In addition to the required documents and statements, please file any additional information citing court decisions, rulings, opinions, etc., that may be necessary to speed the processing of your application.

E. Annual Return.—An organization that is recognized as exempt from income tax under section 521 must file an annual return on Form 990-C, Farmers' Cooperative Association Income Tax Return.

An organization will not be considered exempt, even though it operates within the provisions of section 521 and Subchapter T, unless it files this application or has previously received a ruling recognizing exemption under section 521 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 or corresponding provisions of prior law.

Specific Instructions

(Numbered to correspond to the parts and lines on the form)

Part I.—Identification

1a. Organization's Name.—Enter the organization's name as it appears in its organizing documents, including amendments. If the organization will be operated under another name, show that name in parentheses.

1b. Employer Identification Number.—If the organization does not have an employer identification number, enter "none" and attach a completed Form SS-4, Application for Employer Identification Number, to the application. If, however, the organization has applied for a number and it has not been received, attach a statement giving the date of the application and office to which it was sent.

5. Annual Accounting Period.—Enter the month the organization's annual accounting period ends.

Part II.—Type of Entity and Organizational Documents

One of the basic requirements for exemption is that the organization be "organized" for one or more exempt purposes. If the organization does not have an organizing instrument, it will not qualify for exempt status.

None of the documents submitted in support of this application, including organizational documents, will be returned.

Instead of the originals, submit "conformed" copies of these documents. A "conformed" copy is one that agrees with the original document and all of its amendments. If the copies are not signed, they must be accompanied by a declaration signed by an officer authorized to sign for the organization, certifying that they are complete and accurate copies of the original documents.

Chemically or photographically reproduced copies of articles of incorporation showing the certification of an appropriate government official need not be accompanied by a declaration.

Part III.—Activities and Operational Information

16, 17, 18 and 19.—If the organization has been in existence for more than one year, attach a statement giving the information required by items 16, 17, 18 and 19 for each of these years, not to exceed the four most recent years that the organization existed. If the organization has been in existence for less than one year, give this information for the period ending 60 days before the month the application is filed.

Definitions.—The term "producer" means an individual or corporation engaged in farming as a business receiving income based on farm production rather than fixed compensation. For example, a corporation leases its land to a tenant farmer who agrees to pay a rental fee based on a percentage of the farm crops produced. Both the landowner and the tenant farmer qualify as producers.

"Current and active" producers are patrons of a cooperative who market more than 50 percent of their products or purchase more than 50 percent of their supplies and equipment through the cooperative during the cooperative's tax year.

Part IV.—Financial Data

The statement of receipts and expenditures and the balance sheet must be completed for the current year and each of the three immediately preceding years (or for the time the organization has existed if less than four years). We may request financial data for more than four years if circumstances warrant. If the current year is less than a full year, complete the financial data for the period ending 60 days before the month the application is filed.

The statements should be consistent with the method of accounting the organization uses in maintaining its books and records.

3a. Cost of Goods Sold.—Include per-unit retain allocations paid to patrons in money, qualified written notices of allocation, or other property (except nonqualified per-unit retain certificates) and the amount paid to patrons in money or other property (except per-unit retain certificates) to redeem nonqualified per-unit retain certificates. (See sections 1382 and 1388.)

15. Other Expenditures.—In the attached schedule for other expenditures, include a breakdown for nonpatronage distributions paid as dividends on capital stock and nonpatronage distributions made on a patronage basis. This breakdown should include only distributions of earnings derived from business done for the United States or any of its agencies or from sources other than patronage, but only to the extent such amounts are paid in the same manner provided for patronage dividends below. The term "income from sources other than patronage" means incidental income derived from sources not directly related to the marketing, purchasing or service activities of the cooperative association. For example, income derived from the lease of premises, from investment in securities, or from the sale or exchange of capital assets, constitutes income derived from sources other than patronage.

Also include in the schedule the total amount of per-unit retain allocations other than those reflected in cost of sales above and the total amount of written notices of allocation other than those reflected in patronage dividends below. (See sections 1382 and 1388.)

16. Patronage Dividends.—In the attached schedule, show the amount of patronage dividends paid to patrons in money, qualified written notices of allocation, or other property (except nonqualified written notices of allocation) and the amount paid to patrons in money or other property (except written notices of allocation) to redeem nonqualified written notices of allocation. (See sections 1382 and 1388 and the related regulations.)
