REPORT

OF THE

COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE

ON THE

OPERATIONS OF THE INTERNAL REVENUE SYSTEM

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1865.

WASHINGTON:
GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.
1865.

REPORT.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, Washington, November 30, 1865.

Hon. Joseph J. Lewis having resigned the office of Commissioner, July 1, 1865, and his successor, Hon. William Orton, so lately as November 1, instant, the duty of preparing the annual report of the office unexpectedly devolved upon me at so late a period as, of itself, to preclude the expectation of a voluminous report from me at this time, while the laborious service of the "Revenue Commission," with powers and duties defined in the 19th section of the act of March last, makes it inappropriate that I should present my views upon such subjects as may have come within its consideration before it shall have prepared the report contemplated by the statute. At its request, however, I will at that time, if desired by the Secretary of the Treasury, submit what experience in this office shall have taught me in relation to the several changes it may propose in the law.

In the course of the present report, however, I shall offer a few recommendations affecting mainly the administration of the law, and only those parts of it to which I understand it is not the purpose of the commission to give special attention.

It is a matter of sincere congratulation that, thus far, the people of this country have so patiently borne the burden which has been put upon them, and have so freely contributed of their substance to fill the national treasury. With few exceptions the demand of the tax collector has been met promptly and willingly. And when it is recollected that the present generation only know by tradition, or by reference to obsolete statutes, that taxes have ever been imposed in this country upon articles of their own manufacture, and the objects of internal traffic, or upon the various crafts or professions in which they are employed; and when, too, it is considered that the revenue thus collected for the single year ending June 30, 1865, amounts to a sum nearly or quite equal to all the receipts of this government from whatever sources, except loans and treasury notes, from its organization to the war of 1812; and when it is further considered that this amount was contributed at a time when the commercial marine of the country had been nearly destroyed, and more than a million of hardy men were withdrawn from the productive pursuits of life, we may not only be justly proud that the material strength has been fully equal to the burden imposed, but that it has been borne so quietly and so willingly.

The law requires "that separate accounts shall be kept at the treasury of all moneys received from internal duties or taxes in each of the respective States, Territories, and collection districts, and that separate accounts shall be kept of the amount of each species of duty or tax that shall accrue, so as to exhibit, as far as may be, the amount collected from each source of revenue, with the moneys paid as compensation and for allowances to the collectors and deputy collectors, assessors and assistant assessors, inspectors and other officers employed in each of the respective States, Territories, and collection districts, an abstract, in tabular form, of which accounts it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury annually, in the month of December, to lay before Congress."

Tabular statements more specific and comprehensive even than required by statute have been prepared in this office, and are herewith respectfully transmitted. They comprise:

Table A, showing the receipts by collectors from each specific source of revenue, and the amounts refunded in each collection district, State and Territory of the United States, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1865.

Table B, collections from banks, insurance, railroad, canal, and turnpike companies.

Table C, monthly receipts of internal revenue tax on salaries.

Table D, number and value of internal revenue stamps procured monthly by the Commissioner; and monthly receipts from purchasers of internal revenue stamps, the commissions allowed on the same, and the receipts from agents for the sale of stamps.

Table E, recapitulation of receipts of internal revenue from all sources for the year ending June 30, 1865.

Table F, comparative table showing the territorial distribution of internal revenue, population, and wealth in the United States.

Table G, the gross amounts collected and paid into the treasury, and the amounts expended in the several collection districts, States and Territories, during the year.

Table H, the ratio of the receipts from specific sources to the aggregate of all collections.

Table I, the ratio of the gross collections from the several general sources of revenue to the aggregate collections, exclusive of the receipts from passports, salaries, stamps, United States marshals, and the Solicitor of the Treasury, for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1864 and 1865, respectively.

Table K, total collections from each specific source of revenue for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1863, 1864, and 1865, respectively.

1865 were	211, 129, 529 17

These amounts are exclusive of the direct tax, or tax of twenty millions of dollars upon the lands of the country, which has been partially paid in various ways, and the duty upon the circulation and deposits of National Banks, which in 1863 was paid to the Comptroller of the Currency, and has since been paid to the Treasurer; but are inclusive of drawback and sums refunded,† which in the several years were as follows:

1863	$677, 106 4	10	$57,605 71
1864	687, 431 9	9	237, 470 37
1865	698, 655, 3	36	422, 734 36

RECEIPTS FROM SPECIAL SOURCES.

It may not be unprofitable to present in juxtaposition the amounts received from several of the most important sources of revenue, with brief suggestions in relation to their differences; it should be borne in mind, however, that the law was in operation but ten months for the year ending June 30, 1863.

* NOTE.—The act of July, 1862, took effect September 1st, and the receipts for the fiscal year 1863 are for but ten months.

A discrepancy exists between these amounts and those from the office of the Secretary of the Treasury. The same receipts are not always reported and entered upon the books of the two offices on the same day. The difference is only one of account.

Other discrepancies of like character may be observed arising from the same source.

† The amount given above as the receipts for 1864 is exclusive of sums refunded for 1863 and 1864, amounting to $295,076 08. See grand total in table K.

The tax upon dividends was three per cent. until June 30, 1864, after which it was five per cent.

"Circulation" and "deposits" were not taxed until October, 1863.

"Capital" was first charged under the act of June 30, 1864, when the duty upon "circulation" was increased.

By the act of March 3, 1865, the tax upon deposits was extended to savings banks having no capital stock.

The taxes upon the "capital," "circulation," and "deposits" of national banks are not received at this office, nor included in the above.

The duty was three per cent. until July 1, 1864; afterwards five per cent. The same tax was then imposed upon all profits carried to the account of any fund, or used in construction. The amount received from this source is included in the dividends for 1865.

That upon the gross receipts of premiums and assessments was one per cent. until July, 1864, payable quarterly to the Commissioner; after that, one and one-half per cent., payable monthly to the collectors.

This tax is received only from those whose compensation exceeds the rate of $600 per year, and was at the rate of three per cent. until July 1, 1864, and afterwards five per cent.

REVENUE STAMPS.

1863	$4, 140, 175 29
1864	5, 894, 945 14
1865	11, 162, 392 14

These amounts include the receipts from stamps, required by schedule C as well as schedule B; upon proprietary articles, matches, photographs, and cards, as well as upon written instruments. The law in respect to these duties has been repeatedly and variously modified, sometimes adding, and sometimes subtracting from the receipts. The large increase of revenue is due in no small degree to the growing observance of the law. After September 1, 1864, stamps were required upon matches, and the receipts from that source for the remaining portion of the fiscal year was probably not less than one million dollars.

ARTICLES IN SCHEDULE A.

1863	$365,630 93
1864	520, 283, 35
1865	779, 901 79

The taxes here are specific upon carriages, yachts, billiard-tables, and gold and silver plate kept for use. In 1864 the schedule was increased by the addition of gold watches and piano-fortes, but the change was made after the annual lists, in which the taxes are included, were in the hands of the collectors, and the receipts reported are mainly from the operation of the statute of 1862.

LICENSES.

1863	$6, 824, 178 42
1864	7, 145, 388 71
1865	12.598 681 95

The receipts from licenses, like those from income and schedule A, are almost entirely in the report of the year subsequent to their assessment. The reassessment under the act of June, 1864, furnishes the principal exception to this rule. The returns are received in May, but the lists upon which they are entered by the assessors do not ordinarily reach the collectors until after the 30th of June, or the beginning of another fiscal year. The increase in 1864 accrued, in part, from the addition by the act of March, 1863, to the list of persons subject to duty and the increased charge for several descriptions of license; and that of 1865 from the same source, as well as from a like addition under the act of June 30, 1864, and the increased tax upon wholesale dealers, which, by special provision of the statute, was immediately assessed as additional to that assessed under the prior law.

INCOME.

1863	 $455,741	26
1864	 14, 919, 279	58
1865	 90 567 350	96

This, with licenses, and schedule A, makes up the annual list.

For the reasons just given above, the tax upon the income of 1862, assessed in 1863, is mainly included in the receipts of the fiscal year 1864, less than half a million dollars having been collected in 1863; and the receipts for 1865 consist almost entirely of the tax assessed in 1864 upon the income of 1863.

Most of the tax upon the income of 1864 has been collected since the commencement of the current fiscal year 1866, and will appear in the next annual report from this office. A small part of it is found in the receipts of 1865.

Of the amounts collected in 1863, $279,333 76 were returned at five per cent. upon incomes above ten thousand dollars; $172,770 35 at three per cent.

upon incomes of less than ten thousand dollars; and $3,637 15 upon incomes from United States securities. Of that collected in 1864, $6,913,834 88 were returned at five per cent.; $7,930,070 77 at three per cent.; and $75,373 93 at one and one half per cent. Of that collected in 1865, $801,941 99 were returned at ten per cent.; $9,934,758 55 at five per cent.; $9,697,246 96 at three per cent.; and $133,402 76 at one and one-half per cent.

The receipts from the ten per cent. tax were all from taxes upon the income of 1864. It cannot easily be determined precisely how much of the receipts at five per cent. are due to that year.

The special tax of five per cent. upon all incomes above six hundred dollars, as well from banks, railroads, and salaries, as from other sources, brought into the treasury $28,929,312 02.

IRON AND STEEL IN THE VARIOUS FORMS SPECIFICALLY NAMED.

1863	$1,862,826	36
1864		49
1865	9, 218, 808	63

These are the varieties named and described in the seventy-fifth section of the act of July, 1862, amended and somewhat increased by the act of March 3, 1863; still further enlarged with increased rates under the act of June 30, 1864, and twenty per cent. additional to those rates after April 1, 1865. Pig-iron was taxed two dollars per ton by the act of 1864, and during eleven months ending June 30th last, added nearly one and a half million dollars to the public revenue. The additional twenty per cent to the rate, taking effect April 1, did not increase the receipts until May. Several causes have contributed to secure the tax upon these articles, and it is believed that it has almost universally been paid.

REFINED PETROLEUM AND COAL OIL.

1863	$649,962
1864	2, 255, 328	80
1865		77

The tax upon petroleum was ten cents per gallon, and upon oil distilled from coal exclusively eight cents until June 30, 1864, after which the rates were twenty and fifteen cents respectively. The increased receipts in 1864, over those of 1863, were owing largely to increased consumption, and to the withdrawal from bond to escape the increased duty. This somewhat overstocked the market, and during the following year checked refining for-home consumption.

CIGARS AND CHEROOTS.

1863	$476,589	29
1864	1, 255, 424	79
1865	3,072,476	56

Specific taxes, graduated by the different values of the cigars, were imposed by the act of July, 1862. These were largely increased in 1864, but under the act of March 3, 1865, the duty was made uniform at ten dollars per thousand. The anticipation of additional tax largely increased the manufacture in 1864, and the supply at that time has hardly yet been consumed.

TOBACCO-CHEWING AND SMOKING.

1863	$2,	578, 972	43
1864	7,	086,684	74
1865	8,	017,020	63

Plug and fine-cut tobacco were mainly taxed fifteen cents per pound until June 30, 1864, when the rate was increased to thirty-five cents, and in March, 1865, it was still further increased to forty cents.

The tax upon smoking tobacco was at first five cents, increased to twenty-five cents in 1864, and to thirty-five cents, in 1865. Smoking tobacco made exclusively of stems was taxed at two cents until March, 1863, when it was raised to five cents. In 1864 it was increased to fifteen cents, where it still remains.

The regularity of the manufacture has been largely disturbed by expectation of additional duty, as in the case of cigars.

The tax collected in 1863 represents 23,680,056 pounds; that of 1864

63, 372, 426 pounds, and that of 1865 only 36,639,020 pounds.

Of the amount charged in 1865, 10,061,163 pounds were manufactured and returned in June, 1864, in anticipation of the increased rates, and the duty paid in the following year. The amounts for the first and the last years were less than the ordinary annual consumption, while the amount for 1864 was greatly in excess. This excess was brought into consumption during the last year at rates with which the regular manufacturers could not compete, except with their old stocks, and the production was, of necessity, largely obstructed. It has also been unfavorably affected by the arrival of large quantities of southern tobacco in northern markets.

The average annual taxable production of the different kinds of manufactured tobacco from September 1, 1862 to June 30, 1865 was 42,809,168 pounds, which at present rates would have produced $15,736,795 65.

FERMENTED LIQUORS.

	$1, 558, 083	41
1863	2, 223, 719	73
1001		06
1865

From September 1, 1862, to March 3, 1863, the tax was one dollar per barrel, of not more than thirty-one gallons; from that date to April 1, 1864, sixty cents, and since that time one dollar.

The number of barrels upon which tax was received, as nearly as can be ascertained, was 1,765,827 in 1863, 3,459,119 in 1864, and 3,657,181 in 1865.

DISTILLED SPIRITS.

	$3 999 990 79
1863	28 431 797 83
1863 1864	15, 995, 701 66
1865	10, 200,

During the fiscal year 1863 the tax was uniformly twenty cents per gallon. For the fiscal year 1864 the tax was twenty cents until March 7, after which it was sixty cents. From July 1, 1864, until January 1, 1865, it was $1 50 per gallon, and afterwards $2.

Of the amount reported in the year 1865, however, $3,862,820 66, or nearly one-fourth the whole amount, was at twenty or sixty cents per gallon. This resulted mainly from the fact that large quantities of spirits were sold by the distillers within the last ten days of June, 1864, thus escaping the increased duty, while the taxes thereon did not fall due until the following month of July, being the first of the next fiscal year. Considerable quantities were removed from the distilleries, too, under transportation bonds, or under bills of lading, prior to the 1st day of July, under conditions which produced a similar result. Even with this explanation, it may occasion no little surprise that the increase of duty was followed by a decrease of receipts. But I regard the receipts of the past year from distilled spirits as no criterion, if, indeed, even an indication of what would have been received had the tax fallen upon the ordinary, natural consumption of the country. This was checked in some measure, undoubtedly, by the tax, but the distillations in the winter and spring of 1863-'64 were everywhere in advance of consumption, anticipating the increased duty, glutting the market, and thoroughly deranging the customary laws of demand and supply. For a long time the consumption has not been of spirits which have paid the duty current at its date, but always of those taxed, if liable at all, at a previous and lower rate. The increase has never been of advantage to the government, but has swelled the income of manufacturers and speculators. For several months of the past year, when holders were disposing of their adventures, the market price of distilled spirits, even in the Atlantic cities, remote from the place of production, was but little, if any, in advance of the tax. It is no wonder, then, that many distilleries were idle and the revenue small.

From the fact that several of the elements involved are so uncertain and fluctuating, it is very difficult, of course, to determine with confidence how much the consumption is reduced by the present tax, and what will certainly be realized from this source of revenue. The Revenue Commission has given much attention to this subject, and its report, I have no doubt, will be full and exhaustive. It may not be amiss for me to state, however, that I apprehend there is a prevalent overestimate of this reduction; and in this belief I am strengthened by the recent "report of the Commissioners of her Majesty's inland revenue," from which it appears that the consumption of distilled spirits in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland during the year ending March 31, 1852, exclusive of the amount used in the arts and manufactures, was 29,866,260 gallons, while the increase of the excise duty in 1860 to the uniform rate of 10s., or $2 50 per gallon, throughout the kingdom, (at which rate it still remains,) only reduced the consumption during the last year to 26,516,531 gallons. This amount was in addition to 933,649 gallons more employed in manufactures and the arts, methylated and exempt from duty.

In 1852 the tax in England was 7s. 10d.; in Scotland, 3s. 8d.; and in Ire-

The population of the United Kingdom in 1852 was 27,500,000, and in 1864, land, 2s. 8d.

29,657,000. For some years prior to 1860 the rate of duty was uniform throughout the United Kingdom at 8s., or 8s. 1d. per gallon, and in that year it was raised to 10s. From the report of the commissioners for the following year it appears that the domestic production fell off heavily-some nineteen per cent.-immediately after the change in the rate, from 24,985,192 gallons in 1860 to 20,147,824 gallons in 1861, while it will be noticed that the advance in the duty was but slight when compared with that which was imposed under our laws at the commencement of the last fiscal year. The commissioners in the report of 1861,

"These figures immediately suggest the question whether the whole of this large decrease is attributable to diminished consumption produced by the addition to the rate of duty. We think that this is not the case. Considerable diminution, indeed, was expected and has doubtless occurred, but various other causes have contributed to the unexpected deficiency above

"In the first place, we know that unusually large stocks of spirits had been accumulated in February, 1860, in anticipation of an addition to the duty; and, on the other hand, that since the duty was raised to 10s. the stocks have been uniformly kept as low as possible, and the operations of all persons concerned in the spirit trade restricted to the absolute wants of the moment. Rectifiers, for instance, take ten puncheons at a time, instead of twenty or thirty, as they formerly did, and many of the large retailers who used to replenish their stores with one hundred gallons at a time, are now careful to limit their purchases to ten or twenty gallons. This is the consequence of the increased cost of the spirits, and may be expected permanently to alter the habits of the trade; operating in combination with the excessive stocks of the year 1859-760, it has had considerable effect on the relative quantities charged with duty in that and the succeeding year.

with duty in that and the succeeding year.

"Yet, after making allowance for all this, there still remains a large deficiency, which can only be accounted for by diminished consumption; not, however, wholly produced by the increase of price in spirits, and therefore not necessarily a cause of permanent falling off in revenue.

"We feel justified in assigning to the bad harvest of last year a large share in restricting consumption, both immediately and consequentially.

"On the whole, therefore, we should infer, from a review of the occurrences of the year, that, although the quantity of spirits brought to charge would in future not reach the same level as in 1859-760—nearly the highest on record—we should be entitled to reckon with certainty upon charging at the least twenty million gallons in the present year, and might fairly expect, if the country continues in a prosperous state, an addition to that amount of 1,000,000 or 1,500,000 gallons."

By the subsequent reports of the same commissioners it appears that their estimates were fully confirmed.

Upon such experience we can now reasonably base our expectations. Our circumstances are not dissimilar. Our markets are now exhausted of spirits distilled before taxation, or subjected only to the earlier rates. The supplies for consumption must now pay the existing duty, and the receipts for the current year will, I am confident, far exceed the aggregate of all receipts from the same source prior thereto.

It is certain that immense frauds have been perpetrated, for such have been discovered and prosecuted to judgment or to compromise; but the increasing experience and vigilance of our officers, and the appointment of others for special duty at distilleries, will prevent large loss to the government. The Revenue Commission will, I hope, suggest additional checks to be authorized by further legislation; but so long as avarice and falsity are a part of humanity, revenue laws, however thoroughly administered, will be sometimes evaded.

The number of illicit distillations detected in the United Kingdom in 1864 was 2,757, and in 1865 3,457; showing that, with all the thoroughness consequent upon careful legislation, long experience, and a more compact population than ours, it was quite impossible to prevent occasional and, undoubtedly, sometimes enormous fraud. It must be the aim and the effort of all persons connected with our revenue laws to insist everywhere and always upon the rights of the government, and, in so doing, the protection of taxpayers who faithfully discharge their duties.

COST OF COLLECTING THE REVENUE.

The cost of collecting the public revenues is naturally a matter of no little solicitude to the Secretary of the Treasury, as it is one of vast importance to the country.

A people heavily subjected to taxation will carefully scrutinize the expenditures of the government, especially so far as they relate to the collection of the revenue they are taxed to produce.

It may not be unsatisfactory to submit, in this connexion, a tabular statement of the costs, from time to time, of collecting the revenues of Great Britain and Ireland, taken largely from the work of J. R. McCulloch, esq., upon "Taxation and Funding."

The percentage cost of collecting inland revenue, after deduction of drawbacks, in the following years, was, (in the £100:)

1840–'41	£5	58.	1d.	upon	£26,231,172
1850–'51	4	3	41	upon	32,018,825
1860–'61	3	13	$7\frac{1}{2}$	upon	42,019,133

The percentage cost of collecting customs, according to the same authority, before deduction of drawbacks, &c., in the following years, was:

In 1840-'41	£5	88.	$8\frac{3}{4}d$. upon	£26,341,813
To 1850-'51	5	15	84	upon	22, 019, 784
In 1860-'61	4	6	3	upon	23, 278, 250

The actual annual costs to our own government for the collection of its customs for several years cannot be determined with accuracy, because the expenses of revenue cutters, performing the duties of vessels-of-war, have been paid from the appropriations for customs, as have other charges connected with commercial intercourse and abandoned property in insurrectionary districts. They will, however, it is believed, not fall short of three and one-half per centum of the receipts—a percentage not above the average for many years past in this country, and, as it will be observed, much below the costs in the United Kingdom for either of the years above given.

I have caused the costs of assessing and collecting the internal revenue of the fiscal year 1865 to be carefully ascertained, including the salaries and authorized expenses of revenue agents, special agents, and inspectors of revenue, the contingent expenses of this office, including its pay-roll, and the costs of revenue stamps, but exclusive of its printing at the office of the public printer, not yet ascertained, and find that the percentage, after deducting drawback and sums refunded as erroneously collected, will not exceed two and seventy-five onehundredths, $(2\frac{75}{100})$

This ratio of costs to collections cannot be relied upon for the current year, as the percentage will be greater in the sparsely settled districts of the south. It will not, however, I believe, exceed three and one-half (3½) per centum of the receipts of the whole country.

ESTIMATE OF RECEIPTS FOR CURRENT YEAR.

As bearing upon the probable amount of revenue for the current fiscal year 1866, I present herewith a statement of the receipts of which certificates of deposit reached this office during July, August, and September, of 1863, 1864, and 1865, respectively:

	1863.	1864.	1865.
July	$5, 298, 967 18 5, 604, 201 35 6, 136, 205 43	$16,570,548 39 15,712,066 84 15,819,770 72	$21, 693, 470 75 34, 087, 539 09 37, 939, 415 82

I present also the comparative receipts from several large sources of revenue during the first quarter of the fiscal year 1865, and the first quarter of 1866, ending September 30 last:

	1865.	1866.
Fermented liquors	$913, 252 53 302, 411 63 2, 560, 509 85 471, 863 07 228, 851 60 526, 840 91 316, 621 77 13, 510, 492 98	$1,230,353 69 810,056 09 3,010,135 37 1,206,878 59 204,917 76 600,116 88 981,547 14 41,766,016 63 2,078,974 95 1,085,031 20
Total	24, 565, 841 93	52, 974, 028 30

Reports due from several collectors have not been received, although their receipts have been regularly deposited, and the above amounts for 1866 will, in some instances, be considerably increased. The receipts from distilled spirits for the months here reported exhibit no evidence of the amounts consumed, nor of the comparative productiveness of the several rates of duty, as $2,702,257 72 of that reported in 1865 (July, August, and September, 1864) accrued from the imposition of twenty or sixty cents per gallon. The same is true of tobacco, as $1,766,616 79, or more than three-quarters of the whole amount reported in 1865, was derived from the low rates of duty prior to the statute of June 30, 1864.

It will be observed that the increased receipts are largely from the annual list, and especially from income. Not far from sixty per centum of the latter tax was from income in excess of five thousand dollars, and taxable at ten per cent.

At the date of this writing the revenue from the annual list is almost fully collected, and the receipts for the remaining portion of the fiscal year must be mainly from other sources.

The fluctuation in the value of merchandise will, of course, affect the proceeds from whatever bears an ad valorem duty. The revenue from the southern States is altogether problematical. From the most reliable data, however, in my possession, with the present law unchanged, I confidently expect that the receipts of this office for the current fiscal year will not be less than $272,000,000.

APPOINTMENT OF ASSISTANT ASSESSORS.

By the amendatory act of March last it was provided that assistant assessors, before that time appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, should, in case of vacancy, be appointed by the assessors of the several districts, subject to the approval of the Commissioner.

The Attorney General of the United States, to whom the question involved in this change was referred, has given to the Secretary of the Treasury his opinion, that under the second section of article second of the Constitution such appointments can be made only by the President of the United States or the head of a department.

The language of that section is that the President "shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate shall appoint, * * * * all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, * * * or in the heads of departments."

It would seem, therefore, that if no other provision of law is made for the appointment of assistant assessors than that which now exists, an undesirable as well as an unintended burden is imposed upon the President and the Senate.

The purpose of the law would seem to be answered as well and more conveniently by giving the power of such appointments immediately to the Secretary of the Treasury, as authorized by the above section of the Constitution; and I respectfully suggest that a modification of the law may be made to that effect.

APPEALS UNNECESSARY.

From the almost universal experience of assessors it seems that the holding of formal appeals from erroneous assessments in the annual list, as required in the nineteenth section, is entirely unnecessary. The public always have access to the assessor at his office, and rarely have actual notice of the advertised time of hearing at any other locality. The result is that in many districts none have ever attended the appeals, which have hence proved of advantage neither to the government nor the taxpayer, while they have been a charge both to the local officers and to the public treasury. Between the assessment and collection there is always opportunity for a hearing if desired, either in person or by correspondence, and after collection this office is always open to the complaints of aggrieved taxpayers.

The system of holding appeals in the several counties is borrowed from the direct tax law, under which a certain amount was apportioned to each county, and the increase or decrease of a single assessment affected every landholder. There was need, therefore, of comparison, and often of personal view. Under the revenue law every assessment is independent, and the machinery referred to seems valueless.

LACK OF UNIFORMITY IN RETURNS.

The singular lack of uniformity in the time when the various returns are due the assessors from different classes of taxpayers is often productive of neglect and irregularities, which the necessary amendments to the law would avoid. There seems to be no reason why the monthly returns, at least, should not all be receivable on the same day and payable at the same time thereafter. The more the statutes are simplified and systematized in their details the less will be the friction engendered in their operation, and the more certain their results.

What I have said of the returns is applicable in its spirit to the penalties of the law. They differ largely in amount for the same grade of offence, while the manner of their recovery is as various, almost, as the forms of proceeding known to the courts. The tax upon slaughtered sheep and lambs is five cents each, and the penalty in case of fraud or evasion is ten dollars, or two thousand per centum, recoverable only by suit, while the penalty for neglect, or refusal to make return and payment of tax upon the gross receipts of certain persons, companies, and corporations, is ten per cent. additional to the duty as estimated by the assistant assessor, to be included in the assessment, and for fraudulent evasion one thousand dollars, without regard to the amount of indebtedness, to be sued for in the courts; and no special penalty whatever is provided for neglect to make return of a succession until after notice from the assistant assessor.

These instances are cited simply for illustration of the variety referred to, and could be made as numerous, almost, as the sources of revenue.

In this connexion I may add that section fourteen, from peculiarities in some parts of its language, is of questionable application to many of the returns required later in the law, which it appears from other parts it was intended to cover, and that the forty-ninth section is so involved in its construction as, thus far, to have been of little practical utility.

INCREASED ALLOWANCE TO ASSESSORS FOR RENT, AND ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION TO ASSESSORS AND ASSISTANT ASSESSORS IN CERTAIN CASES.

Under section 22 the allowance made to assessors for office rent can in no case exceed the rate of $500 per annum. This limit is still much more than sufficient in most districts of the country; but in several of the most populous cities the increase of prices since the passage of the law compels our officers to seek rooms insufficient for themselves and incommodious to the public, or make payment in part therefor out of receipts designed by Congress as compensation for their personal services. It seems but just to them that this limitation be enlarged, and they be allowed sums actually and necessarily expended, subject to the approval now required.

The last proviso of section 22 authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to fix such additional rates of compensation to assessors and assistant assessors in cases where a collection district embraces more than a single congressional district, and to assessors and assistant assessors, revenue agents and inspectors, in Louisiana, North Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee, Missouri, California, Oregon and the Territories, as may appear to him to be just and equitable, in consequence of the greater cost of living and travelling in those States and Territories, and as may, in his judgment, be necessary to secure the services of competent officers. The suppression of armed hostility in the insurrectionary districts has brought within the active operation of the revenue law other States neighboring to several of those above named, and in which the cost of living and travelling is nearly the same. To the compensation of revenue officers in those States I respectfully suggest that the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury should likewise be extended.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

Assessors and collectors are allowed for postage actually paid on letters and documents received or sent by them relating exclusively to official business. Their communication with this office through the mails is free, and I respectfully suggest that if they were allowed the franking privilege upon official business between their respective offices it would be liable to little abuse, and be a saving of cost to the government.

SAFES.

My predecessors in their reports to the Secretary of the Treasury alike recommended that the purchase of fire-proof safes be authorized for the use of collectors and assessors. In this recommendation I cheerfully concur. Private enterprise of the amount covered by the books and papers of the most unimportant district of the country is seldom left by prudent managers to the dangers to which our offices are now subject. The loss accruing to the government from a single conflagration might almost equal the expenditure necessary for the protection everywhere required.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE FOR TAXES.

Section 30 relates to the seizure and sale at public auction of real estate by the collector when goods and chattels cannot be found sufficient to satisfy the duties imposed.

It provides, among other things, that if no person offers for the estate the amount of the tax to be collected, together with the penalties and charges, the officer shall purchase the same at that sum for the United States, and shall deposit his deed thereof with the district attorney. Although the tax may be large and the realty of disproportionate value, no collection can be made without a full discharge of the duty.

This section is largely copied from the 36th section of the direct tax law of August 5, 1861. The tax to be collected under that law was only that assessed upon the land offered for sale, and the requirement now considered was appropriate. Under the revenue law the land is not assessed, and the requirement is oftentimes embarrassing. I respectfully recommend that the law be so amended that the land may be sold to the highest bidder, and that the United States, through the collector, may be the purchaser.

COMMISSIONER'S CERTIFICATE TO BE REQUIRED IN CERTAIN CASES.

There has been a very general compliance on the part of revenue officers with the requirements of the law and the regulations of this office in preparing and forwarding their various reports. Whenever negligence does occur, however, this office is embarrassed in its operations, and not unfrequently the local officers, who have promptly discharged their duty in this particular, share in the general inconvenience. Sometimes positive damage may result to the government when a person who has neglected to make the returns retires from office. After careful consideration I have concluded to recommend that it be provided by law that no payment shall be made to assessors or collectors on account of salaries or commissions without the certificate of the commissioner that all reports required by law or regulation have been received, or a satisfactory explanation rendered him of the cause of the delay.

REFUNDING TAXES ERRONEOUSLY PAID.

Taxes erroneously or illegally assessed and collected, which, under the 44th section of the act of June 30, 1864, the Commissioner is authorized to refund, subject to the regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury, were, prior to the 30th of June last, by the provisions of the same section, paid by draft drawn on collectors of internal revenue. The 3d section of the act of March last prescribed that after the 30th of June the gross amount of all duties, taxes, and revenues received or collected should be paid, by the officers, collectors or agents receiving or collecting the same, into the treasury of the United States, without any abatement or deduction on account of "salary, compensation, fees, costs, charges, expenses or claims of any description whatever, anything in the law to the contrary notwithstanding."

Such payment, of course, does not allow collectors to honor drafts of the Commissioner, and no little embarrassment has arisen, both to the department and the public, from the want of a clearly authorized method of refunding such taxes. This trouble did not suggest itself during the pendency of the amendatory act, and it is only necessary, I apprehend, to call the attention of Congress to the subject to secure the appropriate legislation.

TAXES IN THE INSURRECTIONARY DISTRICTS.

By circular bearing date June 21, 1865, the Secretary of the Treasury announced that, "without waiving in any degree the rights of the government in respect to taxes which had before that time accrued in the States or Territories in insurrection, or assuming to exonerate the tax-payer from his legal responsibility for such taxes, the department did not deem it advisable to insist at present on their payment, so far as they were payable prior to the establishment of a collection district embracing the territory in which the taxpayer resided."

This office, in pursuance of that circular, commenced and continued the collection of such taxes only as accrued in the several collection districts subsequent to their establishment by the order of the President.

I would respectfully suggest whether or not section 46 of the act of June 30, 1864, which relates to the collection of taxes in States at that time insurrectionary, and referred to in this circular, does not require the careful attention of Congress.

All the instruments enumerated in schedule B of the revenue law, and subject to stamp duty, which were issued for nearly three years in that portion of the United States above referred to, were unstamped and invalid. Immense monetary interests are covered by these instruments, and although much wrong has not yet been suffered by their invalidity, the subject deserves, and will of course receive, special consideration.

PEDDLERS AND SUBSTITUTE BROKERS.

The apparent necessity for two provisions in the act of March last, amendatory of the 79th section of the act of June prior, has passed away with the rebellion. One of them denies license as peddlers to all who are not regularly enrolled for military duty, or physically disabled from service; the other imposes a tax of one hundred dollars upon substitute brokers. Both of them are now useless, while the former, from the discharge of enrolling officers, is liable to produce hardship. They should be repealed.

DEMANDS FOR PAYMENT OF TAXES.

Many complaints have arisen from manufacturers, and no little embarrassment to those charged with the administration of the law, by reason of the amendment to the 83d section, repealing the requirement of demand in writing before the imposition of ten per cent. penalty for non-payment of tax. The purpose of the change was, undoubtedly, to secure punctuality of payment, but neglect is often the result of forgetfulness only, and I believe it but just that written demand notices should be served upon all tax-payers, except when payment accompanies their returns.

DEDUCTIONS BY MANUFACTURERS UNDER SECTION 86.

I would suggest the propriety of amending the 86th section, relative to manufacturers' returns, by striking out so much thereof as relates to deductions.

The law now authorizes the deduction of freight from the place of manufacture to the place of delivery, commission not exceeding three per centum, (except where sales are made at the place of manufacture,) and other expenses of sale bona fide paid.

There are so many peculiarities in the method of manufacture and sale of different classes of merchandise in different parts of the country that it has been found impossible to define by any precise and specific rules the deductions allowable as "other expenses of sale bona fide paid," while general rules, however carefully drawn, are liable to such a variety of construction that too much diversity of practice has prevailed where it is but just to the honest manufacturer that there should be perfect uniformity. Much time is spent by assessors and assistant assessors in adjusting claims for deductions, and unfortunate differences of opinion often arise between them and the manufacturers, which should be avoided. This diversity of practice has furnished opportunity for numberless short returns, and a large proportion of the manufacturers who have been detected in fraud have urged "expenses of sale" either in extenuation or defence.

It is apparently reasonable to allow for freight, as some manufactories are more remote from the markets than others; but their disadvantage in this respect is, perhaps, fully compensated by the reduced cost of fuel, labor, rents, and motive power. The deductions are allowed only where the tax is ad

The duties upon iron, salt, sugar, molasses, petroleum, and other articles, the freight of which to market is no inconsiderable part of their value, are all specific and without deduction. The amendment proposed would, of itself alone, enhance the burden upon manufacturing; but I believe that a tax of five per centum upon the gross sales of the manufactures in question is preferable to the present rate, with the allowances.

TAX UPON GROSS RECEIPTS OR TONNAGE OF VESSELS.

By section 103 of the act of June 30, 1864, a tax of two and a half per centum is imposed upon the gross receipts of steamboats, ships, barges, canalboats, or other vessels, employed in the business of transporting passengers or property for hire. The fourth section of the amendatory tariff act of March last relieves vessels paying tonnage duty from the taxation of their receipts. The tonnage duty upon the vessels relieved is but an annual one of thirty cents per ton, and it is respectfully suggested that the amended law imposes unequal burdens upon persons employed in like pursuits.

SECTION ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY UNNECESSARY.

The peculiar language of section 150 of the act of June 30, 1864, would seem to indicate a purpose at one time of, in some way, collecting the duties upon successions in the insurrectionary districts through the direct tax commissioners. However this may be, there is now certainly no necessity of the section, and I respectfully recommend its repeal.

STAMP DUTIES.

That part of the law which relates to "stamp duties" is not only susceptible of improvement in its details, but is worthy of attention in respect to its general scope, and the objects of taxation. While the results of its administration are, perhaps, more satisfactory than those of most other parts of the law, yet evasions and violations are frequent, and, though the amount lost to the revenue may be small in the individual instance, it is large in the aggregate. Without asserting that greater vigilance than that heretofore exercised may not secure a more perfect enforcement of the statute, it is yet safe to say that the risk of detection and punishment under the existing system, with the precise phraseology of the law, in respect to violation and punishment, as it is, must always remain so small as to afford too much inducement for its evasion.

Were it not for the inconvenience the change might inflict upon thinly settled districts, it would be wise, it seems to me, to dispense entirely with adhesive stamps, as has been done elsewhere, and substitute stamped parchment or paper, the use of which is its cancellation. Frauds would diminish, but I fear the advantage to the revenue would hardly justify the burden upon the public. Penalty is provided for issuing unstamped instruments only when there is intent to evade the provisions of the law. The instrument itself may be invalid, but there is no punishment of the party who makes or issues it.

Some of the courts have held the government to the proof of fraudulent intention, and thus practically stayed proceedings for neglect to affix or cancel the requisite stamps.

Sufficient time should, undoubtedly, be given the public, whose attention is not specially directed to its obligation in this particular; but as the law has been so long in operation, it is a question worthy of consideration whether or not a reasonable penalty for simple neglect would be oppressive, as it certainly seems necessary.

Every person who sells unstamped articles named in schedule C is subject to penalty; small for neglect alone, larger when there is purpose to evade the law. Similar provisions in relation to unstamped instruments would, I believe, be both just and salutary.

The invalidity of unstamped instruments in the hands of their receiver must always prevent their issue more effectually than the liability of those who sign them to penalty. A more general compliance with the law could therefore be secured, if only those instruments which are of value in the hands of their holder were subjected to stamp duty. The small loss to the revenue from the necessary amendments would, it is believed, be more than compensated by the convenience of the public and the more general observance of the law. It is wise, too, it seems to me, to have few statutes which can easily be violated with impunity. Familiarity with their infringement in their minor details makes it easier for one to forget his obligations when larger sums are in question between himself and the government. Moral as well as bodily diseases are contagious.

A question has frequently arisen concerning the proper rule to be adopted in the case of official papers issuing from the executive departments of the several States, as well as from county and municipal offices. While there is in such cases no express exemption from stamp duty, such as is provided in regard to official documents made or issued by officers of the general government, yet the law has always been most liberally construed in their behalf. It has, however, not always been easy to define the proper limits of such exemption, nor to determine the particular cases to which the rule should apply.

It seems, therefore, desirable that legislation should regulate with its special provisions a matter like this of large and growing importance, and which, it must be confessed, now rests mainly upon the basis of "liberal construction."

In this connexion, it is proper to call attention to the fact that there has arisen in some quarters an attempt, sustained by the judicial decisions of certain State courts, to evade the stamp duty imposed upon "writs or other original process by which any suit is commenced in any court of record."

Neither my predecessors nor myself have been convinced by the arguments upon which those decisions are founded, and this office has not altered nor modified the directions heretofore given requiring such duty to be paid. It has not been deemed advisable, however, to take any steps to bring the question involved before the appellate court for final decision, or to induce others to do so. It is undoubtedly desirable that in such a case an authoritative decision should be reached; but, as in other like cases, it seemed proper that the suit for that purpose should be prosecuted, if at all, by individuals, and in the ordinary way.

The power given to collectors by section 163 of the act of June 30, 1864, to affix exemption stamps, and to determine the rate of stamp duty in certain cases, is one of importance to the revenue, and sometimes of embarrassment to this office in its administration of the law. Without derogating from the intelligence and integrity of those charged with this important duty, it is my conviction that their decisions, under the pressure of other duties, and generally without reference to those made in other districts, must commonly be given with less consideration than if made by those who have larger opportunities for investigation, and whose decisions would produce greater uniformity of practice. The inconvenience of referring such matters directly to this office might in some localities seem, at first, to be an objection to the change; but, if desirable, copies might be forwarded, instead of original papers, and decisions made thereon, in pursuance of which the requisite instructions could be given. Indeed, from a large part of the country inquiries are, even now, constantly presented for consideration, accompanied by documents, or copies, under the impression that the final decision in such cases rests here. It is deemed the duty of this office to give answers to such inquiries; but such answers may encounter or be followed by decisions of subordinate officers based upon opinions directly at variance with those held here, and which are made final by law. It is apparent that such an incongruity in the administration of the law should not exist. Whether the correction should be made in the manner I have suggested, is for the superior wisdom of Congress to determine. As the attention of that body will no doubt be called to the details of the stamp schedules, as well as to other points of the law, it is not necessary that I should refer to all the particulars in which amendments may seem advisable. I would suggest, however, that the difference in the terms applied in different localities to the same kind of instrument, and the various forms of process and modes of proceeding in the several States, have rendered it difficult many times to make a satisfactory application of the provisions of schedule B, as it now exists, to all the cases which are presented for decision. Material advantage, too, might be derived from a more careful and enlarged specification, as in the case of different kinds of conveyance, and from a more definite requirement in the statement of the amount or character of the consideration in cases of conveyance, corresponding in that respect to the approved practice abroad. But these and other amendments can be more particularly pointed out at another time, if desired.

OTHER CHANGES IN THE LAW NOT DEFINITELY STATED, DEEMED NECESSARY.

I purposely omit the consideration of several important changes in the provisions of the law relative to successions and legacies, as well as to tobacco, snuff, cigars, and distilled spirits, which appear to be necessary for the prevention of fraud, the protection of honest taxpayers, and the more uniform and certain collection of the revenue. The patience of the people, burdened as they have been by taxation, is an argument sufficient for their relief from its most annoying and oppressive exactions, so far as is consistent with the public necessities. Unskilled labor contributes in some instances disproportionately to its means, and several requirements of the law are more irritating and burdensome than productive. All these things are, however, being subjected to the thorough scrutiny of the Revenue Commission, and I defer further reference to them for the present.

OPERATIONS UNDER THE DIRECT TAX LAWS.

No appointment of "Commissioner of taxes," authorized by the 56th section of the direct tax law of August 5, 1861, has ever been made; but after the assumption by the loyal States of their apportionment of the twenty millions of dollars thereby imposed, the general superintendence of the collection of the tax in the insurrectionary districts was assigned to the office of internal revenue. For this collection, "a board of tax commissioners" in each of the States in which the insurrection existed was provided by the fifth section of the amendatory act of June 7, 1862. They were appointed, and during the last fiscal year they have been engaged in South Carolina, Virginia, Florida, Tennessee, North Carolina, Louisiana, and, for a portion of the year, in Arkansas.

Since its close they have also been appointed for the States of Georgia, Mississippi, Texas, and Alabama, and have commenced the discharge of their duties. I herewith submit a statement of the amounts collected by the several commissions prior to June 30, 1865, the amounts received by them from sales of lands, from collections, and other sources, and the quantity or assessed value, or the number of lots purchased by them for the United States, so far as reported to this office, together with their salaries and expenditures:

Districts.	From sales.	Collections.	Other sources, including rents and leases.	No. of acres, assessed value, and number of lots bid in.	Salaries and expenditures.
Florida	$40,414 81	$4,000 00		2, 337 lots and 28 blocks.	$27,900 16
South Carolina	170,878 01	99,990 03	$14,654 96	*39,703 acres.	41, 412 22
Virginia	131,608 38	119, 308 00		8,701 acres, as- sessed value, $104,645-75	23, 816 29
Tennessee	112,366 00	187,634 00		$1,586,882 00	23, 637 18
Louisiana	108, 203 72				8, 447 10
North Carolina	35, 986 10				9, 175 31
Arkansas	33,537 00	9,729 67		$76,000 00	4,763 08

^{*} This amount is exclusive of lands resold under section 11 of the act of June 7, 1862.

It will be seen that there has been great lack of uniformity in the operations of the several commissions, dependent largely as they were upon the amount of territory protected by the national forces. The quantity of real estate abandoned by disloyal owners, and forfeited to the government, differs in different States, as do the sales of such property, and the amounts of taxes collected.

Of the property purchased for the government at the sales for taxes, leases under section 9 of the act of June 7, 1862, have been made only by the South Carolina commission. In South Carolina, too, and not elsewhere, resales of lands bid in at the sales for taxes have been made by the commission, under section 11 of the same statute. This section provides that purchasers at the sale who shall have faithfully served for the term of three months as an officer, musician, or private soldier, or sailor, in the army or navy or marine service of the United States, as a regular or volunteer, and who shall pay onefourth part of the purchase money, shall receive a certificate, and shall have the term of three years in which to pay the remainder. The amount which will become due in 1867 and 1868 upon army and navy certificates, issued as above, is $206,994 30. In this State, also, a board of selection, appointed by the President of the United States for that purpose, and comprised in part of the tax commissioners, under his instructions of September 16, 1863, selected and reserved for military, naval, charitable, educational, and police purposes, eightyone plantations, situated on the several Sea islands of that State.

Under the same instructions the commission made sale of homesteads of ten and twenty acres each to heads of families of African descent.

Since December 10, 1863, there have been 617 certificates of homesteads of this character issued by the commission, most of which were during the last fiscal year.

It is evident from what I have stated that when the duties of the commissioners under the present laws shall be completed, the burdens imposed by it will have fallen unequally upon the people of the districts lately in insurrection. Some will have paid little in addition to their original distributive share of the twenty millions of dollars, while others will have lost their entire estates.

Some States, too, will have paid only the amount apportioned them under the act of August 7, 1861, while others, for the reasons before given, will, through the collections and sales, have contributed largely in excess of such apportion-

After all the taxes shall have been collected, too, there will remain in several of the States large tracts of land belonging to the general government, bid in at the sales. When the offices of the commissioners shall be vacated there will be no person whose special duty it will be to take charge of these lands, or at least such part of them as shall be subject to redemption, and which, under the opinion of the Attorney General of the United States, referred by the Secretary of the Treasury to this office, the tax commissioners are not bound to turn over to the Bureau of Freedmen Refugees, nor has the Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau authority to set them or any portion of them apart for the uses mentioned in the statute of March 3, 1865, or sell them under the same statute.

The direct authority of the commissioners under section 9 of the act of June 7, 1862, to lease lands in any State, extends only until the said rebellion and insurrection in said State shall be put down and the authority of the United States established, and until the people of said State shall elect a legislature and State officers who shall take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, to be announced by the proclamation of the President, and until the first day of March next thereafter.

Under the law and the proclamation of the President, each and every parcel of land in the States and parts of States lately in insurrection is charged with the payment of so much of the whole tax laid and apportioned upon the State where the same is situated, as shall bear the same direct proportion to the whole amount of the direct tax apportioned to such State as the value of such tract bears to the whole valuation of the real estate of such State, and in addition thereto a penalty of fifty per centum thereon. This charge is a lien upon all lands subject to it from and after the proclamation of the President, on the 1st day of July, 1862. The statutory remedy in default of payment of taxes determined by the commissioners is the sale at public auction of the lands upon which they are a charge.

After the cessation of hostilities, and on the 17th day of May last, the several commissions were directed by this office, in pursuance of the instructions of the Secretary of the Treasury, to suspend all sales of lands for taxes in districts before that time in insurrection until otherwise ordered. Collections, however, have been made in several of the States, because of improved opportunities, with greater success than before, and since the close of the heated term all the boards are at their places of duty.

I submit that the disposition of the lands purchased and now held by the United States, as well as the whole subject of the collection of taxes above referred to, requires the careful consideration of the Secretary of the Treasury and of Congress.

ORGANIZATION OF THE BUREAU.

The Secretary of the Treasury, under the amendment to the first section of the act of June 30, 1864, is authorized only until the 1st day of July, 1866, to assign to this office such number of clerks as he may deem necessary, or the exigencies of the public service may require. Legislative action is therefore indispensably necessary that the requisite clerical force may be provided after June next. And here-were I not aware that all that can be said is already within the knowledge of the Secretary-I would urge the importance of increased compensation, by positive enactments, to a portion, at least, of the officers and employés of this office.

It needs no facts or argument to prove that, in a bureau where the details are so numerous and complicated, the value of one's services increases with experience, almost as much as in the studio or laboratory. Private enterprise is everywhere offering superior inducements to those who are willing to sacrifice their days and nights in its service, and it is not strange that a proper regard for themselves and families compels many of the most deserving to retire from public employment. An organization of this office, somewhat like that of the Treasurer's, was approved and referred to the last Congress by the late Secret ary, and I respectfully submit that the necessity of one even more liberal in its provisions was never greater than now.

The correspondence of this bureau is voluminous, and the ladies engaged in its copying, and the discharge of other clerical services assigned them, should be remembered in this organization, and receive compensation more commensurate with their services. There is no reason why they should not be recognized and classed as clerks.

I cannot forbear cheerfully testifying to the punctuality and industry of the persons employed with me in this office, and their compliance with its regulations. Several of those charged with the most important duties, disregarding the customary hours of service, have almost uniformly been at their desks for several hours at night.

The same faithfulness has generally characterized the subordinate officers in the several districts of the country, and I am happy in the belief that at no period since the passage of the revenue law in 1862 have the taxes been more uniformly and thoroughly assessed and collected.

With great respect, your obedient servant,

E. A. ROLLINS, Commissioner.

Hon. Hugh McCulloch, Secretary of the Treasury. A.

SHOWING

THE RECEIPTS BY COLLECTORS

FROM

EACH SPECIFIC SOURCE OF REVENUE.

AND THE

AMOUNTS REFUNDED IN EACH COLLECTION DISTRICT, STATE, AND TER-RITORY OF THE UNITED STATES,

FOR THE

FISCAL YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1865.

NOTE.—In the following table, collections on articles or occupations of the same description, except distilled spirits, made under different acts, and at different rates, are united and placed under a common heading. The rates given are those established by the act of March 3, 1865. These descriptions, as well as those of collections made exclusively under the act of June 30, 1864, are printed in Roman letters. The descriptions of collections made exclusively under acts prior to June 30, 1864, are printed in italics, and of those made exclusively under the act of March 3, 1865, in SMALL CAPS.
