We verified your claim of identity theft. We placed an identity theft indicator on your account to monitor activity and help prevent future fraud.

Next steps

What you need to do

You don't need to take immediate action. Read the steps below and continue to file all federal tax returns.

- We'll review all tax returns with your Social Security number for the possibility of identity theft.
- You'll need an Identity Protection Pin (IP PIN) to file your tax returns in the future. You'll receive your IP PIN in a notice from us in December.
Note: If your address changes before the December issuance of your IP PIN, complete Form 8822, Change of Address. Visit www.irs.gov/f8822.
- If you want an IP PIN immediately, visit our website at www.irs.gov/getanippin, and verify your identity. We'll assign an IP PIN to file your returns.

Additional information

- Visit www.irs.gov/cp01
- Review Publication 5027, Identity Theft Information for Taxpayers. You can find forms and publications at www.irs.gov/forms-pubs.
- You or an authorized third party may request a redacted copy (one with some information blacked-out) of the fraudulent return that was filed and accepted by the IRS using your name and SSN. For more information, go to irs.gov and search "copy return."
- In addition to protecting your own personally identifiable information (PII), your dependent's information could be compromised. If your dependent's PII was compromised, file a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) at www.identitytheft.gov and receive step-by-step guidance. If internet access is not an option, you can call the FTC at 877-438-4338; TTY: 866-653-4261.
- Keep this notice for your records.

Identity theft is a serious issue, and we're committed to helping taxpayers who are affected by it.
