The Honorable Katherine Harris
Member, U.S. House of Representatives
1991 Main Street, Suite 181
Sarasota, FL 34236

Attention:

Dear Congresswoman Harris:

This letter responds to your inquiry, dated April 7, 2005, on behalf of your constituents, . They wrote about obtaining a private letter ruling granting them additional time to complete a like-kind exchange of properties. The additional time is needed because the severe hurricanes and tropical storms that struck Florida in 2004 delayed construction of the replacement property beyond the prior extension periods. They also wrote that they never actually received the proceeds of the property they sold because the proceeds remained in escrow.

Unfortunately, the transaction does not qualify as a like-kind exchange under section 1031 of the Internal Revenue Code. We contacted them to discuss their situation. In this discussion, the told us that they directed the qualified intermediary who was holding the cash proceeds to turn the proceeds over to their realtor. The realtor is now holding the proceeds to fund the construction of the new property.

Under current law, receipt of cash proceeds by a taxpayer or the taxpayer's agent disqualifies the taxpayer from deferring tax on the gain of the property they sold. If a qualified intermediary turns over exchange funds to the seller or his realtor, the "exchange" ends, the transaction becomes a "sale," and the seller must recognize any realized gain. We do not have authority to change this result.

I hope this information is helpful. If we can assist you further, please contact me or at (202) 622-4920.

Sincerely,

Michael J. Montemurro

Office of Associate Chief Counsel
