

1992 Form W-4P

Department of the Treasury
Internal Revenue Service

What Is Form W-4P? This form is for recipients of income from annuity, pension, and certain other deferred compensation plans to tell payers whether income tax is to be withheld and on what basis. The options available to the recipient depend on whether the payment is periodic or nonperiodic (including a qualified total distribution) as explained on page 3.

Recipients can use this form to choose to have no income tax withheld from the payment (except for payments to U.S. citizens delivered outside the United States or its possessions) or to have an additional amount of tax withheld.

What Do You Need To Do? Recipients who want no tax to be withheld can skip the worksheet below and go directly to line 1 of the form. All others should complete lines A through F of the worksheet. Many recipients can stop at line F.

Other Income? If you have a large amount of income from other sources not subject to withholding (such as interest, dividends, taxable social security), you should consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Call 1-800-829-3676 for copies of Form 1040-ES, and Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

When Should I File? File as soon as possible to avoid underwithholding problems.

Multiple Pensions? More Than One Income? To figure the number of allowances you may claim, combine allowances and income subject to withholding from all sources on one worksheet. You can file a Form W-4P with each pension payer, but do not claim the same allowances more than once. Your withholding will usually be more accurate if you claim all allowances on the largest source of income subject to withholding.

Changes for 1992. Please see page 3.

Personal Allowances Worksheet For 1992, the value of your personal exemption(s) is reduced if your income is over $105,250 ($157,900 if married filing jointly, $131,550 if head of household, or $78,950 if married filing separately). Get Pub. 919, Is My Withholding Correct for 1992?, for details. Call 1-800-829-3676 to order this publication.

Changes for 1992

Changes in the law may affect your 1992 tax liability. You may use your 1991 tax return as a guide in figuring your estimated taxes, but be sure to consider the tax law changes in this section.

Standard Deduction

The standard deduction has been increased for all taxpayers. For 1992, the amounts are:

Filing Status	Standard Deduction
Married filing joint return and qualifying widow(er) . . . . .	$6,000*
Head of household . . . . .	$5,250*
Single, . . . . .	$3,600*
Married filing separately . . . . .	$3,000*

*To this amount, add the Additional Amount below if you are elderly or blind.

Additional Amount for the Elderly or the Blind.— An additional standard deduction amount of $700 is allowed for a married individual (whether filing jointly or separately) or for a qualifying widow(er) who is 65 or over or blind ($1,400 if the individual is both 65 or over and blind, $2,800 on a joint return if both spouses are 65 or over and blind). An additional standard deduction amount of $900 is allowed for an unmarried individual (single or head of household) who is 65 or over or blind ($1,800 if both 65 or over and blind).

Personal Exemption

The amount of the personal exemption has been increased to $2,300 for the individual, the spouse, and for each dependent.

Withholding From Pensions and Annuities

Generally, withholding applies to payments made from pension, profit-sharing, stock bonus, annuity, and certain deferred compensation plans, from individual retirement arrangements (IRAs), and from commercial annuities. The method and rate of withholding depends upon the kind of payment you receive.

Periodic payments from all of the items above are treated as wages for the purpose of withholding. A periodic payment is one that is includible in your income for tax purposes and that you receive in installments at regular intervals over a period of more than 1 full year from the starting date of the pension or annuity. The intervals can be annual, quarterly, monthly, etc.

You can use Form W-4P to change the amount of tax to be withheld by using lines 2 and 3 of the form or to exempt the payments from withholding by using line 1 of the form. This exemption from withholding does not apply to certain recipients who have payments delivered outside the United States or its possessions. See Exemption From Income Tax Withholding later.

Caution: Remember that there are penalties for not paying enough tax during the year, either through withholding or estimated tax payments. New retirees, especially, should see Pub. 505. It explains the estimated tax requirements and penalties in detail. You may be able to avoid quarterly estimated tax payments by having enough tax withheld from your pension or annuity using Form W-4P.

Unless you tell your payer otherwise, tax must be withheld on periodic payments as if you are married and claiming three withholding allowances. This means that tax will be withheld if your pension or annuity is more than $883 a month ($10,600 a year).

There are some kinds of periodic payments for which you cannot use Form W-4P since they are already defined as wages subject to income tax withholding. Retirement pay for service in the Armed Forces of the United States generally falls into this category. Certain nonqualified deferred compensation plans and state and local deferred compensation plans described in section 457 also fall into this category. Your payer should be able to tell you whether Form W-4P will apply. Social security payments are not subject to withholding but may be includible in income.

For periodic payments, your certificate stays in effect until you change or revoke it. Your payer must notify you each year of your right to elect to have no tax withheld or to revoke your election.

Nonperiodic payments will have income tax withheld at a flat 10% rate unless the payment is a qualified total distribution. Tax will be withheld from a qualified total distribution using tables furnished payers and prescribed by the Treasury Department. Distributions from an IRA that are payable upon demand are treated as nonperiodic payments. You can elect to have no income tax withheld from a nonperiodic payment by filing Form W-4P with the payer and checking the box on line 1. Generally, your election to have no tax withheld will apply to any later payment from the same plan. You cannot use line 2 to change the way tax is withheld. But you may use line 3 to specify that an additional amount be withheld.

Exemption From Income Tax Withholding

The election to be exempt from income tax withholding does not apply to any periodic payment or nonperiodic distribution that is delivered outside the United States or its possessions to a U.S. citizen or resident alien.

Other recipients who have these payments delivered outside the United States or its possessions can elect exemption only if an individual certifies to the payer that the individual is not: (1) a U.S. citizen or resident alien or (2) an individual to whom section 877 of the Internal Revenue Code applies (concerning expatriation to avoid tax). The certification can be made in a statement to the payer under the penalties of perjury. A nonresident alien who elects exemption from withholding under section 3405, is subject to withholding under section 1441.

Revoking the Exemption From Withholding

If you want to revoke your previously filed exemption from withholding for periodic payments, file another Form W-4P with the payer. If you want tax withheld at the rate set by law (married with three allowances), write the word "Revoked" by the checkbox on line 1 of the form. If you want tax withheld at any different rate, complete line 2 on the form.

If you want to revoke your previously filed exemption for nonperiodic payments, write the word "Revoked" by the checkbox on line 1 and file Form W-4P with the payer.

Statement of Income Tax Withheld From Your Pension or Annuity

By January 31 of next year, you will receive a statement from your payer showing the total amount of your pension or annuity payments and the total income tax withheld during the year.

Copies of Form W-4P will not be sent to the IRS by the payer, regardless of the number of allowances claimed on line 2 of Form W-4P.
