the taxpayer is a corporation, the officer having authority to sign for the corporation should place his signature and title on this claim.

7. If a claim is for excess social security (FICA) tax withheld as a result of having more than one employer during a calendar year, include the names and addresses of your employers, and the amount of wages received and FICA employee tax withheld by each, as part of your explanation in item k. Do not claim tax withheld if you have claimed the excess withholding on your individual income tax return.

Where to File
