INSTRUCTIONS FOR PREPARING

1952 U. S. NONRESIDENT ALIEN INCOME TAX RETURN ON FORM 1040B—BUSINESS WITHIN UNITED STATES

THE TERM "NONRESIDENT ALIEN INDIVIDUAL" INCLUDES "NONRESIDENT ALIEN FIDUCIARY"

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

(A) Who must make a return on Form 1040B.—Every nonresident alien individual who at any time within the taxable year was engaged in trade or business within the United States is required to make or have made a return on Form 1040B of all his income received from sources within the United States, except a resident of Canada, Mexico, or other income from sources within the United States consisting of compensation for personal services and did not exceed $600 during the taxable year. Section 51 (b) provides that "No joint return may be made if either the husband or wife at any time during the taxable year is a nonresident alien.

The term "engaged in trade or business within the United States" includes the performance of personal services within the United States at any time within the taxable year, but does not include the performance of personal services for a nonresident alien individual, foreign partnership, or foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States by a nonresident alien individual temporarily present in the United States for a period or periods not exceeding a total of 90 days during the taxable year and whose compensation for such services did not exceed, in the aggregate, $3,000. Such phrase does not include the effecting, through a resident buyer, common or less frequent in the United States in commodities (if of a kind customarily dealt in on an organized commodity exchange, or in stocks or securities.

The responsible representative or agent within the United States of a nonresident alien individual who at any time within the taxable year was engaged in trade or business within the United States shall, in behalf of the nonresident alien, principal, a return of, and shall pay the tax on, all income from sources within the United States coming within his control as representative or agent.

The agency appointment will determine how completely the agent is substituted for the principal for tax purposes.

A nonresident alien individual who, at any time within the taxable year, was engaged in trade or business within the United States shall file, or cause to be filed, with the Director of Internal Revenue, a true and accurate return of his total income from sources within the United States, in the manner prescribed by law, and shall pay the tax on, all income of loss (not net income) from sources within the United States.

A nonresident alien individual who is a member of a partnership which at any time within the taxable year was engaged in trade or business within the United States is considered as having engaged in such trade or business within the United States. Such individual is, therefore, taxable under section 211 (b) and is required to file Form 1040B.

Nonresident aliens not engaged in trade or business within the United States and having gross income from United States sources on which tax is due should use Form 1040NB or Form 1040NB-a, whichever is applicable.

A resident of the United Kingdom engaged in trade or business within the United States at any time during the taxable year (for example, rendering personal services therein) but not having a permanent establishment in the United States, and whose income from sources within the United States in the taxable year should not report on Form 1040B. The reason is that no income due to the individual's activities in the United States is deemed "income from sources within the United States." No return is required.

(B) Returns of income of decedens.—The executor or administrator shall make a return on Form 1040B for a nonresident alien decedent who was engaged in trade or business in the United States at any time during his last taxable year.

(C) Period to be covered by return.—Calendar year 1952 or other taxable years beginning in 1952.

The established accounting period must be adhered to for all years, unless permission is received from the Commissioner to make a change. An application for a change in the accounting period shall be made on Form 1128.

(D) When and where the return must be filed.—On or before the 15th day of the seventh month following the close of the taxable year with the Director of Internal Revenue in the district in which you have your principal place of business in the United States, except that a nonresident alien individual whose wages are subject to withholding at the source under section 1622 is required to file Form 1040B on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year. In case you are required to file a return, file it at the time of filing the return, it should be forwarded to the Director of Internal Revenue, Baltimore 2, Maryland, U. S. A.

(E) Declaration.—The return shall contain or be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury. The return may be made by agent (1) if made by the representative or agent within the United States under competent agency appointment, or (2) if, by reason of illness, the person liable for the making of the return is unable to make it, or (3) if the taxpayer is unable to make the return by reason of continuous absence from the United States for a period of at least 60 days prior to the date prescribed by law for making the return. Whenever a return is made by an agent it must be accompanied by a power of attorney.

Where the return is actually prepared by some person or persons other than the taxpayer, such person or persons must also sign the return.

(F) When and to whom the tax must be paid.—The tax must be paid in full when the return is filed, except that in the case of a nonresident alien individual whose wages are subject to withholding at the source under section 1622, the tax must be paid in full on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year.

The tax may be paid in cash or by check or money order drawn to the order of "Director of Internal Revenue.

(G) Penalties.—Severe penalties are provided by law for failure to file a required return, for filing late, and for filing a false or fraudulent return.

(H) Received or accrued income.—If your books of account are kept on the accrual basis, report all income accrued, even though it has not been actually received or entered on the books, and expenses incurred instead of expenses paid. As to disallowance of deductions for unpaid expenses and interest payable to certain persons, see section 24 (c). If your books are not kept on the accrual basis, or if you keep no books, make your return on a cash basis and report all income received or constructively received, or such basis as interest credited to your account and coupon bond interest matured, and report expenses actually paid.

(I) Items exempt from tax.—The following items are exempt, except where otherwise indicated, from United States income tax and should not be included in gross income:

(a) Proceeds of life insurance policies, paid by reason of the death of the insured. If any part of the proceeds is held by the insurer under an agreement to pay interest, the interest is taxable. Amounts received under a life insurance or endowment policy, not payable by reason of the death of the insured, are not taxable until the aggregate of the amounts received exceeds the premium which was paid or must be reported.

(b) Gifts (not received as consideration for services rendered) and money and property acquired by bequest, devise, or inheritance (but the income derived from such property is taxable and must be reported).

(c) Interest on obligations of a State or political subdivision; interest on obligations of the United States issued prior to March 1, 1941, if made wholly exempt from taxation by the act authorizing their issuance; and interest on not exceeding $5,000 of United States Savings Bonds and United States Savings and Treasury Bonds (at face value) which were issued before March 1, 1941;

(d) Except in the case of amounts attributable to (and not in excess of) deductions allowed under section 23 (x) in any prior taxable year, amounts received through accident or health insurance or under workers' compensation act or workmen's compensation act, or compensation received as a pension, annuity, or similar allowance for personal injuries or sickness resulting from active service in the armed forces of any country;

(e) Income which consists exclusively of earnings derived from the operation of a ship or ships (or aircraft) documented (or regis-specific instructions (numbered to correspond with item numbers on page 1 of return)

1. Salaries and other compensation for personal services.—Report all salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, etc., for services performed within the United States. Except as noted in General Instruction (A), gross income from sources within the United States includes compensation for labor or personal services performed within the United States regardless of the residence of the payor, of the place in which the contract for services was made, or of the place of payment. If a specific amount is paid for labor or personal services performed within the United States, such amount (if income from sources within the United States) shall be included in the gross income. No accurate allocation or segregation of compensation for labor or personal services performed within the United States can be made, or when such labor or service is performed partly within and partly without the United States, the amount to be included in the gross income shall be determined by an apportionment on the time basis, i.e., there shall be included in the gross income an amount which bears the same relation to the total compensation as the number of days of performance of the labor or services within the United States bears to the total number of days of performance of labor or services for which the payment is made. Except as noted in General Instruction (A), wages received for services rendered inside the territorial seas of the United States and wages of an alien seaman earned on a coastwise vessel are to be regarded as from sources within the United States.

Any amount claimed as a deduction for ordinary and necessary expenses of the trade or business must satisfy the following additional requirements, in addition to the conditions of your occupation with your employer, should be fully explained. Traveling expenses ordinarily include expenditures for transportation, meals, and lodging. The expenses of a commuter in traveling to and from work are not deductible.

2. Dividends.—A proper statement showing (a) dividends on shares acquired in Federal savings and loan associations in case of shares issued on or after March 28, 1942 (dividends on shares issued before that date should be included in item 4, page 1); (b) dividends from a domestic corporation constituting income from sources within the United States; and (c) dividends from a foreign corporation to the extent that they constitute income from sources within the United States.

Dividends will be treated as income from sources within the United States unless the taxpayer submits sufficient data to establish to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that they should be excluded from gross income. (See section 119 (a).)

(5) compensation for labor or personal services performed within the United States by a nonresident alien individual resident in Sweden, Canada, the United Kingdom, France, Denmark, the Netherlands, Ireland, Norway, New Zealand, Zimbabwe, or Switzerland, such exemption being, however, subject to certain limitations; (6) compensation for labor or personal services performed within the United States by a resident of France in the exercise of a liberal profession if he has no place of business within the United States; (7) remittances from sources within Sweden, Canada, France, the United Kingdom, Ireland, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, or New Zealand received in the United States by nonresident aliens from Sweden, Canada, France, the United Kingdom, Ireland, Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, or New Zealand who are temporarily residing in the United States for the purposes of study or for acquiring business experience, such remittances being for the purposes of their maintenance or studies; (8) royalties and like amounts derived by a nonresident alien individual resident in Sweden.

Any taxpayer who excludes from gross income from sources within the United States income of the type specified in (f) above must file with his return a statement setting forth the amount of such income and such information as may be necessary to show that the income is of the type specified in (f).

(J) treatment of depreciation and depletion.—A reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear, and obsolescence of property used in the trade or business may be deducted. All deductions for depreciation must be explained in the depreciation schedule on page 5. If obsolescence is claimed, explain why the useful life of the property is less than the maximum.

The amount of depreciation on property acquired by purchase should be determined upon the basis of the original cost (not replacement cost) of the property and the probable number of years remaining of its expected useful life, except if the property was purchased prior to March 1, 1913, it will be computed on the fair market value of such property as of that date or its original cost, whichever is lower. Depreciation is sustained before that date, whichever is greater. (See sections 23 (I) and 114.)

See the regulations under sections 23 (m) and 114 with respect to additional forms and information required if a deduction is claimed for depletion.

3. Interest on corporation bonds, etc.—Enter interest on bonds, debentures, notes, or certificates or other evidences of indebtedness issued by any corporation with interest coupons or in registered form, and all interest received or credited to your account on corporation bonds upon which a United States income tax was paid at the source by the debtor corporation. Include all interest received on government obligations, and all similar interest-bearing obligations of residents of the United States, except the interest specified in paragraph (e), (f), and (i) of General Instruction (I).

4. Interest on Government obligations, etc.—Enter interest received or accrued during the year.

Non-interest-bearing obligations issued at a discount.—Taxpayer on the cash basis may elect, as to all non-interest-bearing obligations issued at a discount and redeemable for fixed amounts increasing at stated intervals, (for example, United States Savings Bonds), to include the increase in redemption price applicable to the current year. For the year of election the total increase in redemption price of such obligations occurring between the date of acquisition and the end of the year must be included. Taxpayer so electing shall report such income as interest in item 4, page 1, and add to the aggregate amount of debts owned and computation of accrued income. The election is effective for the current year or in a prior year is binding for all subsequent years.

5. Annuities.—Amounts received as an annuity under an annuity or endowment contract shall be included in gross income to the extent of 3 percent of the aggregate premiums or consideration paid for such annuity. If the aggregate of the amounts received and excluded from gross income in this and prior years exceeds the aggregate premiums or consideration paid for such annuity, the entire amount thereafter received must be included in gross income.

6. Gains and losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets and other property.—See details in Schedules 1A (I) and (2).

"Capital assets" defined.—The term "capital assets" means property held by the taxpayer (whether or not connected with his trade or business) but does not include—

(a) stock in trade or other property of a kind properly includible in his inventory if on hand at the close of the taxable year; (b) property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business;
(e) property used in the trade or business of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 23 (1);
(d) real property used in the trade or business of the taxpayer;
(c) certain government obligations issued at a discount and maturing after one year (liquidations excepted);
(f) certain copyrights or artistic compositions, etc.
Gain on the sale of depreciable property between husband and wife or between a share-holder and a "controlled corporation" shall be treated as ordinary gain. See section 117 (a).

Description of property.—State following facts: (a) For real estate location and description of land and improvements; (b) for bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, name of issuing corporation, particular issue, denomination, and amount; and (c) for stocks, name of corporation, class of stock, number of shares, and capital changes affecting basis (including nontaxable distribution).

Basis.—In determining GAIN in case of property acquired before March 1, 1913, use the cost or the fair market value as of March 1, 1913, adjusted as provided in section 113 (b), whichever is greater, but in determining LOSS use cost so adjusted. If the property was acquired after February 28, 1913, use cost, except as provided in section 113 (a).

Losses on securities during worthless.—If (1) shares of stock become worthless during the year, or (2) corporate securities with interest coupons or in registered form become worthless during the year, and are capital assets, the loss therefrom shall be considered as from the sale or exchange of capital assets as of the last day of such taxable year.

Nonbusiness debt.—If a debt, other than a debt evidenced by a corporate security with interest coupons or in registered form and other than a debt the loss from the worthlessness of which is incurred in the trade or business, becomes totally worthless within the taxable year, the loss resulting therefrom shall be considered a loss from the sale or exchange during the taxable year of a capital asset held for more than one year computed without regard to capital gains or losses, or $1,000. Enter such loss in column 8 (describe in column 1) of Schedule A (1) under schedule of short-term capital gains and losses.

Classification of capital gains and losses.—The phrase "short-term" applies to gains and losses from the sale or exchange of capital assets held for one year or less; the phrase "long-term" to capital assets held for more than one year.

Collapsible corporations.—Gain from the sale or exchange of stock of a collapsible corporation is not a capital gain. (See section 117 (in.).)

Treatment of capital gains and losses.—Short-term capital gains and losses will be merged to obtain the net short-term capital gain or loss. Long-term capital gains and losses (taken into account at 100 percent) will be merged to obtain the net long-term capital gain or loss. If the net short-term capital gain exceeds the net long-term capital loss, 100 percent of such excess shall be included in income. If the net long-term capital gain exceeds the net short-term capital loss, 50 percent of such excess shall be included in income.

Limitation of allowable capital losses.—If the sum of all the capital losses exceeds the sum of all the capital gains (all such gains and losses to be taken into account at 100 percent), then such capital losses shall be allowed as a deduction only to the extent of (1) current year capital gains plus (2) the smaller of either the net income of the taxpayer for the year computed without regard to capital gains or losses, or $1,000. The excess of such allowable losses over the sum of items (1) and (2) above is called "capital loss carry-over." It may be carried forward and treated as a short-term capital loss in succeeding years. However, the capital loss carry-over of each year should be kept separate, since the law limits the deduction of this carry-over to the five succeeding years. Therefore, in offsetting capital gain and income of 1952 by prior loss carry-overs, use any capital loss carry-over remaining from 1947 before using any such carry-over from 1948 or subsequent years. Any 1947 carry-over which cannot be used in 1952 must be excluded in determining the total loss carry-over to 1953.

Alternative Tax.—If the net long-term capital gain exceeds the net short-term capital loss, or in the case of a long-term capital gain, taxpayers with surtax net income exceeding $14,000 should compute the alternative tax in Schedule A (1). The alternative tax, if less than the normal tax and surtax, shall be the lesser.

Wash sales losses.—Losses from the sale or other disposition of stocks or securities are not deductible (unless sustained in connection with the taxpayer's trade or business), if, within 30 days before or after the date of sale or other disposition, the taxpayer has acquired (by purchase or by an exchange upon which the entire amount of gain or loss was recognized by law), or has entered into a contract or option to acquire, substantially identical stock or securities.

Losses in transactions between certain persons.—No deduction is allowable for losses from sales or exchanges of property directly or indirectly between (a) members of a family, (b) a corporation and any individual owning more than 50 percent of its stock (liquidations excepted), (c) a grantor and fiduciary of any trust, or (d) a fiduciary and a beneficiary of the same trust.

7. Rents and royalties. Fill in Schedule B (1) giving the information requested.

A rent or royalty from property located from the United States or from any interest in such property, including rents and royalties for the use or the privilege of using within the United States, patents, copyrights, secret processes and formulas, goodwill, trademarks, trade brands, franchises, and other like personal property interests arising from the rental of property, whether tangible or intangible, located within the United States, or from the use of property, whether tangible or intangible, within the United States, is from sources within the United States.

Deductions which may be properly allocated to income from rents and royalties are (1) ordinary and necessary expenses incurred in connection with the property for the use of the person and (2) depreciation or depletion of such property sustained during the taxable year. Other necessary expenses, such as repairs, interest, taxes, fire insurance, fuel, light, and labor, should be itemized.

Costs and expenses from business or profession.—If you owned a business, or practiced a profession on your own account, fill in Schedule B (2) of the return, and enter the net profit (or loss) as item 8.

If installment method is used, attach schedule showing separately for years 1949, 1950, 1951, and 1952: (a) Gross sales; (b) cost and expenses; (c) gross profit; (d) percentage of gross profit on gross sales; (e) amount collected; and (f) gross profit on amount collected.

Bad debts may be treated in either of two ways—(1) by a deduction from income in respect of debts which became wholly worthless within the taxable year, and (2) by a deduction from income of a reasonable addition to a reserve.

Every taxpayer claiming a deduction due to a net operating loss for the preceding taxable year or years shall file with his return the statement required by section 29.122-1 of Regulations 111.

If your return includes business deductions any salary or other compensation for yourself. From the items of income derived specifically from sources within the United States there shall be deducted the expenses, losses, and other deductions properly apportioned or allocated there to and a ratable part of any other expenses, losses, or deductions which cannot definitely be allocated to some item of gross income. The remainder shall be included in full as net income from sources within the United States. The ratable part is based upon the ratio of gross income from sources within the United States to the total gross income.

7. Other income.—Include any income from joint ventures, etc., and fiduciaries. Enter in Schedule B (3) your share of the profits (whether received or not) or of the losses of a partnership (including a joint venture, or the like, not taxable as a corporation) doing business in the United States (except your share of capital gains and losses, which should be entered in Schedule A (1)), and income from a domestic estate or trust.

If the taxable period on the basis of which you file your return does not coincide with the annual accounting period of the partnership, joint venture, etc., or fiduciary, then you should include in your return your distributive share of the net profits or losses (or the net capital gain or loss) of the partnership, joint venture, etc., or fiduciary. See Schedule G.

Include in item 4 your share of interest on obligations of the United States and instrumentalities, issued prior to March 1, 1941, owned by the partnership, estate, or trust. Include in item 11, and explain in Schedule G, your share of any contribution or grant made by the United States (or any agency or instrumentality of the United States) to a charitable, religious, scientific, literary, or educational purpose, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, or any part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder, or individual, and no substantial part of which is used, or is to be used, for publicity or propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation; or to the special fund for vocational rehabilitation authorized by section 12 of the World War Veterans' Act, 1924. The amount claimed shall not exceed 20 percent of your adjusted gross income. For definition of adjusted gross income, see section 22 (n).
Report in Schedule C the name and address of each organization, the amount and approximate date of the contribution or gift in each case.

12. Interest.—Enter interest on personal indebtedness as distinguished from business indebtedness (which should be entered in Schedules B (1) and (2)). Do not include interest on indebtedness incurred by the United States (other than obligations of the United States issued after September 24, 1917, and originally subscribed for by the taxpayer) the interest upon which is wholly exempt from taxation. For limitations on deductions for unpaid expenses and interest, see section 24 (c). Do not deduct any income accruing legally to a person indebtedness which is incurred by the United States as the result of purchase of a single premium life insurance or endowment contract. A contract shall be considered a single premium life insurance or endowment contract, if substantially all the premiums on such contract are paid within a period of 4 years from the date on which the contract is paid.

In order to claim a deduction for paid interest, the indebtedness must be connected with some source of taxable income within the United States. Any deductions on account of interest should be itemized and explained in Schedule D.

13. Estate and gift taxes.—Enter all taxes on property having a situs in the United States, and not used in your business or profession, which were paid or accrued during the taxable year. You can deduct State or local retail sales taxes if under the laws of the State you are imposed directly upon the consumer, or if they are imposed on the retailer (whether or not such excise taxes) and the amount of the tax is separately stated by the retailer to the consumer. Do not include taxes assessed against local benefits, Federal income taxes on estate, inheritance, legacy, succession, gift taxes, taxes imposed on your interest as shareholder of a corporation which are paid by the corporation without reimbursement to you, Federal income tax on Federal income or Federal gross income, Federal excise or stamp taxes; but any such duties or taxes attributable to your business activities may be deducted in Schedule B (1) or B (2). Federal social security and employment taxes paid by or for an employee are not deductible by the employee.

Any deductions for amount of taxes should be itemized and explained in Schedule E.

14. Losses from fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty, or theft.—Losses sustained during the taxable year of property not connected with the trade or business if arising from fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty, or from theft, and if not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, are deductible only if the property was located within the United States. Explain and itemize losses claimed in Schedule F.

15. Other deductions.—Enter other authorized deductions not claimed elsewhere on this return.

Do not deduct losses incurred in transactions which were neither connected with your trade or business nor entered into for profit. Losses sustained during the taxable year and not compensated for by insurance or otherwise, if incurred in any transaction entered into for profit, although not connected with a trade or business, are deductible only if the taxpayer can show that the loss was incurred in a transaction entered into for profit, although not connected with a trade or business, as the result of the loss. Deductions for losses sustained, attributable to business activities, may be deducted in Schedule B (1) or B (2). Federal social security and employment taxes paid by or for an employee are not deductible by the employee.

In any case you incurred expenses in connection with exempt income (other than interest) or owned any property the income from which is exempt, see the regulations issued under section 24 (a) (5) (ii).

16. Ratable part of deductions not definitely allocated to any class of income.—In addition to the deductions which can be definitely allocated to a class of income, there may be deducted a ratable part of other expenses, losses, or deductions which cannot be definitely allocated to some item or class of gross income from sources within or without the United States. The ratable part is based upon the ratio of gross income from sources within and without the United States to the total amount of gross income.

Fill in Schedule G and enter as item 16 the ratable part of any deductions not definitely allocated to any item or class of gross income.

19. Income from sources within and without the United States.—Items of gross income not allocated to sources within and without the United States, such as gross income derived from the sale of personal property produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within the United States and sold within a foreign country, or produced (in whole or in part) by the taxpayer within a foreign country and sold within the United States, shall be treated as derived from sources partly within and partly without the United States. (See the regulations issued under section 119 (c).)

Explain fully in a statement attached to the return how you determined the amount entered in item 19 as the portion of income taxable within and without the United States.

22. Exemptions for normal tax and surtax.—In the case of a nonresident alien (other than a resident of Canada or Mexico) the exemption is $600. A nonresident alien residing in Canada or Mexico is entitled to:

(1) One exemption ($600) for the taxpayer himself—two if he is 65 years of age or over or OR blind—three if he is both 65 or over AND blind.

(2) One exemption ($600) for the taxpayer's wife (or husband) if she (or he) had no gross income from sources within the United States. The exemption is $600 if she (or he) had gross income from sources within the United States. Any other return—two if she (or he) is 65 years of age or over OR blind—three if she (or he) is both 65 or over AND blind;

For purposes of (1) and (2) above, marital status, age, and blindness must be determined as of the close of the taxable year.

If the husband or wife died during the year, the exemptions of the deceased should be determined as of the date of death instead of the close of the year.

If partially blind, attach a statement from a qualified physician or a registered optometrist that (1) central visual acuity did not exceed 20/200, or better, with corrective lenses or (2) that the widest diameter of the visual field subtends an angle no greater than 20 degrees.

(III) One exemption ($600) for each closely related dependent who received more than half of his or her support from the taxpayer during the taxable year and who during the taxable year lived in the United States and is not claimed as an exemption on the return of his (or her) husband (or wife). (The law does not allow additional exemptions for age and blindness for dependents.)

"Closely related" means that the person is the taxpayer's son or daughter, or the legal or customary descendant of either; stepson, stepdaughter, son-in-law, or daughter-in-law; father, mother, or ancestor of either; stepfather, stepmother, father-in-law, or mother-in-law; brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, half brother, half sister, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law.

To qualify as a dependent, a person must also be either a citizen of the United States, or a resident of the United States, Canada, or Mexico.

24. Tax Rate Schedule.—The schedule below shows the normal tax and surtax for the taxable year. The tax to be entered as item 24, page 1, is the sum of 3 percent of item 23, page 1, plus 3 percent of item 23, page 1, whichever amount is the lesser. If tax is so reduced, attach statement.

27. (A) United States income tax paid at source.—Enter the total of all credits allowable under section 143 for the taxable year.

27. (B) United States income tax withheld by employer.—A nonresident alien engaged in trade or business within the United States, having wages subject to withholding under section 162A shall enter the amount of income tax withheld from his wages by his employer and attach all Original Withholding Statements (Form W-2) received from his employers for the year.

27. (C) United States tax paid on 1952 Declaration of Estimated Tax.—Enter your tax as estimated by you during the taxable year.

27. (D) United States income tax withheld by employer.—A nonresident alien engaged in trade or business within the United States, having wages subject to withholding under section 162A who filed a Declaration of Estimated Tax for 1952 should enter the total of all payments of estimated tax shown on such declaration. If on your 1951 return you had an overpayment which you chose to apply on your 1952 tax, include this in item 27 (b).
