Important message about your tax account

Employment-Related Identity Theft Notice

We believe another person may have used your Social Security number (SSN) to obtain employment. There's currently no known impact to your tax account because of this potential misuse of your SSN.

You should take appropriate steps to protect yourself from any potential effects of identity theft.

We can't give you specific details about the identity of the individual who used your SSN for employment purposes.

We placed a marker on your tax account to identify that you may have been a victim of identity theft. Therefore, a Form 14039, Identity Theft Affidavit, isn't necessary.

Este aviso también está disponible en español. Visite www.irs.gov/pub/notices/cp701e_spanish.pdf para ver la versión en español.

Additional information about Identity Theft

What you need to do

Continue to file all federal tax returns on time.

You should review your earnings with the Social Security Administration to ensure their records are correct. You can create an account online at www.ssa.gov.

We strongly suggest you monitor your credit reports and all financial accounts for signs of misuse of your personal information.

As a precaution, you can contact one of the three major credit bureaus to have a no-cost temporary "fraud alert" placed on your account:

- Equifax: 800-525-6285, www.equifax.com
- Experian: 888-397-3742, www.experian.com
- TransUnion: 800-680-7289, www.transunion.com

You only need to contact one of the credit bureaus. The bureau you contact must contact the other two bureaus.

If you need Wage and Income transcripts (i.e. Form W-2, 1099, 1098) in the future, contact us at the number below.
