

Sample article for organizations to use to reach customers (270 word count)

Customize and post the following article on your websites and/or use in other communication vehicles to help your customers.

Use the revised Form 656-B booklet, Offer in Compromise, to submit offer applications

The January 2015 revision of IRS Form 656-B, Offer in Compromise Booklet, is now available for download and use. This booklet contains all the current forms and instructions for submitting an Offer in Compromise application. If you use an earlier revision, you may experience delays in the processing and evaluation of your offer application.

General information about the Offer in Compromise program is available at IRS.gov. You or your representative can get a preliminary indication of whether you qualify for an Offer in Compromise by using the IRS Offer in Compromise Pre-Qualifier tool. If you are a good offer candidate, the tool will also provide a preliminary offer amount. You will find a link to the tool on our Offer in Compromise Web page.

If an Offer in Compromise is not a viable option for you, visit IRS.gov/payments for other payment options.

Note to editor: Below are additional resources about the collection process available on IRS.gov.

- Publication 594 (pdf)
- Collection Procedures for Taxpayers Filing and/or Paying Late

On Twitter? Send this tweet to your followers:

Offers: Use Jan. 2015 forms and instructions. Use of old application will result in delays. #OIC #IRS <http://go.usa.gov/KqCz>

Use the latest forms for your offer in compromise application. Include the right application fee. #IRS #OIC <http://go.usa.gov/KqCz>

Submit offer in compromise applications on the latest forms dated Jan. 2015. #IRS #OIC <http://go.usa.gov/KqCz>