If you have comments concerning the accuracy of these time estimates or suggestions for making this form more simple, we would be happy to hear from you. You can write to either the Internal Revenue Service, Washington, DC 20224, Attention: IRS Reports Clearance Officer, T:FP; or the Office of Management and

A Change You Should Note
Penalty for Not Filing Form 8606.—A change in the law provides for a penalty if you make nondeductible IRA contributions and do not file Form 8606. You will have to pay a $50 penalty for each failure to file Form 8606, unless you can show that the failure to file was due to reasonable cause.

General Instructions
Purpose of Form.—You must use Form 8606 to report the amount of your IRA contributions that you choose to be nondeductible. You may wish to make nondeductible contributions, for example, if all or part of your contributions are not deductible because of the income limitations for IRAs. First, figure the amount of your deductible contributions using the Instructions for Form 1040 or Form 1040A, whichever apply to you. Report the deductible contributions on Form 1040, Form 1040A, or Form 1040NR. Then enter on line 2 of Form 8606 the amount you choose to be nondeductible.

The part of any distributions you receive attributable to nondeductible contributions will not be taxable. If you have at any time made nondeductible contributions, also use Form 8606 to figure the nontaxable part of any IRA distributions you received in 1989. Line 11 will show the amount that is not taxable.

Who Must File.—You must file Form 8606 for 1989 if:

- You made nondeductible contributions to your IRA for 1989, or
- You made nondeductible contributions to your IRA for 1988 during 1989, or
- You received IRA distributions in 1989 and you have at any time made nondeductible contributions to any of your IRA(s).

When and Where To File.—Attach Form 8606 to your 1989 Form 1040, Form 1040A, or Form 1040NR.

If you are required to complete Form 8606, but you do not have to file an income tax return because you do not meet the requirements for filing a return, you still have to file a Form 8606 with the Internal Revenue Service at the time and place you would normally be required to file Form 1040, Form 1040A, or Form 1040NR.

Name and Social Security Number.—

Enter your name and social security number on Form 8606.

Note: If you file a joint return on Form 1040 or Form 1040A, show the name and social security number of the spouse whose IRA information is shown.

Recordkeeping Requirements.—To be able to verify the nontaxable part of distributions from your IRA, keep a copy of this form together with copies of the following forms and records until all distributions are made from your IRA(s):

- Forms 1040 (or Forms 1040A or Forms 1040NR) filed for each year you make a nondeductible contribution;
- Forms 5498 or similar statements received each year showing contributions you made;
- Forms 5498 or similar statements you received showing the value of your IRA(s) for each year you received a distribution; and
- Forms 1099-R and W-2P received for each year you received a distribution.

Additional Information.—For more information on nondeductible contributions, get Pub. 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

Penalty for Overstatement.—If you overstate your nondeductible contributions on this form for any tax year, you must pay a penalty of $100 for each overstatement, unless it was due to reasonable cause.

Amending Form 8606.—After you file your return, you may change, if you wish, a nondeductible contribution made on a prior year's return to a deductible contribution or vice versa. To do this, fill out a new Form 8606 showing the revised information and attach it to Form 1040X, Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. Send both of these forms to the Internal Revenue Service Center shown in the Form 1040X instructions for your area.

Specific Instructions

Note: If you made nondeductible contributions for 1989 and you also received an IRA distribution in 1989, you may have to make a special computation before filling out this form. Get Pub. 590 for further details. If you have to make the special computation, Pub. 590 will tell you the lines on Form 8606 that you must fill out.

Line 1.—Enter the total value of ALL your IRAs as of 12/31/89. You should receive a statement by January 31, 1990, for each IRA account showing the value on 12/31/89.

Line 2.— If you used Worksheet 2 in the Instructions for Form 1040 or Form 1040A, enter on line 2 of Form 8606 any nondeductible contributions shown on line 10 of the worksheet in the Form 1040 Instructions or line 8 of the Form 1040A Instructions. If you made any nondeductible contributions to an IRA for your nonworking spouse, complete a separate Form 8606 for your spouse. Then enter on line 2 of your spouse's Form 8606 any nondeductible contributions for your nonworking spouse from the appropriate lines of Worksheet 2.

You may also choose to treat any part of deductible contributions as nondeductible. To do this, include on line 2 of Form 8606 any deductible contributions that you are treating as nondeductible.

Note: You cannot take a deduction for the amount on line 2.

If none of your contributions are deductible, you may still choose to make a nondeductible contribution up to a maximum of $2,000 (but not more than your earned income). Enter the amount of your contributions that you are treating as nondeductible on line 2 of Form 8606.

If contributions were also made to an IRA for your nonworking spouse and none of the contributions are deductible, you may still make nondeductible contributions up to a maximum of $2,250 (but not more than your earned income). Enter on line 2 of your Form 8606 the total nondeductible contributions that you are making to your IRA. Enter the balance on line 2 of your nonworking spouse's Form 8606. You cannot contribute more than $2,000 to either your IRA or your spouse's IRA. Also, the total of the two amounts cannot be more than $2,250 and not more than your earned income.

If you used Worksheet 1 in the Instructions for Form 1040 or Form 1040A, the amount shown on line 3 of the worksheet is the amount of your contributions that you may deduct. However, you may choose to make all or part of that amount nondeductible. Enter on line 2 of your Form 8606 the difference between the amount you are deducting and the amount shown on line 3 of Worksheet 1.

If contributions were made to an IRA for your nonworking spouse, the amount shown on line 8 of Worksheet 1 is the amount of the allowable deduction for your nonworking spouse's IRA. However, you can treat all or part of that amount as nondeductible. Enter on line 2 of your nonworking spouse's Form 8606 the difference between the amount that is deducted for your nonworking spouse and the amount on line 8 of Worksheet 1.

Line 3.—Your total IRA basis for 1988 and 1987 is the total of all your nondeductible IRA contributions for 1988 and 1987 that have been reduced by any nontaxable IRA distributions received in those years. If this is the first year you are required to file Form 8606, enter -0-. Otherwise, enter the total of the amounts from lines 7 and 16 of your 1988 Form 8606. Or, if you did not file a 1988 Form 8606, enter the total of the amounts from lines 4 and 13 of your 1987 Form 8606.

Line 5.—If you made contributions both in 1989 and 1990 that are for 1989, you may choose to apply the contributions made in 1989 first to nondeductible contributions and then to deductible contributions, or vice versa. However, the amount on line 2 minus the amount on line 5 cannot be more than the IRA contributions you actually made in 1989.

Example. You made contributions of $1,000 in 1989, and $1,000 in 1990. $1,500 of your contributions are deductible and $500 are nondeductible. You choose $500 of your contribution in 1989 to be nondeductible. In this case, the $500 would be entered on line 2, but not on line 5, and would become part of your basis for 1989.

Line 6.—Although the 1989 IRA contributions you made during 1/1/90–4/16/90 (line 5) can be treated as nondeductible for purposes of line 2, these amounts are not included in your basis. This is the reason you subtract the amount on line 5 from the amount on line 4.

Line 7.—Enter the amount from line 1 plus any outstanding rollovers. A rollover is a tax-free distribution from one IRA which is then contributed to another IRA. The rollover contribution must be made within 60 days of receiving the distribution from the first IRA. An outstanding rollover is any amount distributed to you from one IRA within 60 days of the end of 1989 (between November 2 and December 31) that you did not roll over to another IRA by 12/31/89, but that you roll over to another IRA in 1990 within the normal 60-day rollover period.

If you do not have any outstanding rollovers, line 7 will be the same as line 1.

Line 8.—Do not include any distributions that were: (1) received in 1989 that you rolled over to another IRA by 12/31/89; (2) outstanding rollovers included on line 7; (3) contributions under Internal Revenue Code section 408(d)(4) that were returned to you on or before the due date of the return; or (4) excess contributions made under Internal Revenue Code section 408(d)(5) that were returned to you after the due date of the return.

Line 11.—This is the amount of your nontaxable IRA distributions for 1989. Subtract this amount from your total distributions shown on line 8. The difference is your taxable distributions to be reported on Form 1040, line 16b.

Line 12.—The basis in your IRA as of 12/31/89 is the total of your nondeductible IRA contributions made in 1989 and prior years that have been reduced by any nontaxable IRA distributions received in those years. Once you have basis in your IRA(s), part of each subsequent IRA distribution will be nontaxable until you run out of basis.

Line 14.—Your total IRA basis for 1989 and prior years includes your IRA basis as of 12/31/89 and any nondeductible IRA contributions for 1989 that you made in 1990 by 4/16/90. This amount will be used on Form 8606 in future years if you make nondeductible IRA contributions or receive distributions in future years.
