The revocation of your exempt status was made for the following reasons:

Reg. 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(1)(ii). Your income inured to the benefit of private shareholders and individuals.

You failed to keep adequate books and records and failed to respond to repeated reasonable requests to allow the Internal Revenue Service to examine your records regarding your receipts, expenditures, or activities as required by I.R.C. sections 6001 and 6033(a)(1), Treas. Reg. 1.6033-2(i)(2) and Rev. Rul. 59-95, 1959-1 C.B. 627.

If you decide to contest this determination, you may file an action for declaratory judgment under the provisions of section 7428 of the Code in one of the following three venues: United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Federal Claims, or the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. Dear _____ :

Why you are receiving this letter

We propose to revoke your status as an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (Code). Enclosed is our report of examination explaining the proposed action.

What you need to do if you agree

If you agree with our proposal, please sign the enclosed Form 6018, Consent to Proposed Action – Section 7428, and return it to the contact person at the address listed above (unless you have already provided us a signed Form 6018). We'll issue a final revocation letter determining that you aren't an organization described in section 501(c)(3).

After we issue the final revocation letter, we'll announce that your organization is no longer eligible for contributions deductible under section 170 of the Code.

If we don't hear from you

If you don't respond to this proposal within 30 calendar days from the date of this letter, we'll issue a final revocation letter. Failing to respond to this proposal will adversely impact your legal standing to seek a declaratory judgment because you failed to exhaust your administrative remedies.

Effect of revocation status

If you receive a final revocation letter, you'll be required to file federal income tax returns for the tax year(s) shown above as well as for subsequent tax years.

What you need to do if you disagree with the proposed revocation

If you disagree with our proposed revocation, you may request a meeting or telephone conference with the supervisor of the IRS contact identified in the heading of this letter. You also may file a protest with the IRS Appeals office by submitting a written request to the contact person at the address listed above within 30 calendar days from the date of this letter. The Appeals office is independent of the Exempt Organizations division and resolves most disputes informally.

For your protest to be valid, it must contain certain specific information including a statement of the facts, the applicable law, and arguments in support of your position. For specific information needed for a valid protest, please refer to page one of the enclosed Publication 892, How to Appeal an IRS Decision on Tax-Exempt Status, and page six of the enclosed Publication 3498, The Examination Process. Publication 3498 also includes information on your rights as a taxpayer and the IRS collection process. Please note that Fast Track Mediation referred to in Publication 3498 generally doesn't apply after we issue this letter.

You also may request that we refer this matter for technical advice as explained in Publication 892. Please contact the individual identified on the first page of this letter if you are considering requesting technical advice. If we issue a determination letter to you based on a technical advice memorandum issued by the Exempt Organizations Rulings and Agreements office, no further IRS administrative appeal will be available to you.

Contacting the Taxpayer Advocate Office is a taxpayer right

You have the right to contact the office of the Taxpayer Advocate. Their assistance isn't a substitute for established IRS procedures, such as the formal appeals process. The Taxpayer Advocate can't reverse a legally correct tax determination or extend the time you have (fixed by law) to file a petition in a United States court. They can, however, see that a tax matter that hasn't been resolved through normal channels gets prompt and proper handling. You may call toll-free 1-877-777-4778 and ask for Taxpayer Advocate assistance. If you prefer, you may contact your local Taxpayer Advocate at:

Internal Revenue Service
Office of the Taxpayer Advocate

For additional information

If you have any questions, please call the contact person at the telephone number shown in the heading of this letter. If you write, please provide a telephone number and the most convenient time to call if we need to contact you.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Margaret Von Lienen

making decisions for the Organization's long-term direction. is currently Organization's President and owns with her husband.

The Organization was asked to provide extensive records for all tax years under examination, multiple times. Initially, the examination was focused on the year ending July 31, 20xx ("primary year"). Thus, records obtained were for the primary year. However, after expanding the examination to prior and subsequent tax years, the Service made repeated requests for records and provided Organization several extensions for additional information for the primary, as well as, new information for all other years. Throughout the request and extensions, the Organization provided minimal and incomplete responses.

According to the records provided, Organization generated its income from membership fees, fundraisers, and sponsorships.

Organization's policy (identified in Exhibit A, item number 7) stated that members were required to pay directly and/or to participate in fundraisers. In addition to Organization's annual membership fee, members were required to pay a "team assessment" ("assessment"), which consisted of each member's share of cumulative estimated expenses for the year; including, training, coaching fees, athletic membership fee, meets, banners, equipment, competitive gear and other competition related expenses. According to Organization's competitive budget for 20xx-20xx (Exhibit B), the assessment ranged from $xxx.xx to $x,xxx.xx, depending on the athlete's level and whether travel was involved. Organization tracked each member's assessment balance separately to verify that each member met his or her share of the expenses. Organization communicated about member's account balance when inquired by that individual. Members
